Marion Red Sox To Open Against Springfield Tonight

Game Time 8 P. M. At Lincoln Park

Mayor Proclaims "Baseball Day"; To Hurl First Ball

By A. L. McCLAIN
Marion Star Sports Editor

Today has been proclaimed "Baseball Day" in Marion as the league champion Marion Red Sox open the season tonight against the Springfield Giants at Lincoln Park. The proclamation was made by Mayor Harold F. Robinson.

The local club will be out to win its second Ohio - Indiana League pennant after nipping the Newark Yankees at the wire last season and taking the playoffs in four straight. Game time is at 8 p.m.

Don Williamson, club general manager, announced that Mayor Harold F. Robinson and Safety-Service Director Ralph Forrest will perform a pre-game ceremony with Mayor Robinson throwing the first ball to his "battery mate" Mr. Forrest. The mayor is a righthander.

The weatherman forecasts cloudy and mild tonight with showers not due until tomorrow. Nevertheless many fans are expected to wear heavy coats and bring blankets.

Big Crowd Expected

Club officials predicted a crowd of anywhere between 1,500 to capacity which is 2,600.

Ticket sales have been reported to be the best in years.

Back to lead the team again this season is popular Elmer Yoter, one of Boston's chief scouts in the American League before he replaced George Susce in the middle of last season.

Yoter will have only four players out of the 17 on the roster who have had previous professional experience. One will do the pitching. He is Bob Penny, righthanded fastballer from Toledo. Ed Sadowski from Pittsburgh will be Penny's battery mate behind the plate.

A veteran of the O-I League, Penny hurled part of the season for Marion in 1949 and came here again after the season was under way last year.

Last year he had an 8-2 record including two straight playoff victories.

Sadowski was in training with the Marion club last spring but was sent to Radford, Va., after the season opened.

Don Berger, catcher from Freeburg, Ill., and Alex "Bobo" Salerno, pitcher from Utica, N. Y., were with the Marion club for a short time last season.

The remaining players who make up the roster are all first-year men and will be new faces to local fans. Yoter admits some of them will probably be cut when higher Boston farm clubs snip prospects here.

At an open house party last night, thrown by Robert White, club president for the players and Marion fans, Manager Yoter would venture no prediction on how the club would fare in the pennant race.

"They're working and looking and they've worked hard in spring training," he said. "We figure we're ready at least physically."

DEADLINE EXTENDED

WASHINGTON, April 24 — (AP) — The government today granted 276,000 retail stores another 30-day extension — until May 30—to put their new, margin-type control ceilings in effect. In ordering the delay, price director Michael V. DiSalle pointed out that until a retailer files his pricing charts, his ceiling prices still will be regulated under the general price freeze.

ARE YOU READY? THAT'S THE QUESTION Manager Elmer Yoter, left, seems to be asking Bob Penny, center, and Ed Sadowski, who will be his battery for the league opener tonight at Lincoln Park against the Springfield Giants. Penny hurled for the local club last season, posting an 8-2 record for the year. Photo was taken at Lincoln Park yesterday at the Marion squad's first workout on the home grounds.

Students To Parade Eve Of Election

Marion City School officials today announced plans for a parade of school students urging passage of the $2,900,000 bond issue at the May 8 primary election.

The parade, to be composed of local school pupils and floats prepared by the various junior high school and Harding High School pupils, is set for Monday, May 7, on the eve of the election.

Clark M. Fouts, principal at Vernon Junior High School, has been named general chairman of the event by Lester L. Dickey, superintendent of city schools.

Pupils from Grades 4 through 12 will participate. Mr. Fouts set a tentative goal of 4,000 participating pupils. Richard Lewis, presi-

Support of Bond Issue Urged

Rising Costs Cut Into School Building Funds

This is one of a series of articles explaining urgent need for passage at the May 8 primary of the $2,900,000 bond issue for a new senior high school and for modernization and addition of facilities at other schools. The articles were prepared by the Citizens' Committee formed to promote passage of the bond issue.

THE SCHOOL bond issue for $2,100,000 passed in 1946 was a part of a jobs and progress program. Two purposes were to be served—to build needed school buildings and at the same time give jobs to the boys home from service when the predicted post-war depression set in. The jobs and progress program was set up with the belief that, as had been the case in previous wars we would have a depression following the close of World War II. Also it was predicted that the birth rate would fall soon after the war when the depression hit. These steps to offset the coming depression were taken in many communities throughout the country.

For several years the slump was thought to be just around the corner. When it failed to come, the Board of Education realized that with prices going up instead of down, we could not possibly build the school program as outlined before the bonds were voted. By January 1948 we were in desperate need of school buildings, and the board decided to limit its efforts to three projects. These were selected on the basis of need and on the basis of safety for children.

The first project was the addition at the Silver Street School because two classrooms of children were being housed in a church basement due to crowded conditions at the school. This project was completed in 1949, giving the Silver Street School two modern first grade classrooms and an attractive multi-purpose room. The board previously had re-heated and re-lighted existing school buildings, making all buildings modern in this respect.

The second most urgent need was to replace Central Junior High School. This building was inadequate for a good educational program and was becoming unsafe for housing children. The new State Street Junior High School was completed in March at a cost of $730,000.

The third project was the construction of the classroom section of the new senior high school. As prices kept rising, it became evident that construction of the senior high school would be impossible with the $1,100,000 now remaining in the school construction fund. As in many other Ohio cities the only solution left was to request an additional bond issue. Later articles will tell you of the total purpose of the bond issue.

Hid Loot in Green Camp Church

Three Held in Series Of County Burglaries

City police and the Marion County sheriff today announced the arrest of three men in connection with the recent wave of burglaries in Marion County.

Arrested were Richard Earl Morgan, 20, of 474 North Grand avenue, Charles Franklin Rentschler, 18, of 395 Leader street and Richard Mullins, 21, of near Prospect.

Morgan and Mullins were charged with three counts of breaking and entering while Rentschler was charged with a single breakin at the Waldo Supply Co. Sunday night.

Morgan and Mullins admitted breaking into the Laubis Elevator Co. at LaRue, the Farm and Home Lumber Co. at Caledonia and the Waldo firm as well as to an attempted breakin at the New York Central Freight House at LaRue, Sheriff LeRoy Retterer said today.

Rentschler and Mullins pleaded guilty as charged at arraignments this morning in Municipal Court. They were bound over to the grand jury. Morgan refused to enter a plea until he conferred with an attorney.

Removed to Jail

Bond was set at $2,500 on the two men for each count. Neither could post the bond. They were removed to the county jail to await Grand Jury action. Morgan was also sent to the jail pending arraignment.

The three, after admitting the breakins, told authorities they had hidden loot from the breakins in the Evangelical and Reformed Church two miles west of Green Camp, Sheriff Retterer said.

Sheriff's deputies and police recovered the loot in the church. It included a shotgun and shells taken from the Caledonia firm and a rifle removed from the Laubis Elevator.

Eighteen dollars in cash was hidden in a coal pile in an alley behind the Marion Hotel, they told authorities. The money was found in the cache.

The rifle was hidden in the church piano while the shells were hidden in a warm air duct. Police and sheriff's deputies searched the church until nearly midnight last night.

Arrested for Speeding

The men were arrested by city police at 5:05 yesterday morning on South Prospect street on a charge of speeding. A routine in-

Price Formula Due Tonight

WASHINGTON, April 24 — (AP)—The government will announce tonight the new method by which an estimated 75,000 manufacturers will compute new ceiling prices affecting a large share of consumer goods.

Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) officials said more price reductions than increases are expected under the regulation. They told reporters they could not estimate how much merchandise bought by consumers will be affected. They said it would be "a large part."

Prices of goods on retail shelves will not be changed for some time, however. Manufacturers will be given about a month to com-

Probers Get Details On Toledo Reds

Hear Ohio Negroes Fell for Promise Of Racial Equality

COLUMBUS, April 24—(AP)—The Communist party recruited Ohio Negroes with promises of racial equality and a Negro government in the south, four former party members told an Ohio legislative committee yesterday.

Three of them said they left the party when Communist clubs themselves began to practice racial segregation.

Their testimony was given at a hearing before a Senate-House group seeking the best way to curb subversives in Ohio.

Kenneth A. Robinson, Marion County representative, is chairman of the investigating committee.

The leading witness was William G. Cummings, Negro FBI agent who worked undercover in the party and helped convict the 11 top U. S. Communists tried in New York. All of the witnesses testified about Communist activities in Toledo.

Others were Negro C. M. Russell and his white wife, Loris, and Mrs. Christine Sutton, a Negro. They said they were Communists from about 1944 to 1949. Cummings said he joined in 1943 at the request of government agents.

Testimony Taken

The witnesses testified that:

Edward Lamb, Toledo attorney and newspaper-radio station owner, attended the 1944 dedication of a Communist party headquarters in Toledo and pledged contributions to the hall (Lamb could not be contacted immediately for comment);

J. B. Simmons, Jr., a Negro who is now serving as a Toledo councilman, attended the same dedication and promised similar aid.

A former Toledo school teacher and postal employe was a Communist;

Communists recruited members by contacting apparently disgruntled writers of letters-to-the-editor printed in Toledo newspapers;

Party leaders told Negroes they would get their own government below the Mason-Dixon line and whites would have a separate government in the north, and Communist officials taught that party members in the U. S. were a fifth column for Russia.

Chief witness Cummings was asked to resume his testimony next Monday. The committee will hold a closed session next Thursday.

M'Arthur Will Review Parade

NEW YORK, April 24—(AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur has agreed to review New York's loyalty parade next Saturday afternoon.

About 200,000 persons are expected to march down 5th Avenue past the reviewing stand at 67th Street.

The march, sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, was organized in 1948 to offset the annual May Day Communist parade.

Word that MacArthur would participate was handed down by one of the general's aides.

While MacArthur remained secluded in his 37th floor Waldorf-Astoria Hotel suite yesterday, his son, Arthur Jr., 13, went to the circus at Madison Square Garden.

Thursday morning the general leaves for Chicago and an official welcome reception there. Milwaukee will honor him Friday.

MacArthur's aide, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, said at a news conference yesterday that MacArthur has received many business propositions and that $100,000-a-year isn't "by any means" the highest salary offered him.

Remington-Rand has offered MacArthur a $100,000-a-year job, but Whitney declined comment on this particular offer.

Was Harding's Budget Director

Charles G. Dawes 85, Vice President For Coolidge, Dies

CHICAGO, April 24—(AP)—Gen. Charles Gates (Hell 'n Maria) Dawes, banker and statesman who won fame in many fields during his cyclonic career, died suddenly last night.

The 85-year-old former vice president, who served under President Coolidge from 1925-29, and under President Harding was the nation's first director of the budget, died of coronary thrombosis at his suburban Evanston home. He was stricken while talking to his wife, Caro.

Dawes, who was in public life for more than 30 years and often was the center of fierce controversies and momentous events, had not been ailing, a family spokesman said. However, he said Dawes, who was chairman of the board of the City National Bank and Trust Company, did not go to his office yesterday.

Dawes had been named as honorary chairman of the committee to greet Gen. MacArthur on his Chicago visit Thursday and presumably planned to attend the celebration.

Success came to Dawes in banking and utilities. And he was prominent in public life — as vice president, as ambassador to Great Britain, as co-creator of the "Dawes Plan," and as the director of the government's $2,000,000,000 Reconstruction Finance Corporation. He also won fame as an author and composer.

After the Armistice ending the first World War, General Dawes was made a member of the liquidation commission, serving until August, 1919, when he returned to the United States.

Appointed By Harding

President Harding drafted him for public service again within less than two years when in 1921 he named him as director of the budget. Under his leadership the budget system as it was at that time developed successfully. After putting the bureau of the budget on its feet, he resigned after one year by previous agreement and again retired to private life.

In the last decade Dawes kept pretty much out of the public spotlight. He usually went to his office in La Salle street daily. He adhered to a policy of no interviews and declined to give his views on events, past or present.

But it wasn't always so. After World War I he won the nickname 'Hell 'n Maria" from his testimony before a House committee investigating the administration of the War Department. And his underslung pipe—which appeared at first glance to be upside down — also typified Dawes to the nation a generation ago.

It was as "Hell 'n Maria" that America remembers Dawes best.

Dawes was a brigadier general with the A.E.F. in France in World War I and was assigned as general purchasing officer.

Appearing before the House investigating committee, he was asked: "isn't it true that excessive prices were paid for mules?"

"Hell 'n Maria!" shouted the general. "I'd have paid horse prices for sheep if the sheep could have hauled artillery."

Dawes, who was born in Marietta, O., August 27, 1865, started his business life in Lincoln, Nebr., as a lawyer and in banking but he came to Chicago before the turn of the century. And for more than 50 years he was one of the leaders in civic banking and political circles. His brother, Rufus, was associated with him in his banking business. Early in his

Gen. Dawes Here For Centennial

Gen. Dawes has visited in Marion on several occasions. In 1922 he attended the Marion Centennial observance along with President Warren G. Harding, General John J. Pershing and other notables.

He also was in Marion for the funeral of President Harding along with notables from throughout the world. He and Mrs. Dawes came to Marion by special train for the funeral.

On May 30, 1926, he laid the cornerstone for the Harding Memorial in an impressive ceremony.

He has visited at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Carl W. Sawyer several times. Mr. and Mrs. Dawes were close friends of Dr. Sawyer's parents. Dr. Sawyer continued the friendship and visited Mr. Dawes in his Chicago office recently.

New Water Mains, Fire Hydrants OK'd

Council Approves Installation Of Two Miles of Line

City Council last night passed legislation authorizing the Marion Water Co. to install more than two miles of water mains in various parts of the city and to install three more fire hydrants.

The legislation, which was introduced and recommended by the utilities committee of council, is to permit the water company to increase water pressure for fire hydrants in various parts of the city, especially in the area around City Hospital where Mayor Robinson said recent tests have shown hydrant pressure to be insufficient for full safety, and to step up pressure on several dead-end sewer lines in residential areas by making them part of a sewer loop.

New hydrants will be installed at Woodrow avenue and Sheridan road, on Blaine avenue extension south from Duluth at a spot to be selected by the fire chief, and at the corner of Gebhardt and Barnhart street.

Water Mains Approved

The following is the list of ten water mains council approved last night for installation by the water company.

1. An eight-inch main 3,200 feet long in Clinton street from Brown street to Woodrow avenue, then east on Woodrow to connect with an existing water main on Sheridan road.

2. An eight-inch main 1,282 feet long to be placed in Indiana avenue running south from the existing eight-inch main at Kenmore east to Spencer street and tieing in with existing mains in Merchant, Clover, Homer and Spencer streets.

3. An eight-inch main 600 feet long to be installed on Blaine avenue to run south from Duluth and to connect with an eight-inch main to be installed on Duluth avenue from Blaine to Olney.

4. A six-inch main to be in-

Half Million Reds Pouring Into Breach

Major Breakthrough Bends Back Right Flank as ROKs Fold

TOKYO, April 24 — (AP) — Nearly one-half million battle-tested Reds smashed a hole in the center of the United Nations line today in their third invasion of South Korea.

Communist troops streamed through the gap and bent back the right flank of the Allied line.

They were striking savagely with the aim of breaking up the international Eighth Army into piecemeal units.

Frontline officers considered the situation serious. But headquarters commanders were confident the rejuvenated Allied forces could stem the offensive.

Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, the grenade-packing paratrooper who shored up the morale of Allied forces before he succeeded General MacArthur as supreme commander, visited the front.

Ridgway said the great battle "well may prove decisive." He called it the greatest Red offensive yet launched, but warned that the Allies probably have not yet met its full strength.

On the eastern flank Red Koreans overran Inje. They struck with surprising strength. Defense of the town, four miles north of the border, collapsed.

ROKs Fold

South Koreans gave way before a similar Chinese assault in the center. The Korean retreat exposed the flanks of other U.N. units.

Reds rammed through, deepening their wedge south of the 38th Parallel. Censorship withheld the precise distance. Earlier in the day the Chinese had pushed four miles into South Korea. And they were still pressing forward over the dusty hills on foot and by horseback.

Ridgeway declared:

"It appears to me at this time that this attack is another major effort by our Communist enemy to drive United Nations forces from Korea, or to destroy them, regardless of the further destruction of his own troops."

An Eighth Army spokesman said Red casualties were 100 times those of U.N. forces. On the eastern front, an officer said Red losses there were 20 times those of the Allies.

Field commanders described the situation on the central front as critical. But Ridgway said, "I have complete confidence."

Refugees on March

Korean officials were not so confident. Great columns of refugees clogged the highways south of the central and western front.

AP correspondent Jim Becker on the central front said the "tired, dispirited people" didn't even raise their heads to see what was happening along the roads they plodded. Twice before they had fled along the same routes from the Communist advance—always in decreasing numbers.

They walked down roads threatened by a great Red pincer movement.

Arms of the pincer were formed by Chinese pushing down the mountainous center of the peninsula, and reinforced Reds boring across the Imjin river in the west.

Elements of two attacking Chinese divisions forced U.N. troops to withdraw near Korangpo at the western end of the front. Korangpo is south of the 38th Parallel and 30 miles north of Seoul, South Korean capital.

U. N. troops hit back, AP correspondent John Randolph reported they "were still fighting savagely at dusk" Tuesday.

Hold At Hwachon

The other arm of the pincer threatened the Chunchon-Seoul highway. This road leads to the capital from the northeast.

Only around Hwachon reservoir, east of the breakthrough, did the U. N. line hold firmly. Outflanked Allies beat off repeated attacks at Hwachon at the western end of the reservoir.

Eleven miles to the east, at the other end, U. N. forces gave some ground to hammering Reds but

Republicans Rally Behind MacArthur

Senate Drive For Broader Prosecution Of Korean War Due

WASHINGTON, April 24—(AP)—Amid fresh Democratic attacks on Gen Douglas MacArthur's proposals Republicans moved today to present independently their side of the row over President Truman's Far Eastern policy.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) told a reporter he expects Republican members of the Senate armed services committee to take the lead in organizing a case for broader prosecution of the Korean war.

Senators Bridges (R-NH) and Knowland (R-Calif) are likely leaders in this move.

"This should be independent of what General MacArthur has to say when he testifies before the committee," Taft said. "We think there should be some organized answer to the case the administration will lay down."

Taft, who heads the Senate Republican policy committee, has given general support to the deposed Pacific commander's proposals for blockading Red China, operating United Nations planes over Manchuria and using Chinese Nationalist troops.

"Never Been Informed"

In New York, meanwhile, a spokesman said MacArthur still does not know why he was stripped of his commands by the President. MacArthur's personal adviser, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, told reporters.

"To this day, General MacArthur never has been informed as to the reasons for his summary dismissal and he hasn't the faintest idea why the action was taken . . . General MacArthur had no opportunity even to transfer his command. He was dismissed the moment he received the message from the President. . . I think there is no precedent in American history."

In firing the five-star general, Mr Truman said he acted because he had concluded MacArthur no longer was able to give his "wholehearted support" to administration and United Nations policy.

Whitney talked with newsmen at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, where the MacArthurs are now living. He said Mrs. MacArthur heard the news of her husband's dismissal on the radio in Tokyo 20 minutes before official word was received from Washington.

McMahon Statement

Senator McMahon (D-Conn), who heads the Senate-House Atomic Committee, launched the newest attack on MacArthur's strategy with a declaration that it would risk the possibility of World War III when the United States is unprepared for it.

In an address prepared for the Senate, McMahon said the Capitol may be "blown to smithereens next week" by atomic bombs if America follows the wrong policy in Asia.

If McMahon said if the MacArthur policies are followed they might "set off a chain of Soviet action and American counter-action leading quickly to the third war, even though neither side desired full-scale hostilities."

Instead, he urged support for Mr Truman's program of limiting the war in Korea.

"A stone in our decisions is not merely a military adventure in a far-off Asiatic land," McMahon said. "At stake also is whether or not this very Capitol building, this very Senate chamber, may be blown to smithereens next week or the week after."

"Guessed Wrong"

Without once mentioning MacArthur by name, McMahon said the general had guessed wrong not only on the beginning of the Korean war but on the intervention there of Chinese Communists.

McMahon declared that MacArthur proposes to go ahead "all on our own, without the support of the United Nations, against the wishes of our allies, in a secondary theater and with Russia able to bomb us tomorrow."

He asked if that happens "can the United States afford the grave risk of starting World War III?"

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the Republican leader, said he regards McMahon's blast as only one of many that will come from the Democrats before MacArthur appears to testify before the Armed Services group, possibly early next week. Senate Foreign Relations Committee members will sit in on the hearing.

"The people are going to get a chance to hear both sides of this controversy," Wherry declared.

POLICE HOLD MAN

A 65-year-old Marion man was arrested on West Center street at 8:15 p. m. yesterday and held for investigation. No charges were filed against him today and no information was released by police or county prosecutor as to why the man was being held.

Names Party Branches

He said Joe Friedman was Communist party chairman for Lucas County in 1943. Other chairmen, he said, were Eugene Stoll (expelled in 1945), Max Wall, Nat Cohen and Joe Sokol, present head. He said Sokol formerly was active in Columbus where he was known as Sokoloff.

Cummings named four party branches in Toledo—the Birmingham Club, Seventh-Eighth and 20th ward clubs. He became a member of the CP's state committee, attended state CP conventions in Cleveland yearly from 1945-48 and national conventions in 1944 and 1948. He also attended Communist schools in Toledo, Cleveland and Chicago, he said.

Russell testified that Lamb was a guest at the 1944 New Year's Eve dedication of Lincoln House, new Communist headquarters on Tenth street in Toledo. He identified Lamb as a lawyer and newspaper-radio station owner.

Russell said Simmons, who later became a city councilman, attended the same dedication that drew some 200 into the hall. Another guest, he said, was Dr. John S. Pyle who had an office on 12th street.

Top Communists at the dedication, Russell testified, included Friedman, Arnold Johnson, then chairman of the party in Ohio; Stoll and Cummings.

Russell said he got orders to sell the Daily Worker, Communist newspaper house to house. But he said he threw 90 percent of them into Swan creek because "I didn't like the job."

Russell said Edward Love, a member of the Eighth Ward branch, formerly taught in Toledo's Gunckel school and later worked in the post office there. He was dismissed, the witness testified.

Mrs. Russell said she was graduated from high school in Woodville and married her Negro husband in 1940.

She said they became Communists because of promises that the party would provide them a social outlet free of embarrassment for interracial couples. They left, she said, mainly because the Communist clubs began to practiced segregation and said members were Russian fifth columnists.

Mrs. Sutton said she attended a Communist school in Cleveland run by Hy Lumer, a discharged Western Reserve University professor. She said Gus Hall, one of the 11 convicted Communists, was a director of the school.

Lumer and Hall at various times said U. S. Communists wouldn't fight against Russia and would go underground, Mrs. Sutton recalled.

Of the plan for a Negro government in the South and a white government in the North, Mrs. Sutton observed:

"We thought the Communist party wasn't practicing what they preached. We thought they were against segregation. But they were trying to set up a Jim Crow state."

Asked by a committee member about Communist endorsement of a compulsory fair employment practices commission in Ohio, she said "they just used that as another one of their issues."

Word of Vogeler Awaited in Vienna

VIENNA, AUSTRIA, April 24—(AP)—The Orient and Arlberg express trains steamed into Vienna again today without Robert A. Vogeler.

This is the third day since the Hungarian government announced that agreement had been reached on the release from prison of the American businessman, confined 17 months on charges of spying.

U. S. legation officials in Vienna said they had heard nothing new from Budapest concerning Vogeler, being released in return for U. S. recognition of certain undisclosed "just claims" of Hungary.

Vogeler's wife, Lucille, waiting for him with increasing anxiety in her suburban Vienna home, expresed hope that news soon would be forthcoming.

Toledo City Councilman Tells Story

TOLEDO, April 24—(AP)—Toledo Councilman J. B. Simmons Jr. said last night he recalled attending "some sort of dedication meeting" in 1944 but he did not know it was to be a Communist party gathering.

Simmons was identified today by C M. Russell, Toledo, in testimony in Columbus before the Ohio legislative committee investigating subversive activities, as one of those who attended the dedication of Communist party headquarters in Toledo in 1944.

Also identified by Russell as being at the meeting were Edward Lamb, attorney and radio station owner in Toledo, and Dr. John S. Pyle, Toledo.

Simmons, a Negro, said he was head of the mass movement league at the time of the meeting. He said the league was endeavoring to obtain employment for Negroes as Community Traction Co. bus drivers in Toledo.

"Dr. John S. Pyle, who was interested in our fight, asked me to go to the meeting," Simmons said. "I recall Ed Lamb was there as well as a lot of other prominent citizens."

Simmons said he made a brief talk on the work of the mass movement league and that Dr. Pyle also spoke in favor of the employment of Negroes as bus drivers.

"I didn't know when I went what it was going to be," the councilman said," but I suspected there were Communists there after I arrived and heard some of the talks."

Simmons said that William Cummings, an undercover FBI man in the Communist party in Toledo, "tried for six years to get me to join the party but I never did."

The councilman said he probably had attended, unwittingly, a number of Communist meetings in those days. "They never called them Communist," he said. "It was always workers party, or something like that."

Dr. Pyle could not be reached for comment immediately.

Lamb, publisher of the Erie, Pa., Dispatch and owner of television stations in Erie, Pa., and Columbus, O., in addition to his Toledo affiliations, was in New York attending the convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

pute their new ceiling prices and put them into effect.

In addition, it will take time for goods to pass through the hands of distributors and onto retail shelves at the new prices. In each case there will have to be a new computation on the basis of price changes at the manufacturers' levels.

Price director Michael V. DiSalle told reporters manufacturers who tried voluntarily last fall to hold down prices probably will get slight increases. For others, he predicted rollbacks.

U. S. farmers used less than a million gallons of motor fuel in 1920 and more than 7,000,000 gallons in 1950.

Tells of Mounting Newspaper Costs

NEW YORK, April 24—(AP)—Rising costs are a major problem for the nation's newspapers, the president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association said today.

"The difficulty of publishing a newspaper has never been greater—we are confronted constantly with the puzzle of how to make our income equal our expense," said Edwin S. Friendly, a vice president of the New York World-Telegram and Sun.

Mr. Friendly's remarks were in a speech prepared for executives of newspapers in the 10,000 to 50,000 circulation group who are here for the Publishers Association's 65th annual convention.

Marion G.I. Wounded In Korea Action

Pfc. Robert Wintersteller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wintersteller of Huron, former residents of Marion, recently was wounded in action in Korea. Wintersteller a machine-gunner with the 24th Infantry Divison, was struck by an enemy machine-gun bullet in the shoulder. He has been removed to a hospital at Pusan.

Wintersteller entered the Army Sept. 8 and received basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky. Prior to entering the service, he was employed as a draftsman by the Ohio Associated Telephone Co. He is a graduate of St. Mary High School, where he was a star basketball player.

Mr. and Mrs. Wintersteller operated the Marion Recreation Center prior to moving to Huron.

Says Ohio Has 160,000 New Phones

C. E. Williams of Marion, president of the Ohio Independent Telephone Association, yesterday told delegates to the association's 56th annual convention being held in Columbus that 160,000 new independent telephones have been installed in Ohio since the end of World War II, mostly in rural areas. Ohio's nearly 200 independent companies spent $50,000,000 on improvements in the last five years, he said.

Mr. Williams is president of The Ohio Associated Telephone Co., which has its main offices in Marion.

A number of commercial, plant and traffic experts from independent Ohio companies gave reports and talks today, the Associated Press reported.

The conference followed yesterday's prediction that another world war would force the companies to divert service from some homes and businesses to essential workers and industries.

In a talk yesterday, Ray Dalton of Everett, Wash., president of the U. S. Independent Telephone Association, said drastic reductions on materials already have hit independent telephone companies.

He said this might come about in the event of another world war:

"This time we may have to do more than refuse new services. We may have to disconnect and remove, under government orders, telephones from residences and 'luxury' businesses for the use of essential workers and industries."

Third Official Quits Britain Labor Gov't

LONDON, April 24—(AP)—A junior minister joined two cabinet members today in bolting the Labor government in revolt against its arms budget.

John Freeman, parliamentary secretary to the ministry of supply, turned in his resignation to Prime Minister Clement Attlee.

He quit his job for broadly the same reasons which led Aneurin Bevan to step down as labor minister and Harold Wilson to give up his job as president of the board of trade.

All objected to Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Gaitskell's method of financing the country's rearmament program at the expense of the free medical scheme.

Burglaries

vestigation of the car revealed flashlights, pens and other items reported stolen as well as a set of burglar tools. The auto was owned by Mullins.

The men were implicated in the Waldo burglary by means of a fountain pen taken from the elevator. The pen was engraved with the owner's name.

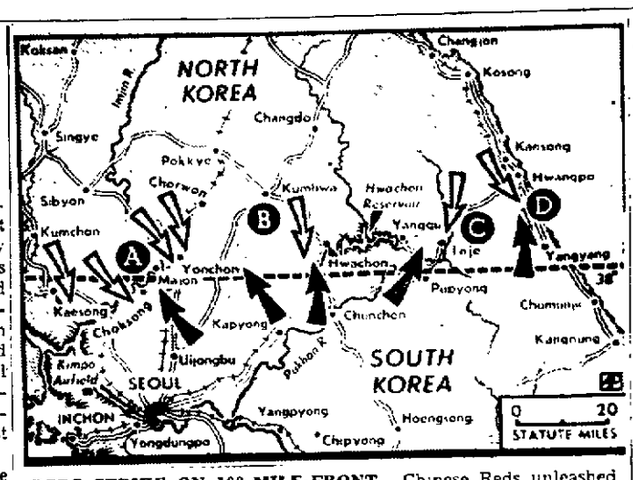

Leon McCorkle, manager of the Waldo establishments, said the breakin occurred at the elevator after midnight Sunday since he worked at the office until shortly before that time. In addition to the fountain pen, gloves and other miscellaneous merchandise valued at $35 were taken.

The men also attempted to remove a safe from the office but found it too heavy. When the attempt failed they tried to open the safe but failed in that move also. Another safe containing office records and files had the combination listed on the door, Mr. McCorkle said, but the thieves attempted to break off the combination.

The Caledonia and LaRue breakins were made Thursday night.

The three breakins netted the burglars $415 in cash and merchandise. Of this, $115 was taken from the Caledonia firm along with a shotgun, rod and reel and shotgun shells. A .22 caliber rifle was taken from the Laubis elevator along with a small radio.

The men also admitted entering a store in Richwood Sunday night and taking $12. No charges were filed in that breakin.

REDS STRIKE ON 100-MILE-FRONT. Chinese Reds unleashed their expected spring offensive and initial gains slammed a 15-mile bridgehead across the Imjin River (A) on main approaches to Seoul. No-Man's town of Kaesong in this area may have been taken by the Reds. Northwest of Hwachon reservoir (B), and east of the dam (C) United Nations units were forced to pull back their lines. There were clashes, too, on the dormant east coast front (D). (AP Wirephoto Map)

Discuss Possibility of Family Welfare Agency for Marion

Possibility of establishment of a Family Welfare Agency in Marion was discussed yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the Marion Community Foundation at the Y.M.C.A.

Gordon Berg, experienced professional examiner for the Community Chests and Councils of America addressed a cross section of Marion citizens on a survey into the need of such an agency.

Mr. Berg was called to Marion by the Board of Trustees of the local foundation to discuss the following points: Does Marion need a Family Welfare Agency to provide social case work? If the answer to the first question is affirmative, how should the cost be defrayed? He also was asked to make a general review of Marion Community Foundation affairs and submit recommendations resulting therefrom.

Requested Visit

Mr Berg's visit was made at the request of a committee appointed by the local trustees to study the proposal. The committee was made up of Edwin J. Kinter, chairman, Judge Edward J. Ruzzo, Dr. Frederick Rea, J. E. Oliphant and Francis Huber. Yesterday's meeting was called by Cleo Ludwig, president of the foundation, and was presided over by Mr. Kinter.

Mr. Berg expressed approval of the proposed plan and recommended the local groups should proceed to set up the agency.

Similar Agencies

He pointed out how similar agencies throughout the country operate. He recommended the employment of a professionally trained director and reconstituting the Marion Community Foundation into the Marion County Chest and Planning Council. This move would embrace the activities of all recreational, health and welfare programs, both public and private. He pointed out that over $1,000,000 a year was spent in the country carrying out these programs and there is no co-ordination of the programs.

Harding Play Set Tomorrow

Seniors To Present "Cheaper by Dozen"

Dress rehearsal for the Harding High School senior class play, "Cheaper By the Dozen," to be given tomorrow afternoon and evening at the Palace Theater, will be held tomorrow morning.

Under the direction of William Calvert, speech instructor at Harding, the cast of 16 seniors has been rehearsing daily for the last several weeks and the various production committees and stage crew have completed arrangements for the presentation.

The afternoon performance will be at 2:30, and the curtain will go up on the evening show at 8:15.

Tickets will be available at the door of the theater tomorrow night. Tickets already purchased and not yet reserved, can still be exchanged for reserve seat tickets tomorrow noon at Harding High School.

17 Men Leave For Induction

A group of 17 Marion County men left at 8:30 a.m. today for induction into the U. S. Army. They were taken to Ft. Hayes in Columbus.

The total sent from the county so far this year is 89 men. The next group is scheduled to be sent for induction May 17, the Marion County draft board reported.

The state draft quota for May was cut about a third from 3,840 to 3,042 state selective service headquarters announced today.

Marion County's quota will remain at 22 men for the May 17 draft shipment as originally announced April 20 by Local Board 81.

Quotas for nearby counties were reported as follows: Crawford County, six; Delaware County, 10; Hardin County, 14; Morrow County, 2; Union County 11 and Wyandot County 2.

Korea

held Yanggu. The town remained in danger.

Hwachon and Yanggu are seven miles north of the border.

"This is a real war now," a divisional officer said. "We are dealing with an enemy that has large numbers, lots of artillery for the first time and the obvious intention of wiping us out.

"We know that. And we are waiting for him. He has taken some terrible losses already. And he is going to take some more."

Red losses Monday were estimated at nearly 12,000. About one fourth of them were from round-the-clock air attacks.

But that's not much out of an estimated 400,000 troops already committed to the attack. An assault force of that size would leave the Reds some 300,000 in reserve in North Korea.

Units Encircled

U. N. troops had pulled back as much as 15 miles in places. The withdrawal was generally well ordered. But it was so fast that units from company to battalion size were surrounded on the west and central fronts. They fought their way out Tuesday.

On the western front where Reds were driving across the Imjin river 30 miles north of Seoul, Allied forces withdrew one to nine miles to prepared positions. Operations officers described the battle situation Tuesday as stable.

But fighting was sharp. The whole day was spent readjusting lines.

In contrast to other Chinese offensives, Allied commanders were not seriously alarmed with the situation. They had been preparing for a month to meet the attack. They were in stronger force than ever before.

The central front situation was grim.

Allied intelligence officers said the Chinese were "throwing everything they've got" into the hole ripped in the U. N. line. Often this was only rifle, machinegun and other small arms fire as Red infantrymen and horsemen pushed far ahead of their artillery.

The Chinese were expected to fan out east and west of the hole in an effort to cut the main Allied supply lines.

Gov't Rests Brehm Case, Defense Opens

Prosecutor Reads Secret Testimony Given Grand Jury

WASHINGTON, April 24—(AP)—Rep. Walter E. Brehm (R-Ohio) today opened his defense against charges that he illegally received campaign contributions in 1947 and 1948.

The government yesterday ended its evidence with excerpts from Brehm's testimony before the grand jury which indicted him last December. It was to rest its case today.

Leo A. Rover, chief defense attorney, told newsmen he plans to ask Federal Judge Burnita S. Matthews for a directed verdict of acquittal.

Failing that, Rover said, he will make an opening statement to a jury of 10 men and two women, outlining his case today.

The defense expects to call Mrs. Barbara Crozier Lanzer, now an employe in Brehm's office, and Opal Johnson, a receptionist in the apartment building where Brehm lives.

Brehm is charged with illegally accepting $1,380 in campaign contributions from Mrs. Clara Soliday and Mrs. Emma S. Craven when they worked for him.

Undisclosed Testimony

Assistant U. S. Attorney Ray Baker read Brehm's previously undisclosed grand jury testimony, that the congressman said he did not know Mrs. Soliday made a contribution to his 1946 campaign until four years later, after the FBI began an investigation.

Brehm told the grand jury his wife gave him $100 in 1946 and said it was from an anonymous donor. It was not until 1950, Brehm continued, that he learned the donation had come from Mrs. Soliday. He said he found this out when he discussed the matter with Mrs. Brehm.

Baker read Brehm's answers to questions in which the congressman said Mrs. Soliday came to his office in February 1946 and offered to make a contribution "to the committee."

"Now I can say to you from the bottom of my heart," Brehm was quoted as saying, "that never again from that moment did Mrs. Soliday ever mention giving me a contribution or talk about contributions. The subject just never was discussed and I never received any contributions."

FBI agent Rosser L. Nalls testified that Brehm told him last August that Mrs. Brehm during the 1946 campaign produced an envelope with about $1,200 in it and that he listed this sum in official reports as anonymous contributions.

Used File Cabinet

Baker quoted Brehm as saying he told Mrs. Craven he did not want her contributions, but that she insisted he accept.

The congressman, Baker went on, told the grand jury he indicated a file cabinet in his office and informed Mrs. Craven she could put money in there, if she wanted to contribute. Brehm said Mrs. Craven had a key to the cabinet.

He added that Mrs. Craven opened the drawer and dropped an envelope in.

Brehm testified that before leaving for Ohio in 1948, he called Mrs. Craven and Mrs Lanzer into his office and instructed them to send the seven or eight envelopes in the drawer to him, if he wrote and said he needed them.

But, the congressman continued he never sent for the envelopes and never opened them.

Mrs. Craven, in her testimony yesterday, said she handed all payments to Brehm in person, or mailed contributions to him in Ohio.

She also testified that just before Brehm's indictment last December, he offered to return all the money she had given him.

Mrs. Craven said Brehm asked her to sign a statement that she got the money in 1949. But, she said she replied she thought it was "too late" to do this.

Mississippi Flood Spreads Destruction

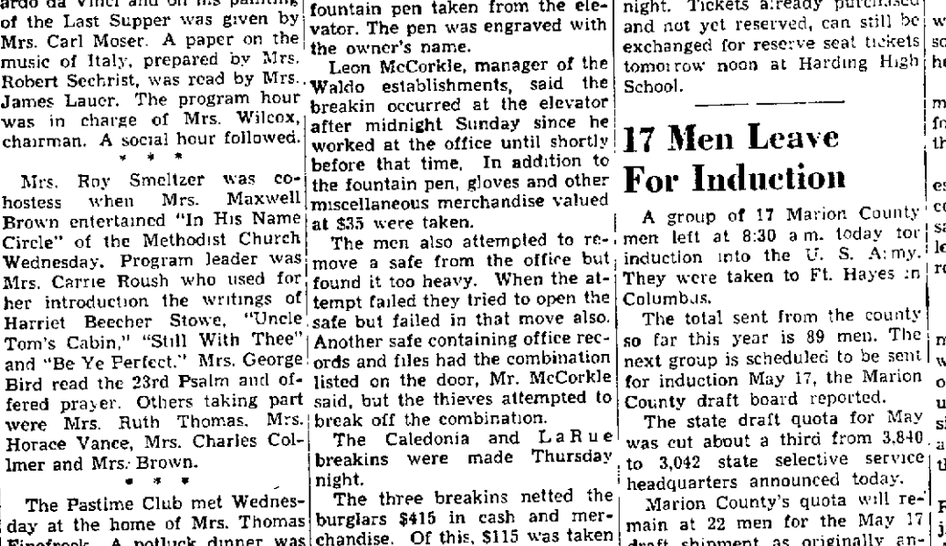

By The Associated Press

The Mississippi river's spring floods dealt further destructive blows in the upper valley region today.

Damage mounted into the millions of dollars. The Red Cross said 7,400 persons were homeless in Iowa, Illinois and Missouri. Another 24,000, the Red Cross said, were threatened with evacuation by the flood waters.

Men worked throughout the night in some of the Iowa and Illinois river towns endangered by the swirling waters from the big stream. Some rain and warmer weather was forecast for the area today.

ARTIST'S DRAWING OF ATOM BOMB BEING DROPPED. This drawing by Jim Berryman, Washington Star cartoonist and illustrator, appears in the current issue of Look Magazine along with an article by Berryman that the magazine says is the first eye-witness description of the A-bomb. Look says Berryman made an authorized flight in a B-50 carrying an A-bomb in a practice run and that the Air Force cleared the drawings. Berryman in the article says the bomb he saw was not actually dropped. This drawing is described as showing what the A-bomb would look like being dropped by a B-50 bomber. In Washington the Atomic Energy Commission denied that Berryman saw a real atomic bomb and quoted the Air Force as saying he did not see a representation of one. Ohio Medical Men Convene

Annual Meeting Held in Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, April 24—(AP)—The president of the Ohio State Medical Association today declared, "the medical society should serve as family doctor to the community much in the way its members serve as advisers to the family."

Dr. E. O. Swartz of Cincinnati said that local medical societies should inform civic groups in matters affecting public health and should "see that the board of health has adequately trained personnel and sufficient funds to do a good job."

He spoke at the opening session of the organization's House of Delegates, which is holding its annual meeting here.

Radio and Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Now Everybody's Doing It

I suppose it was inevitable that the Kefauver hearings, conceivably the most successful television program of all time, would attract imitators. And it has. Both "Lights Out," the NBC-TV show, and "Suspense," the CBS-TV show, have done direct imitations of the televised crime hearings, have employed the services of a lot of good actors and cameramen. No actor yet, though, has come anywhere near the polished performances given by Mr. Halley, Senators Kefauver and Tobey, Weber, Anastasia and the rest of that colorful cast.

John Crosby

Possibly the worst indignity to the original cast was committed by "Lights Out" where Dane Clark, generally a very competent actor, was made to play a highly emotional Rudolph Halley (though not under that name) who repeatedly lost his temper. Since the real Mr. Halley is as unemotional as a dead cod and about as hard to fluster, this performance was pretty jarring.

Even more jarring was the plot. The senators—and NBC dug up an actor who looked and talked remarkably like Senator Kefauver—were trying to pin a murder on an exceedingly truculent witness (who would have been arrested for contempt if he'd behaved that way in front of the real committee.) Suddenly the supposed corpse showed up in the courtroom, led Kefauver and Halley characters to a deserted building and then proceeded to float through a locked door and disappear. Breaking down the door, the investigators found a trunk containing the man's long-dead body.

IF THAT DENOUEMENT startles you, then you haven't been hanging around "Lights Out" very much. On that show dead folk are constantly popping up out of the sea or out of their tombs to confront their murderers, to lead them to their corpses and generally to raise cain with the living. You never quite know who is or who isn't deceased on "Lights Out" but I can give you a couple of hints, if you care to hear them. The dead, almost without exception, have a wise, all-knowing air about them, when threatened with death or injury, a small inscrutable smile flickers across their lips. They feel sorry for us poor dopes, the living.

This may well have been what unsettled the neo-Halley. The real Halley, heaven knows, had a lot of things to contend with—the complete self-possession of Virginia Hill, the enormous reticence of Frank Costello, the loss of memory of practically everybody—but at least all those persons were subject to the roles of Senate hearings—subpena, contempt proceedings and the rest of it. Even the matchless urbanity of Rudolph Halley might have been slightly ruffled by a witness who disappeared through locked doors.

The other Kefauver imitation on "Suspense" was a much better show in all regards, an eye-filling production employing half a hundred Chinese actors, and a pretty darned good story. Like the "Lights Out" show, it started with the hearings. There was a Halley character who was a good deal closer to the original than the "Lights Out" man and also a Senator Tobey who not only looked like the New Hampshire moralist but also exploded with indignation in almost exactly the same way. The Kefauver impersonator, however, was a good deal handsomer in a smooth actorish way than the gentleman from Tennessee.

THE SENATOR didn't stay in the courthouse, interrogating witnesses, very long. Soon he, too, was prowling through the darkness and also courting a good deal of danger in a Chinatown underworld. (The street scenes were breath-taking for a live television show.) There was a bit of knife play which severed one witness from this mortal coil and effectively closed his lips. At least on "Suspense," it closed his lips. This man may show up next week on "Lights Out" and spill his guts.

The big switch at the end came when it turned out that it wasn't at all suspected, the crooked cop—he turned out to be quite an honest cop—but a crooked reporter who was the big wheel they were all looking for. Any time a reporter is made to commit the crime instead of solving it on TV, that, brother, is a man biting a dog.

CLASS ENTERTAINED

When the Loyal Crusaders Class of First Church of God met Friday night, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Koch entertained in their home on Park street. Mrs. Rita Morgan presided. Scripture was by Harry Koch and Frank Morgan offered prayer. The next meeting will be in the home of Rev. and Mrs. Fred D. Morgan at Green Camp.

LOSES 22 LBS.
4 Weeks with Rennel

Mrs. Clara Sahli, 162 S. Forest Ave., Youngstown, Ohio writes: "I have lost 22 lbs. in 4 weeks since I started to use Rennel. Before I started with Rennel I was so tired most of the time, and my weight bothered my legs. I feel so much better in every way now, also a lot lighter on my feet."

It's amazing how quickly you can lose unsightly fat at home. Obtain liquid Rennel at your druggist, mix with grapefruit juice as directed and take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. If you do not lose weight with the very first bottle just return it for your money back. You need never know a hungry moment while reducing with Rennel.

Christian Science Lecturer To Speak Here Saturday

Frank C. Ayres of Indianapolis, Ind., will lecture in Marion Saturday evening on "Christian Science: The Solution of Being." The public lecture will be heard in the auditorium of First Church of Christ Scientist at Mt. Vernon avenue and Church street at 8:15.

A member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, he is now on an extended lecture tour. Formerly a practicing attorney in Indianapolis, he has been for several years a practitioner of Christian Science healing.

In his lecture, he expects to discuss the "practical value of Christ's teachings in solving human problems." He claims as a basis for becoming a church figure in this field his own healing "in one Christian Science treatment" of a severe case of nervous exhaustion, in 1907. It was in 1926 that he withdrew from the legal practice to practice Christian Science healing. Subsequently, he served 12 years as Christian Science Committee on Publication for the state of Indiana.

Waldo School Bond Endorsed by Lodge

When Whetstone Lodge No. 718, K. of P., of Waldo met Wednesday night in the lodge hall, members unanimously voted to endorse the Waldo school bond issue for improvements and an addition to the present school.

Plans were launched at the meeting for an observance of the 50th anniversary of the Waldo Lodge to be held May 5, with both afternoon and evening sessions. It will be an open meeting to all old members of the Waldo lodge and all new and present members. Fifty-year membership pins will be awarded.

CHOICE OF ROTARY

MANSFIELD, April 24—(AP)—Rotarians yesterday nominated Thomas B. Bartlett of North Baltimore (Wood County) as their Northern Ohio District governor. No other candidates were nominated. Bartlett, an insurance agent, will be installed later this year by the national Rotary committee. Irving C. Reynolds of Toledo is district governor now.

2 Marion Boys Put on Probation

Two Marion boys, one 13 and one 15 years of age, were placed on indefinite probation yesterday in the custody of their parents after a hearing before Juvenile Judge Edward J. Ruzzo.

The boys were apprehended by a city patrolman as they attempted to break into Central Junior High School April 14. One of them threw a stone at the patrolman as he arrested the other.

The boys were not only charged with attempting to enter the school building but also with car looting. Police investigation of the boys' homes revealed a number of items taken from parked cars over past months.

The items included a small camera, flashlights, and auto accessories.

HOSTESS TO CIRCLE

Mrs. Charles Kinney was hostess to the Mary Martha Circle of Epworth Methodist Church Wednesday night in her home on Oak street, with Mrs. William Lemasters assisting. Devotions by Mrs. Warren Malo were on "What a Friend We Have in Jesus." A nominating committee appointed by Mrs. Marion Hinklin, president, included Mrs. LeMasters, Mrs. Kinney and Mrs. A. H. Schnaufer. Mrs. L. W. Pfeiffer had charge of a program.

CIRCLE HOLDS LUNCHEON

For a dessert luncheon meeting of First Presbyterian Circle No. 1 Thursday, Mrs. Paul Hoch was hostess in her home on Marion avenue. Mrs. Marshall McKinstry assisted. Devotions were by Mrs. L. C. Wogan. Mrs. E. M. Briethaupt reviewed chapter of "Near East Panorama." Plans were made for a picnic May 24.

In Loving Memory

★Of Jane Lee Cratty, April 24, 1950.

Little darling, we miss you so,
Day or night, wherever we go,
We miss your sweet face,
All through the weary hours,
No little hands to clasp in ours
We miss your footsteps, laughter and voice, so dear
Although you seem so near,
And Janie, you will always live in our hearts, we know
You were such a pal, we shall miss you so.
Since you left us, life has never been the same.
Our hearts still ache with pain,
our eyes shed many a tear.
God alone knows how much we miss you.
As this ends the first sad year.
Your Mom, Daddy,
Sisters and Brothers.

Most Ohio Cities Reject Daylight Time

CLEVELAND, April 24—(AP)—Cleveland and a number of northern Ohio cities will change to daylight savings time next Sunday.

But most of the state, including the capital city of Columbus, will remain on Eastern Standard Time.

Daylight Saving time, which involves turning the clocks ahead one hour, will be in effect until the last Sunday in October.

Other cities switching include Youngstown, Salem, East Liverpool, East Palestine, Lisbon, Columbiana, Warren, Campbell, Lowellville, Niles and Newton Falls.

All of Jefferson County will be on Daylight Saving. Scio will remain on standard time, and the rest of Harrison County voted yesterday on the question. Results have not been announced.

All Cuyahoga County communities will turn their clocks ahead one hour, as will residents of Lorain, Elyria, Amherst and probably the rest of Lorain County.

The Stark County communities of Alliance, Hartville and Navarre are going on fast time.

In Canton, Common Pleas Judge Paul Weber upheld results of an election that keep Canton on standard time this summer. A city ordinance authorized a change to fast time.

Last November the voters went to the polls and nullified the ordinance. The judge said the majority vote was valid.

Musicale Set Friday At Prospect School

PROSPECT, April 24—The annual Prospect school musical program will be held Friday at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium. Grades 5 through 12 will participate.

Proceeds from the program will go to the vocal and instrumental departments of the school. The fifth and sixth grades will present an operetta based on the life and featuring the music of Stephen Foster. The junior high school boys and girls chorus and the senior high boys and girls will present a variety of numbers.

The instrumental portion of the program will consist of two numbers by the junior high school bands and marches, overtures and novelty selections by the high school band.

CONDITION IMPROVES

BUCYRUS — Improvement was noted today in the condition of Robert Keller, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Keller. The boy is confined in Children's Hospital at Columbus, with a rare illness due to measles entering the brain cells. Robert, a second grade pupil at Central School, was removed to the hospital April 15 after the disease caused paralysis below the waist. He is expected to be released from the hospital in about three weeks.

D. OF A. INITIATION PLANNED

Announcements of coming events were made at a meeting of Mary A. Canfield Council No. 210, Daughters of America, Thursday night. Initiation will be held at the next regularly scheduled meeting. The degree staff will put on work at the rally in Mansfield May 24. Thursday night this week, the Past Councilors Circle will meet at the home of Mrs. Edna Riddle on Fies avenue. Next T. and O. Club meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Rovena Osborne on Evans road.

Dawes

career as a banker, General Dawes, only 31 years old, served as comptroller of the currency under President McKinley in 1897.

In 1924 Dawes was chairman of the committee of experts studying the war reparations problem. Out of their study came the Dawes reparations plan. For his work, he was awarded the 1925 Nobel peace prize, sharing it with Sir Austen Chamberlain, then British foreign secretary.

After his term as vice president with President Coolidge, Dawes served as ambassador to Great Britain under President Hoover and later took over as head of the RFC.

RFC Troubles

After he left the RFC there was much criticism against Dawes over the RFC loan of $90,000,000 to tottering Central Republic Bank and Trust Company during the depression. The loans were an issue in the 1932 presidential campaign. There was much court litigation but the bank ultimately ceased functioning and the City National Bank and Trust Company took over its deposit liabilities.

Surviving Dawes, besides his widow, is a daughter, Mrs. Melvin B. Ericson of Evanston. A son, Rufus, drowned in 1912 when he was 21. Later General and Mrs. Dawes adopted two children, now Mrs. Virginia Cragg of Kenilworth, Ill., and Dana McCutcheon Dawes, of Marengo, Ill.

Funeral services have not been announced.

DEATHS and FUNERALS

Mrs. George C. Snider

Mrs. Matilda Quigley Snider, 85, widow of George C. Snider, formerly of Marion, died Sunday night. Place of death was the Woodlawn Nursing Home at Mansfield. Mrs. Snider had been ill six years, and five years ago went to live at the home of a son, Brock Snider, in Mansfield.

Born Sept. 2, 1865, she was a native of Galion. Her husband died two years ago. She was a member of First Lutheran Church at Plymouth, O.

Surviving with the son in Mansfield are other children, Harry Snider of Akron and Mrs. Flora Leasure of Youngstown, eight grandchildren, two great-grandchildren, a sister, Mrs. Calvin Schieck of Bellefontaine, and a brother, Harry J. Quigley of Miami Fla. Mrs. C. Z. Zachman of South Prospect street, Marion, is a sister-in-law.

Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday at 1 p. m. in the Wappner Funeral Home in Mansfield. Rev. John G. Gensel of St. Paul Lutheran Church will officiate. Burial will be in Grove Street Cemetery at New London. Friends may call at the funeral home tonight.

Lewis P. Yaeger

Lewis P. Yaeger, 72, former Marion County resident and retired farmer, died at home in Columbus Monday at 1 p. m. He had been ill more than two years. Previously he farmed south of Marion and southwest of Morral, going to Columbus about four years ago.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Anna Yaeger, and three daughters and a son, Mrs. Mary Currier of Marion, Mrs. Raymond Chaney of Ostrander, Mrs. Fay Kinckel of near Morral, and Powell G. Yaeger of Westerville, a stepson, Carl Hughes of near Marion, eight grandchildren and five step-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday at 10 a. m. in the Woodyard Funeral Home on East State street in Columbus. Burial will be in Marlboro Cemetery near Delaware. Friends may call at the funeral home.

Mrs. Clinton Porter

Word has been received here of the death at Santa Barbara, Calif., April 14, of Mrs. Susan Dowell Porter, 92, formerly of Marion County. She died in her home after a short illness.

Born near Marion Feb. 22, 1859, she left here about 25 years ago. Her husband, Clinton Porter, died in 1931, and sons preceded her in death, John Porter in 1935 and Barry Porter last July.

Surviving are a daughter, Miss Bertha P. Porter of Santa Barbara, eight grandchildren, 14 great-grandchildren and a great-great-grandchild, and a number of nieces and nephews in Marion and Green Camp.

Funeral services were conducted April 17 at the Haiden Mortuary in Santa Barbara, and burial was in Golita Cemetery there.

Mrs. C. W. Longfellow

LARUE — Mrs. Anna K. Longfellow, widow of Clyde William Longfellow of LaRue, died suddenly at 6:30 p.m. Monday. She had felt ill and had gone to the office of a LaRue physician where she collapsed. Cause of death was pronounced heart attack.

Born in Columbus, she had been a resident of LaRue 25 years. Her husband died in 1936. She was a member of St. Joseph Catholic Church in LaRue and of the Altar Society of the church.

Surviving are children, Mrs. Mary Ann Predmore and Bruce Longfellow, both of LaRue, and Joseph and Eugene Longfellow, both of Prospect, and sisters, Mrs. Ralph Bernard and Mrs. Charles Carroll, both of Columbus.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday at 9:30 a.m. in St. Joseph Church. Rev. Father Heilman will officiate. Burial will be in Grove Cemetery at Kenton. Friends may call at the Price Funeral Home in Kenton until 6 p. m. Wednesday, then at the Longfellow home.

Rev. Godfrey Ide

BUCYRUS—Rev. Godfrey Ide, 76, father of Dr. Carl Ide, Bucyrus physician, died yesterday at his home in Bowling Green, O. He retired from the Lutheran ministry in 1937. Surviving are the widow, Carrie, eight other children and nine grandchildren. Services will be held Wednesday afternoon in Perrysburg, O.

Courtesy doesn't add anything to the high quality or superior value of the food you buy at A&P.

But it is the ingredient that makes your shopping trip a pleasant experience rather than a tiresome task.

That is why the men and women who operate your A&P work hard not only to give you prompt and efficient service, but to be courteous and friendly, as well.

They know that even the pressures of rush-hour shopping are no excuse for rudeness.

If they ever fail to make your trip to A&P a pleasant one, they want to know about it. Please write:

Marsox Out To Keep Pennant Against Giants Tonight

Through the SPORTSCOPE with A. L. McCLAIN

SCHOOL IN SESSION. Tonight at Lincoln Park the umpire will bawl, "Play ballll!" but in keeping with the plans of the parent club, Boston, he might very well announce to the crowd, "School now in session."

Like the men of education, Boston officials, led by Johnny Murphy, head of the farm system, believe the best way to teach fundamentals is to get the student early. Murphy has expressed the opinion that when a big league prospect is instructed wisely in the early stages he will be free of bad habits that could handicap him later.

HOME IS THE SCOUT. That is one of the main reasons Marion will be led by such an old campaigner as Elmer Yoter, who has guided teams in such higher leagues as Scranton and Toronto.

Yoter was one of the chief scouts for Boston before replacing George Susce here last season. And it was Elmer's fine scouting of the weaknesses of opposing teams and his handling of the players that was instrumental in bringing the city it's first league pennant last year.

Detroit and the New York Giants go along with Murphy's theory. Richmond, Tiger farm, will again be managed by the sea-soned Ralph Di Lullo, and Andy Gilbert is back at the helm of the Springfield club. Newark's "Buck" Mick and Lima's Barney Lutz, however, are first-year men and will be playing managers.

ALL-STAR AFFAIR. Last season during the All-Star game played in Newark we sat next to Yoter and received one of the best scouting reports of our experience. When a batsman came up, Elmer would point out his weaknesses, how he should be pitched to and the way infielders and outfielders should shift.

It was a remarkable report for a man who had taken over in the middle of the season. Nor did Elmer limit the commentary to opposing players, he also pointed out the weaknesses of his own crew.

NOW UPSTAIRS. In its seven-year term the Ohio-Indiana League has produced three notable big leaguers. Ned Garver and Owen Friend, former Newark players now with the St. Louis Browns, and Marion's own Frank Smith, now a fireman for the Cincinnati Reds.

Bill Hoeft, who hurled for Richmond last season and now is with the Toledo Mud Hens, is touted for future stardom with the parent Detroit club.

Carrying a $250,000 price tag, Garver is the brightest star of the local league to loom on the horizon.

PROFESSOR. So tonight "class will begin" at Lincoln Park with Professor Yoter and his "students" looking for an "A" on their report cards. The A in this case stands for American League—among the Boston Red Sox.

And if there is one "quiz kid" like Garver among the "student body" it will be successful season for Schoolmaster Yoter and the Marion Baseball Club.

WHITE COLLAR JOB

CLEVELAND, April 24 —(AP)— Jack Ganson, wrestling promoter here for the past nine years, announced today he will move his headquarters to Seattle. From there he will plan mat cards for a number of arenas in the northwest and in British Columbia and Alberta, Can. A former professional "muscle bender" himself Ganson turned to the promotional end of the business in 1935.

Big Crowd Expected To See Opener

Some of Marion's better-known sports followers attended the affair, held at the White cabin west of Marion, and were impressed both by the physical stature of the team as well as their friendliness. Yoter spent the evening accepting the best wishes of fans for a successful year.

Five Club Loop

The Ohio-Indiana League will be the only five-club loop in operation this year. Along with Marion, Newark, Springfield, Richmond, and Lima will again be in operation. Muncie, Zanesville, and Portsmouth dropped out at the end of last season.

Yoter, Andy Gilbert of Springfield, and Ralph DiLullo of Richmond, are returning managers. As a player-manager last season Gilbert led the league in home runs.

Springfield is backed by the New York club in the National League. Detroit owns the Richmond franchise, Lima is a Philadelphia Phils farm club, and the New York Yanks operate the Newark club.

League president is Frank Colley of Columbus. The Ohio-Indiana League was founded in 1944, the only one brought into existence during the war years.

Both new skippers this year will play. They are Malcolm Mick of Newark, first base, and Barney Lutz of Lima, second base. Mick is a past performer with Kansas City in the American Association.

In another scheduled league opener tonight, Lima will play Newark at Arnold Park in Newark. Games scheduled between Newark and Springfield and Lima and Newark were rained out both Sunday and Monday.

MARSOX L TK .....ltk

Manager Yoter has announced the following lineup for tonight's opener:

James Evanik, second base, from North Arlington, N. J., first year.

Carmen Vinci, shortstop, from Brooklyn, N. Y., first year.

Bob Penny, pitcher, from Toledo, third year.

UTILITY PLAYERS

Pete Choukalas, outfielder, from Cleveland, second year.

Dick Tarys, pitcher, from Detroit, Mich., first year.

Bob Marciniec, pitcher, from Auburn, N. Y. first year.

Alex Salerno, pitcher, from Utica, N. Y., second year.

Baker Hyde, pitcher, from Rossville, Ga., first year.

Bob O'Connell, pitcher, from Patterson, N. Y., first year.

Harding, West In Meet Here

Harding High School will play host to Columbus West this afternoon for a track meet at Harding Stadium. The Prexies will be gunning for their fourth dual meet win of the season.

Today's meet will be a warmup for the Fremont Relays Saturday at Fremont Ross. Harding will be defending champions at the Fremont meet.

Brooks Boast Top "Firemen" Hurlers

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Meet King, Palica, Branca and Newcombe. Not a Brooklyn law firm but the Dodgers' answer to Jim Konstanty.

As brilliant as Konstanty was last year when he helped Philadelphia win the pennant as the league's most valuable player, his rescue work never matched the sensational relief pitching of this quartet.

The season is only a week old, but the four already have been credited with three relief victories. Better yet, they have pitched 13 innings all told (excluding Newcombe's rout-going effort against the New York Giants), without surrendering a run. They have yielded only three safeties.

Happy

No wonder Manager Chuck Dressen is chortling with glee as his charges sit comfortably on top of the National League standings with five victories in six starts.

Erv Palica and Clyde King hurled 4 2/3 innings of excellent relief ball yesterday as the Dodgers outlasted Boston's Braves, 2-1, in a 16-inning marathon on a clutch run-scoring single by Carl Furillo, Palica rescued starter Joe Hatten, getting the side out after Hatten had walked the first two batters to face him.

The triumph maintained the Dodgers' half-game lead over the Chicago Cubs, who nipped Pittsburgh, 2-1, on a ninth inning double by Andy Pafko that scored Hal Jeffcoat.

The Phils handed the Giants their fifth successive defeat with an 8-4 victory under the Philadelphia lights to gain their first triumph over Jim Hearn since he came up to the majors in 1947. The righthander had whipped the Phils nine times. Rookie Jocko Thompson held the Giants to six hits.

Vic Raschi pitched the New York Yankees to a 5-4 victory over his Philadelphia "cousins" for his second success of the season—his 17th lifetime win in 19 decisions with the Athletics. Vic Wertz' ninth inning home run with two mates on base gave the Tigers a 7-4 triumph over the St. Louis Browns in the only other American League game. The other clubs were not scheduled.

Shade Reds

In another after-dark clash, the Cardinals shaded the Cincinnati Reds, 2-1, in St. Louis. Veteran Harry Brecheen scattered eight hits to beat Ken Raffensberger, an old Red Bird nemesis. Shortstop Solly Hemus accounted for both St. Louis runs with a single and triple.

Frank Hiller of the Cubs bettered Mel Queen in a pitchers' battle between the pair of ex-Yankee righthanders. Hiller spaced eight hits for his second triumph.

Rookie Mickey Mantle and Little Phil Rizzuto led the Yankees' 13-hit attack on loser Lou Brissie and Hank Wyse. Mantle collected three singles and Rizzuto drove in two runs with a pair of one-baggers.

Held to one homer in five previous games, Detroit clubbed three yesterday to beat the Browns. Besides Wertz' ninth inning game-winner, Joe Ginsberg and Pat Mullin also hit home runs.

Richie Ashburn and Granny Hamner whacked five hits between them.

The nuthatch builds its nest in the decayed trunks of trees, so that its young may eat the insects that flourish in this habitat.

MARION UNIFORMS STILL FIT. Back in a Marion Red Sox uniform again this season are, left to right—Don Borger, Alex Salerno, Pete Choukalas, and Bob Penny. Only Choukalas and Penny finished out the year with the local club. Penny is scheduled to start on the mound for Manager Elmer Yoter's charges tonight against visiting Springfield.

George To Coach Texas A. and M.

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., April 24—(AP)—Ray George, who went out with the gang in the coaching shake-up at Southern California last winter, stepped in today as head man of a ready-made football team—Texas A. and M.

Only mildly mentioned as likely to get the job here, the big ex-line star and ex-line coach of the Trojans last night was appointed to the post vacated by Harry Stiteler.

Stiteler resigned March 19 after informing college officials he had not told the truth about a mysterious beating received in Houston in December.

George was brought here Jan. 27 as line coach of A. and M. and worked with the squad through spring training.

GIRLS' TAG TEAM WRESTLING THURSDAY

JOYCE FORD

Just imagine three girls' matches including a girls' Tag Team Match and a one-hour match between the men. Well that's the wrestling dish Les Fishbaugh has arranged for the fans at the Armory Thursday Night and it should rival any other big program here.

At 8:30 there will be two 30-minute girl matches. Joyce Ford, good looking Gal Rassler from Dallas, Texas will tangle with the Hillbilly, Elvira Snodgress and Dot Dotson, big girl from Birmingham takes on the Amazon of the Mat, Ann Stanley. The winners of the two matches will meet the losers in a 60-minute, 2-out-of-3 fall tag team match.

Roland Meeker who won over Stu Hart last week will try and tame Paul Orth in another 60-minute 2-out-of-3 fall match.

No increase in prices. General $1.00 and Ringside $1.50. Kids 50c (Tax Paid). Be sure of a good ringside by calling Markert and Lewis early.

Weird Base Running Costs Reds Game

ST LOUIS, April 24—(AP)—Cincinnati lost a heartbreaker to St Louis yesterday — a heartbreaker not because the score was 2-1 but because of the bush-league way they lost it.

Here are just two factors:

1. Bob Scheffing singled into a double play.

2. Four men were chopped down in some of the weirdest base running ever seen in major league baseball.

The Scheffing affair came in the fourth inning, when the Reds desperately were trying to improve upon the one-run lead they had given Kenny Raffensoerger. Bob Usher doubled. Joe Adcock singled to right. Ted Kluszewski bounced out and Usher was trapped off third. Then Scheffing stroked a safety to left. Adcock was cut down at the plate by five feet and the Reds' catcher, trying for second, failed to bring one run across.

The base running in general was gosh-awful. Johnny Wyrostek was out at second trying to make a single into a double in the fifth. Adcock had reached first in the crucial ninth on a Del Rice error, but he was erased when legging it to second.

The only run that Cincinnati scored came in the second frame—and that couldn't be helped, for Connie Ryan homered into the leftfield bleachers. If any ordinary base-trotting had been involved, the chances are the Reds wouldn't have gotten that one. But to many sorrowful Cincinnatians — looking disgustedly at the Redlegs' 1-5 record—only one thought was forthcoming from the defeat: perhaps there was too much concentration on the players during spring training and not enough on the baseline coaches

Uncle Miltie Pulled As Derby Candidate

NEW YORK, April 24—(AP)—The vanguard of Kentucky Derby hopefuls winged southward today, but not Uncle Miltie, the unpredictable colt whose name was on everybody's lips two weeks ago.

Joseph J. Colando, the owner, said so definitely late last night, ending 12 hours of confusion over the status of the former derby favorite.

"We've got to rest him and freshen him up a bit," said Colando in announcing Uncle Miltie wouldn't answer the bugle call at Louisville's Churchill Downs May 5.

Prexies Open At Galion

Harding's baseball squad opened its 1951 season this afternoon at Galion. Coach Pete Howison sent Jim Edington to the mound with Dean Ludwig doing the catching.

The Prexies went into the game with just two regular practice sessions under their belts. Howison opened training Saturday after the end of a spring grid grind. The locals will travel to Lima tomorrow.

BOWLING GREEN, O., April 24—With negotiations completed for the opening game with Ohio Wesleyan, the 1951 Bowling Green State University football schedule is complete, athletic director Harold Anderson announced today.

The Falcons will have nine games, four at home and five on the road.

There are no newcomers on the schedule. Six of the opponents were on last year's schedule while Mt. Union, Ohio University and Ohio Wesleyan are returning after short absences. Four games are with strong Mid-American conference clubs.

Road trips will take the Falcons as far west as Peoria, Ill., to face Bradley in the season's finale on Nov. 17. Other road games will be at Miami, Ohio University, Baldwin Wallace and Youngstown. The latter two are the only night games on the slate.

Robert H. Whittaker is the head coach starting his 11th season here.

The schedule: Sept. 22, Ohio Wesleyan; Sept. 29, at Miami; Oct. 6, Mt. Union; Oct. 13, at Ohio University; Oct. 20, at Baldwin Wallace; Oct. 27, Toledo; Nov. 3, Kent State; Nov. 10, at Youngstown; Nov. 17, at Bradley.

Lexington Edges Iberia, 11-10

Special to The Star

IBERIA, April 24—Lexington's baseballers pounded out an 11-10 win over Iberia on the local diamond yesterday. The Presidents plated two runs in the first frame to take a one-run edge but Lexington tallied two in the second. The winners shelled starting pitcher Bud Poulton from the mound in the third.

BROWNS SIGN PACT

CLEVELAND, April 24—(AP)—The Cleveland Browns announced today that Center Hal Herring, Halfback Don Phelps, Center Frank Gatski and Guard Abe Gibron have signed contracts for the 1951 season. Terms were not disclosed.

IN GOOD CONDITION

Shelton Black of 235½ South State street, who was seriously injured while at work at the Marion Power Shovel Co. yesterday, is reported in good condition and resting comfortably today at City Hospital. He suffered a broken collar bone on one side and chipped collar bone on the other, a broken right arm and wrist when he was crushed between a 15-ton section of a dragline he was helping to assemble and an assembled piece of the same machine standing nearby.

5. An eight-inch main on Forest Lawn boulevard 765 feet long to tie in with an existing eight-inch main.

6. A six-inch main 325 feet long in Lark street to run from the end of the existing six-inch main in Lark street to connect with the existing six-inch main in King avenue.

7. A six-inch main in Lincoln avenue north to Gebhardt and Lincoln as directed by the fire chief.

8. A six-inch main in Gebhardt street approximately 1,325 feet long.

Gurley Avenue

9. An eight-inch main in Gurley avenue from State street and connecting with the existing water main in Main street.

10. A eight-inch main from the intersection of Delaware avenue and Walnut street south to and connecting with the main supplying the fire hydrant opposite City Hospital.

Three other pieces of routine legislation were passed unanimously by council last night. The first was an appropriation to pay the court costs of the city's legal squabble with Roy & Co., Columbus jewelry firm, which resulted in overthrowing the city's "Green River" anti-peddler ordinance last summer. These costs totaled $34.32.

Council also voted $12.55 to pay a claim to F. M. Allen of 225 Ellis court to settle damages to his car when brakes on a city truck failed to hold and ran into his car March 14.

Council's final action was to authorize the safety-service director to enter a contract with Sterling Love Hospital, Columbus, to care for indigent city patients who cannot be treated at City Hospital at a daily cost of $14 per day. The city has a similar contract with University Hospital, Columbus, but of late it has been unable to handle Marion patients because of overcrowded conditions. The contract which the director was authorized to sign has already been signed by the county commissioners to handle county indigent cases and authorizes the director to take this action on behalf of the city as a member of the Marion City-County Welfare Board.

"Babe" Winner In Richmond Open

RICHMOND, Calif., April 24—(AP) — Golf's greatest woman player, Mrs. George (Babe Didrikson) Zaharias, had another triumph notched into the record today, winner of the $3,000 Richmond Open tournament.

The Tampa, Fla., professional fronted the rest of the money players, as well as some good amateurs, yesterday with a 224 for the 54-hole event. It was worth $750 and increased her earnings for the current countrywide tournament trail to $3,750. She has won five of the seven played thus far and placed second in the other two.

Mrs. Zaharias turned in rounds of 76-73-75.

Millers Close To A.A. League Lead

By The Associated Press

Milwaukee, buoyed by the home run swatting of Jim Basso, has nudged within ½ game of fast-starting Toledo in the American Association race.

While league-leading Toledo was idle Monday night, Milwaukee throttled Louisville, 4-2, in 12 innings with Basso's two homers accounting for all its runs.

Kansas City continued in third place, only one game off the pace, by squelching Indianapolis, 8-5.

In the only other scheduled game, St. Paul shaded the Red Birds at Columbus, 4-3. Deadlocked 2-2 in the ninth, the Saints welded a pair of runs on two singles, an error at the plate by Columbus Catcher Dick Morgan and a squeeze play.

ORDINANCE NO. 5330

TO PROVIDE FOR THE ISSUANCE OF NOTES IN ANTICIPATION OF THE LEVY OF SPECIAL ASSESSMENTS AND IN ANTICIPATION OF THE ISSUANCE OF BONDS IN ANTICIPATION OF THE COLLECTION OF SPECIAL ASSESSMENTS FOR THE IMPROVEMENT OF HENRY STREET FROM DARIUS STREET TO CONGRESS STREET BY CONSTRUCTING A CONCRETE CURB AND GUTTER.

WHEREAS, the Council of the City of Marion has heretofore, by proper legislation declared the necessity of improving Henry St. from Darius St. to Congress St. by constructing a concrete curb and gutter.

WHEREAS, this Council contemplates the use of $10720.10 for the purpose of paying the portion of the cost of said improvement which is to be paid by assessments.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the Council of the City of Marion.

Section 1. That it is hereby declared necessary to issue the bonds of the City of Marion in the principal sum of $10720.10 for the purpose of raising money in anticipation of the collection of special assessments for the improvement of Henry St. from Darius St. to Congress St. by constructing a concrete curb and gutter.

Section 2. That said bonds shall be of the denomination of:
and shall be dated 1st day of May, 1952, shall bear interest at the rate of 3% per annum payable semi-annually on the first days of May and October of each year until the principal sum is paid and shall mature in ten semi-annual installments after their issuance.

Section 3. That for the purpose of raising money in anticipation of the levy of special assessments and in anticipation of the issuance of bonds in anticipation of the collection of special assessments for the improvement of Henry St. from Darius St. to Congress St. by constructing a concrete curb and gutter.

The appropriation hereinabove made for said paving improvement is subject to the qualification that interest at the rate of 3% per annum for the period prior to the collection of the first installment so to be levied shall be included in said amount and the amount necessary to pay said interest is hereby appropriated for the payment thereof and for no other purpose.

Section 4. That such anticipatory note in the amount aforesaid shall be issued bearing interest at the rate of 3% per annum payable semi-annually. Such notes shall be dated the 1st day of May, 1951 and shall mature on or before the 30th day of April, 1952. Such notes shall be executed and delivered in such number and such denominations as may be requested by the purchase of such notes.

Section 5. Such notes shall be executed by the Mayor and City Auditor and bear the seal of the Corporation. They shall be payable at the office of the City Treasurer, Marion, Ohio; that shall express upon their face the purpose for which they are issued and that they are issued pursuant to this ordinance.

Section 6. All assessments collected for the improvements aforesaid and unexpended balances remaining in the funds after the costs and expenses of said improvements have been paid, shall be applied to the payment of said notes and the interest thereon until both are fully provided for.

Section 7. Said notes shall be first offered to the sinking fund trustees of the city and so many of the same as shall not be taken by said trustees shall be sold at private sale by the city auditor but for not less than par and accrued interest, and the proceeds from such sale, except any premium and accrued interest thereon and the amount thereof necessary for the payment of interest prior to the maturity of said notes, shall be paid into the proper fund and used for the purpose aforesaid and for no other purpose. Any premium and accrued interest and the amount necessary for the payment of interest prior to their maturity shall be transferred to the sinking fund to be applied in the payment of principal and interest of said notes in the manner provided by law.

Section 8. Said notes shall be the full general obligations of the City and the full faith, credit and revenue of said city are hereby pledged for the prompt payment of the same. The par value to be received from the sale of the bonds anticipated by said notes shall, to the extent necessary, be used only for the retirement of said notes at maturity, together with interest thereon and is hereby pledged for such purpose.

Section 9. In the event that such assessments are not levied or bonds are not issued to provide a fund for the payment of said notes at maturity a general tax shall be levied against all of the property in said city for the payment of such notes and the interest thereon.

Section 10. The City Auditor is hereby directed to forward a certified copy of this Ordinance to the County Auditor.

Section 11. That this Ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

ORDINANCE NO. 5332

TO PROVIDE FOR THE ISSUANCE OF NOTES IN ANTICIPATION OF THE LEVY OF SPECIAL ASSESSMENTS AND IN ANTICIPATION OF THE ISSUANCE OF BONDS IN ANTICIPATION OF THE COLLECTION OF SPECIAL ASSESSMENTS FOR THE IMPROVEMENT OF JOHNSON ST. BY CONSTRUCTING A BITUMINOUS PAVEMENT AT LEAST TWO INCHES IN THICKNESS ON TOP OF THE EXISTING MACADAM BASE FROM WILSON AVE. TO THE NORTH SIDE OF LOTS NOS. 1790 AND 1739.

WHEREAS, the council of the City of Marion has heretofore, by proper legislation declared the necessity of improving Johnson St. by constructing a bituminous pavement at least two inches in thickness on top of the existing Macadam base from Wilson Ave. to the north side of lots Nos. 1790 and 1739.

WHEREAS, this council contemplates the use of $5555.88 for the purpose of paying the portion of the cost of said improvement which is to be paid by assessments.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the Council of the City of Marion.

Section 1. That it is hereby declared necessary to issue the bonds of the City of Marion in the principal sum of $5555.88 for the purpose of raising money in anticipation of the collection of special assessments for the improvement of Johnson St. by constructing a bituminous pavement at least two inches in thickness on top of the existing macadam base from Wilson Ave. to the north side of lots Nos. 1790-1739.

Such notes shall be executed and delivered in such number and such denominations as may be requested by the purchase of such notes.

Section 5. Such notes shall be executed by the Mayor and City Auditor and bear the seal of the corp. They shall be payable at the office of the City Treasurer, Marion, Ohio; that shall express upon their face the purpose for which they are issued and that they are issued pursuant to this ordinance.

Section 6. All assessments collected for the improvement aforesaid and unexpended balances remaining in the funds after the costs and expenses of said improvements have been paid, shall be applied to the payment of said notes and the interest thereon until both are fully provided for.

Section 7. Said notes shall be first offered to the sinking fund trustees of the City and so many of the same as shall not be taken by said trustees shall be sold at private sale by the city auditor, but for not less than par and accrued interest and the proceeds from such sale, except any premium and accrued interest thereon and the amount thereof necessary for the payment of interest prior to the maturity of said notes, shall be paid into the proper fund and used for the purpose aforesaid and for no other purpose. Any premium and accrued interest and the amount necessary for the payment of interest prior to their maturity shall be transferred to the sinking fund to be applied in the payment of principal and interest of said notes in the manner provided by law.

Section 8. Said notes shall be the full general obligations of the City and the full faith, credit and revenue of said city are hereby pledged for the prompt payment of the same. The par value to be received from the sale of the bonds anticipated by said notes shall, to the extent necessary be used only for the retirement of said notes at maturity, together with interest thereon and is hereby pledged for such purpose.

Section 9. In the event that such assessments are not levied or bonds are not issued to provide a fund for the payment of said notes at maturity, a general tax shall be levied against all of the property in said city for the payment of such notes and the interest thereon.

Section 10. The City Auditor is hereby directed to forward a certified copy of this ordinance to the County Auditor.

Section 11. That this ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

ORDINANCE NO. 5329

TO PROVIDE FOR THE ISSUANCE OF NOTES IN ANTICIPATION OF THE LEVY OF SPECIAL ASSESSMENTS AND IN ANTICIPATION OF THE ISSUANCE OF BONDS IN ANTICIPATION OF THE COLLECTION OF SPECIAL ASSESSMENTS FOR THE IMPROVEMENT OF CLOVER AVE. FROM CHURCH ST. TO INDIANA AVE. BY CONSTRUCTING A CONCRETE CURB AND GUTTER ON BOTH SIDES THEREOF.

WHEREAS, the council of the City of Marion has heretofore, by proper legislation declared the necessity of improving Clover St. from Church St. to Indiana Ave. by constructing a concrete curb and gutter on both sides thereof.

WHEREAS, this council contemplates the use of $5239.84 for the purpose of paying the portion of the cost of said improvement which is to be paid by assessments.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the Council of the City of Marion:

Section 1. That it is hereby declared necessary to issue the bonds of the City of Marion in the principal sum of $5239.84 for the purpose of raising money in anticipation of the collection of special assessments for the improvement of Clover St. from Church St. to Indiana Ave. by constructing a concrete curb and gutter on both sides thereof.

Section 2. That said bonds shall be of the denomination of:
and shall be dated 1st day of May, 1952, shall bear interest at the rate of 3% per annum payable semi-annually on the first days of May and October of each year until the principal sum is paid, and shall mature in ten semi-annually installments after their issuance.

Section 3. That for the purpose of raising money in anticipation of the levy of special assessments and in anticipation of the issuance of bonds in anticipation of the collection of special assessments for the improvement of Clover Ave. from Church St. to Indiana Ave. by constructing a concrete curb and gutter on both sides thereof.

The appropriation hereinabove made for said paving improvement is subject to the qualification that interest at the rate of 3% per annum for the period prior to the collection of the first installment so to be levied shall be included in said amount, and the amount necessary to pay said interest is hereby appropriated for the payment thereof and for no other purpose.

Section 4. That such anticipatory note in the amount aforesaid shall be issued bearing interest at the rate of 3% per annum payable semi-annually, such notes shall be dated the 1st day of May, 1951, and shall mature on or before the 30th day of April, 1952. Such notes shall be executed and delivered in such numbers and such denominations as may be requested by the purchase of such notes.

Section 5. Such notes shall be executed by the Mayor and City Auditor and bear the seal of the corporation. They shall be payable at the office of the City Treasurer, Marion, Ohio, that shall express upon their face the purpose for which they are issued and that they are issued pursuant to this ordinance.

Section 6. All assessments collected for the improvements aforesaid and unexpended balances remaining in the funds after the costs and expenses of said improvements have been paid, shall be applied to the payment of said notes and the interest thereon until both are fully provided for.

Section 7. Said notes shall be first offered to the sinking fund trustees of the City and as many of the same as shall not be taken by said trustees shall be sold at private sale by the city auditor, but for not less than par and accrued interest and the proceeds from such sale, except any premium and accrued interest thereon and the amount thereof necessary for the payment of interest prior to the maturity of said notes shall be paid into the proper fund and used for the purpose aforesaid and for no other purpose. Any premium and accrued interest and the amount necessary for the payment of interest prior to their maturity shall be transferred to the sinking fund to be applied in the payment of principal and interest of said notes in the manner provided by law.

Section 8. Said notes shall be the full general obligations of the City and the full faith, credit and revenue of said city are hereby pledged for the prompt payment of the same. The par value to be received from the sale of the bonds anticipated by said notes shall, to the extent necessary, be used only for the retirement of said notes at maturity together with interest thereon, and is hereby pledged for such purpose.

Section 9. In the event that such assessments are not levied or bonds are not issued to provide a fund for the payment of said notes at maturity a general tax shall be levied against all of the property in said City for the payment of such notes and the interest thereon.

Section 10. The City Auditor is hereby directed to forward a certified copy of this ordinance to the County Auditor.

Section 11. That this ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

ORDINANCE NO. 5331

TO PROVIDE FOR THE ISSUANCE OF NOTES IN ANTICIPATION OF THE LEVY OF SPECIAL ASSESSMENTS AND IN ANTICIPATION OF THE ISSUANCE OF BONDS IN ANTICIPATION OF THE COLLECTION OF SPECIAL ASSESSMENTS FOR THE IMPROVEMENT OF LONDON ST. AND A NORTH AND SOUTH ALLEY BETWEEN PROSPECT ST. AND OAK ST. FROM LONDON ST. SOUTH TO THE FIRST EAST AND WEST ALLEY BY PAVING THE ROADWAYS WITH A SUBSTANTIAL PAVING MATERIAL.

WHEREAS, the Council of the city of Marion has heretofore, by proper legislation declared the necessity of improving London St. and a north and south alley between Prospect St. and Oak St. from London St. south to the first east and west alley by paving the roadways with a substantial paving material.

WHEREAS, this council contemplates the use of $5228.00 for the purpose of paying the portion of the cost of said improvement which is to be paid by assessments.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the Council of the City of Marion.

Section 1. That it is hereby declared necessary to issue the bonds of the City of Marion in the principal sum of $5228 for the purpose of raising money in anticipation of the collection of special assessments for the improvement of London St. and a north and south alley between Prospect St. and Oak St. from London St. south to the first east and west alley by paving the roadways with a substantial paving material.

Section 2. That said bonds shall be of the denomination of:
4 at $1000.00
and shall be dated 1st day of May, 1952, shall bear interest at the rate of 3 per cent per annum payable semi-annually on the first days of May and October of each year until the principal sum is paid, and shall mature in ten semi-annual installments after their issuance.

Section 3. That for the purpose of raising money in anticipation of the levy of special assessments and in anticipation of the issuance of bonds in anticipation of the collection of special assessments for the improvement of London St. and a north and south alley between Prospect St. and Oak St. from London St. south to the first east and west alley by paving the roadways with a substantial paving material, it is hereby declared necessary to issue and there shall be issued notes of said city in the amount of $5228 which shall be placed to the credit of the Special Improvement Fund.

The appropriation hereinabove made for said paving improvement is subject to the qualification that interest at the rate of 3 percent per annum for the period prior to the collection of the first installment so to be levied shall be included in said amount and the amount necessary to pay said interest is hereby appropriated for the payment thereof and for no other purpose.

Section 4. That such anticipatory note in the amount aforesaid shall be issued bearing interest at the rate of 3 percent per annum payable semi-annually. Such notes shall be dated the 1st day of May, 1951 and shall mature on or before the 30th day of April 1952. Such notes shall be executed and delivered in such number and such denominations as may be requested by the purchase of such notes.

Section 5. Such notes shall be executed by the Mayor and City Auditor and bear the seal of the corporation. They shall be payable at the office of the City Treasurer, Marion, Ohio that shall express upon their face the purpose for which they are issued and that they are issued pursuant to this ordinance.

Section 6. All assessments collected for the improvements aforesaid and unexpended balances remaining in the funds after the costs and expenses of said improvements have been paid, shall be applied to the payment of said notes and the interest thereon until both are fully provided for.

Section 7. Said notes shall be first offered to the sinking fund trustees of the city and so many of the same as shall not be taken by said trustees shall be sold at private sale by the city auditor, but for not less than par and accrued interest and the proceeds from such sale except any premium and accrued interest thereon and the amount thereof necessary for the payment of interest prior to the maturity of said notes shall be paid into the proper fund and used for the purpose aforesaid and for no other purpose. Any premium and accrued interest and the amount necessary for the payment of interest prior to their maturity shall be transferred to the sinking fund to be applied in the payment of principal and interest of said notes in the manner provided by law.

Section 8. Said notes shall be the full general obligations of the City and the full faith, credit and revenue of said City are hereby pledged for the prompt payment of the same. The par value to be received from the sale of the bonds anticipated by said notes shall, to the extent necessary, be used only for the retirement of said notes at maturity, together with interest thereon and is hereby pledged for such purpose.

Section 9. In the event that such assessments are not levied or bonds are not issued to provide a fund for the payment of said notes at maturity a general tax shall be levied against all of the property in said city for the payment of such notes and the interest thereon.

Section 10. The City Auditor is hereby directed to forward a certified copy of this Ordinance to the County Auditor.

Section 11. That this Ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Complete Sellout
AUCTION
Friday, April 27
1:00 P. M.
524 N. Main St.

As we have sold our home and purchased a completely furnished house trailer, we will sell at Auction one of the most interesting lists of furnishings and odd items offered for many years. Everything listed below will sell regardless of price and not as will be sold before sale time.

Horton portable ironer; apartment gas range; Servel Electrolux refrigerator, all white, washer almost new; white cabinet base; Gray-bar desk model rotary sewing machine (this is my wife's own personal machine—we think it's the best made); Voss washer; gas 30-gallon hot water heater, oil range, gas plate; range, small record player, with radio, portable record player, rugs of all sizes including some Navajo; two electric motors; lamps; fine lot of long drapes and some curtains; baby bed, complete with new innerspring; baby bassinette, never used; two double utility cabinets; tank type cleaner; portable washer; blankets; linens.

Two ultra-modern plastic covered teen-age head boards, one new, one with fine new box spring and mattress.

Mahogany bed said to be a sleigh bed with matching dresser, made by Berkey and Gay about 65 years ago. Did you ever see a sleigh bed? Walnut (solid) bedroom suite with marble tops including commode, extra bedroom furniture such as single bed and spring, dresser, two-piece cupboard, mahogany bookcase with inlay (fine and old), rockers, base rocker, love seat and tete-a-tete, mahogany desk and chair, mirrors; inverted bell bed outfit.

Fine lawn mower, lawn roller, yard and garden tools of all kinds; odd lot of glass — some frosted spray; set paper hanger tools.

32 pistol, boxes; book sink, walnut table, set silverware, Sunbeam electric shaver, new.

Extra Special! History of Marion County, in good condition—hard to find.

One lot of [illegible] dishes including [illegible] salt and pepper shakers [illegible] candlesticks [illegible] wood heater and wood cook stove for use [illegible]

Large rubber life [illegible] rubber [illegible] paddlers, [illegible]

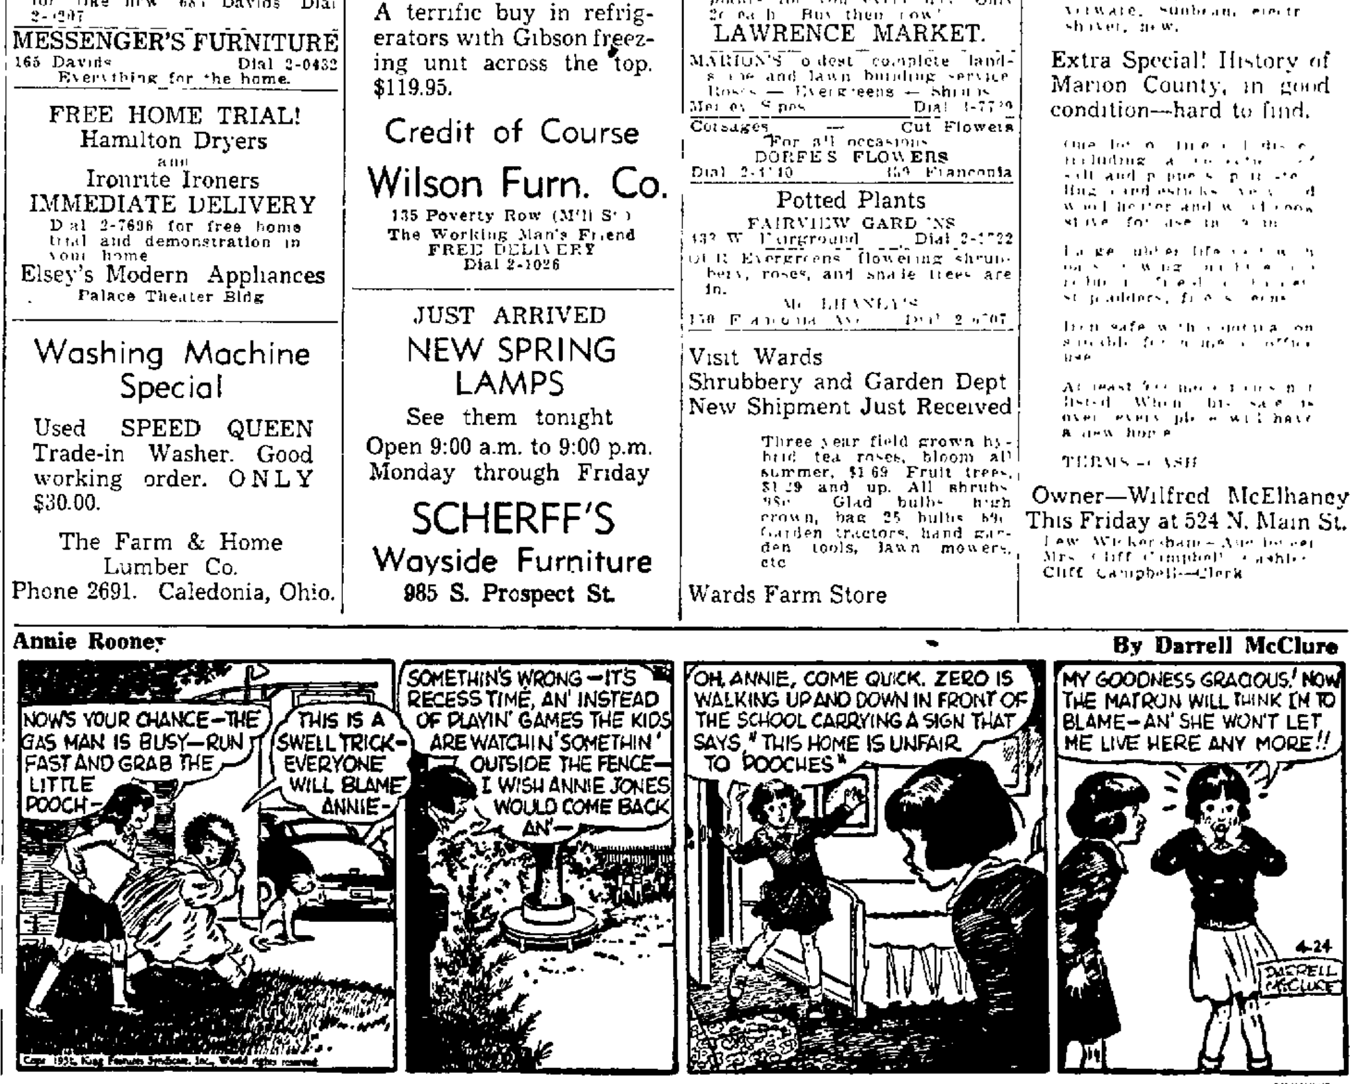

Iron safe with combination suitable for home or office use.

At least [illegible] items not listed. When this sale is over every piece will have a new home.

Loeb's Store Bought By Wm. Coffae

New Owner, Former Kline's Manager, Plans Expansion

William Coffae, manager of Kline's Department Store for the eight years, today announced has resigned that post and has closed the Loeb's Furniture re business at 141 South Main eet

The store, which was founded the late Albert Loeb 19 years ago, was purchased from Mrs. Nanette Loeb, who has operated since her husband's death.

Mr Coffae plans to expand the re's operations to include a line general home furnishings including curtains and draperies. In e past operations have centered exclusively on the furniture field. e store employs five persons.

Mr Coffae, a native of Philadelphia, has been active in the retail field for the past 19 years For 11 years he was employed by the W T Grant Co., leaving that firm to become Marion manager for Kline's Department Store

The Loeb store will operate under the same name as in the past but it will be completely redecorated and a grand opening will be held under the new management late this spring, Mr. Coffae said.

The store occupies the main floor second floor and basement at 141 South Main street The building is owned by S G Kleinmaier

Named Manager Of Kline's Store

Nathan Trivax of Detroit yesterday became manager of Kline's Department Store at 190 West Center street He succeeds William Coffae who resigned to go into business for himself.

Although only 30 years old, he has been in retail merchandising since he was 15 and for the past two years was manager of Kline's store in Monroe, Mich. Prior to that he was employed by Sams, Inc., of Detroit.

A veteran of three and a half years service in the U. S Air Force, most of it with the Ninth Air Force in Europe, he is married and the father of two children. His family is living in Detroit until he can locate housing here.

Marion Women Attend Kenton W.S.C.S. Meeting

Marion and Marion County Methodist women were among more than 500 at Kenton Friday attending a Lima District meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service. Officers were elected, and at noon, the Ministers Wives Association honored Mrs John M Veirsteeg, wife of the district superintendent, and presented her a gift The meeting was held at First Methodist Church of which Rev Roger J Turrell is pastor, and the noon event was at the Turrell home. Special guest speakers were heard

Mrs Frank McCall of Mt Victory is president, and Mrs. O. W Cole and Mrs Harley Shick, both of Kenton, recording secretary and treasurer, respectively group of officers held over from last year.

Mrs Turrell was re-elected vice president.

CHURCH CIRCLE MEETS

At a meeting at First Evangelical and Reformed Women's Missionary Circle Wednesday night, short reports were given by delegates to the spring regional meeting at Lima Mrs. Gladys Stauffer was hostess in her home on Windsor street, and Mrs. Lois Augenstein was assistant Prayer was by Mrs Agnes Wohlschlag who later presented chapters from the study book. Mrs. Leona Houser led devotions. The topic was "Our Church on a Highway for God." Prayer and a solo were by Mrs Houser, "Messenger" highlights were by Miss Dora Jacobs, and prayer calendar was in charge of Mrs Grace Hoffman.

Ham, Egg Cutlets Make Tasty Leftovers

HOW TO WIN over the family and use leftovers, too, can be learned in one easy lesson, one like this new way to make good use of the last of the ham and still have a flavorful dish

And since springtime brings an abundance of inexpensive eggs, it's a lesson in economy, too. A crisp crunchy crush of cracker meal gives the ever-popular combination its added glamor.

HAM 'N EGG CUTLETS

½ cup butter or margarine
5 T flour
1 cup milk
1 T grated onion
1 T chopped parsley
9 crackers, crumbled (½ cup crumbs)
2 eggs, slightly beaten
¾ t salt few grains pepper
1 cup finely chopped ham
4 hard-cooked eggs, finely chopped
cracker meal

Melt butter or margarine; add flour and blend until smooth. Gradually add milk, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Add onion, parsley, salt, pepper, ham, eggs, and cracker crumbs. Pat in 9-inch pie plate; cool. Cut in wedges Roll cutlets in cracker meal, then in beaten egg, and again cracker meal. Fry in shallow fat (300° F) five minutes or until golden brown on both sides. Serves four to six.

ELECT GROUP HEAD

UPPER SANDUSKY—Wyandot County beef cattle feeders meeting recently at the Agriculture Extension Office here, organized a County Association and elected Glenn Keiffer of near Nevada chairman. D. E. Heckathorn of Marseilles was elected a delegate to represent the county on the State Feeder Cattle Association board of directors and Gerald Gottfried of Nevada was named as first alternate.

Women Voters Study "Streets, Transportation, Utilities"

"Streets, Transportation and Public Utilities" was the topic discussed by the League of Women Voters, currently engaged in a study of town government, at unit meetings held at the Y M.C.A. two days of last week.

Paving, maintenance, cleaning and lighting of streets, as well as the control of traffic on them, is a responsibility of the city safety service director, members learned The director, Ralph Forrest is assisted by City Engineer Tom Cathers and his staff

Maintenance of streets is financed largely through state gasoline taxes and motor vehicle license fees, the state allocating some of these funds proportionately to governmental subdivisions within it.

New street building is financed by assessment of property owners benefitted, the city paying two percent of the cost and the cost of intersections.

Big Problem

Traffic control, one of the big problems of safety service directors and police departments, has been given increasingly more attention in Marion. A recently organized traffic commission is now studying the possibility of routing through traffic around the city, rather than through it, to relieve congestion.

Changes in the time sequence of traffic lights in the downtown area and banning of right hand turns during rush hours has resulted in some congestion relief. Parking remains a perplexing problem, the city operating but one parking lot, although there are other private lots. Consideration has been given the possibility of charging for parking on the city lot, or leasing it to a private company, to obtain added revenue. Parking meters in the downtown area provide revenue for the general fund, members learned.

Utilities

Public transportation facilities, as other utilities serving the city, are privately owned. The Marion Rapid Transit Co, Inc, is granted a franchise by the city, and its rates, routes, schedules, etc are subject to approval by City Council.

Other utilities are: electricity The Ohio Edison Co.; water, The Marion Water Co, a subsidiary of American Water Works Service Co,, Inc, of Philadelphia; fuel gas, The Ohio Fuel Gas Co; and telephone, The Ohio Associated Telephone Co. The city effects a measure of control over all through the granting of franchises. The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio is the final authority in rate matters. Ohio Edison and the Water Company negotiate with the city over rates, and if agreement cannot be reached, the PUCO establishes the rates, which are binding on all.

Plan Bucyrus Housing Project

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, April 24 — Two Bucyrus stone masons Frank Teynor and Robert Daine, announced here today that they plan the construction of 48 cement block houses on this city's north side during the next two years.

Construction of the first house, which will be used for "show" purposes, will be started immediately and completion is expected within 30 days.

The homes, known as "Ranchetts," will have a living room, two bedrooms, kitchen and bath They will measure 22 by 40 feet and have an attached carport. In their request for a building permit, the contractors set the estimated cost of one of the houses at $5,000.

CHURCH CLASS MEETS

When the Lulu Beery Class of Greenwood E. U. B. Church met recently, Mrs. R. A. Chappe, gave a reading honoring the memory of Mrs Rachel Cocherl, a charter member who died early this month Members voted to send money to the fund for purchasing fruit juices for servicemen in Korea. Mrs William Armbruster was hostess for the meeting in her home on Bellevue avenue. Scripture was read by Mrs. C. A. Thomas A report was given of 66 calls made. Readings were by Mrs Asa Brown and Mrs. Elizabeth Houser. Contest honors went to Mrs. Clarence Gorenflo. Mrs. R L. Sutherland offered closing prayer.

Capt. Coon To Become Chief May 1

Police Captain Thomas B Coon will officially take over the post of chief of police May 1, Mayor Harold F. Robinson announced today.

Mayor Robinson said the appointment was delayed to allow Capt Coon to become acquainted with the duties of the new post and the equipment at the police station are so that differences in pay could start at the beginning of the month

The mayor had announced Friday, when it was determined Coon was high man in the civil service examination for chief, that the appointment would be made immediately

Captain Clyde Hardin, appointed by Mayor Robinson as acting head of the department on Feb. 1, on the retirement of former Chief W. E Marks, continues in that position

Red-Brown Panel Finish Helps To Liven Room

A red-brown finish for pine paneling will liven up a colorless, cheerless room

Sponge the wood with clean, clear water, allow to dry and sand the raised grain with fine sandpaper or steel wool. Stain the wood with chloride of iron in water Sand when dry Shadow glaze with burnt sienna. Follow with pure white shellac and then wax

The Western Pine Association in recommending this finish says it's time for overly-large or high ceiling rooms, or areas where the sun doesn't often reach.

VOL. LXXIV, NO. 123 MARION, OHIO, APRIL 24, 1951 PAGE 21

Home Building Boom Seen by Marion Contractors, Realtors

BARRING SOME NATIONAL emergency such as total war, home building in Marion will enjoy its greatest boom in history in 1951.

That's the outlook as seen by Marion's home building contractors and real estate men.

Two Marion contracting firms are prepared to build a total of 112 homes between them this year if the market demand for them is strong enough. They have materials available for that much building and the Marion Real Estate Board says the sky is the limit on local demand for new homes, as every home built can be sold.

James C. Neff, owner of Bon-Neff Homes, announced his company will have built a dozen houses by mid-summer in a new sub-division off Harding Highway East, just east of the Marion city limits. These will all be built on straight speculation for sale and they will be in the $10,000 to $12,000 price class, finished complete and ready to move into with the lot included in the price.

E. L. DAVIS, president of the Marion Contracting Corp., said his firm plans to further develop the new Blaine avenue subdivision begun last year and is prepared to build 100 houses this year if the local market will supply a demand for that many houses.

The major portion of these will probably be in the under $10,000 class he said because the new federal "Regulation X" makes down payments required to finance homes above $10,000 quite high. This is resulting in a strong demand for homes in the $7,000 to $8,000 class. Available mortgage money to finance low-cost home purchases has become uncertain in the past three weeks because of this new regulation, he continued.

THE MARION CHAMBER of Commerce Housing Committee under the chairmanship of Cleo Ludwig is working to have Marion declared a defense area. If the committees efforts are successful and Marion is declared a defense area, this will greatly help the sale of small homes and stimulate the building of them because the government will require smaller cash down payments for FHA financing, Mr. Davis said.

Joe E. Davis, president of the Marion Real Estate Board, which includes in its membership 32 local real estate brokers and 15 real estate salesmen who are associate members, said the members of his organization find Marion is suffering from the greatest housing shortage in the 121-year history of the city.

RIGHT NOW the city needs 50 new conventional home for sale and for rent, he said. Thirty of these will be needed to house Ohio Associated Telephone Co employes and their families moving to Marion with the transfer of one of the company's departments here. Twenty more will be needed to house key personnel of the new B. F. Goodrich Co. plant and their families who will be moving here as the new plant near Green Camp nears completion.

Although last year Marion builders and realtors added more than 100 new housing units to the city through the construction of new homes and rental apartments and the conversion of existing homes to apartment use, present indications are that an even greater number of family units will have to be provided this year to fill Marion's growing demand, Mr. Davis said.

LISTINGS OF homes and apartments for rent and for sale are at the lowest level they have been since World War II and are lessening daily as the available supply of houses and apartments diminishes. Rental properties, either houses or apartments, are in heavy demand in any price range and are in critically short supply. There is a heavy demand for new houses in the $5,000 to $10,000 price class and older homes in good repair in this price range are being snapped up by eager purchasers, he continued.

The Marion Real Estate Board's multiple listing system, now in effect two years, under which any property listed for sale or rent with any of the 32 member realtors is available for sale through any of the other members, has helped available housing units find ready purchasers in the least possible time with the greatest satisfaction for both the buyer and the seller, Mr. Davis said.

MUCH OF THE brightness of Marion's 1951 building prospects is based on plentiful supplies of building items local building suppliers and contractors have in stock and on hand for immediate use as needed for building here.

Paul Hunt, secretary-treasurer of the Millard Hunt Co., said today that so far his firm has had no difficulty in getting supplies but he regards this condition as temporary.

"Steel is bound to be short," he said. Aluminum is tight now and will be from here on and will probably get worse. So far there has been no shortage of chimney dampers and similar specialty items. Brick supplies are tight but his firm has placed orders for both brick and sewer pipe supplies which will carry them through the summer, he said. Cement is not in short supply now but the chances are it will be before the summer is over. This is dependent, he said, on how much government building and government housing is done this year.

THESE AND many other supplies may be short if defense orders are placed by the government in large quantities. So far plaster supplies are good, steel lathe is plentiful here, rib lathe will be tight because of its widespread use in commercial buildings and supplies of asphalt products of all kinds are tightening up, although so far no difficulty has been experienced here in getting what is needed. Concrete block are available in a wide variety of sizes and promise to continue to be, depending on government requirements. The situation in cement is much better than at the start of World War II because suppliers have been storing more cement during the past winter for future sale than in any winter before, Mr. Hunt said.

Another building supply company executive, C. L. Baldauf of Baldauf and Schlentz Inc., said that while his firm is experiencing no supply problem at present, it accepts the fact

Modernization Of Home Hikes Property Value

Numerous Advantages Found in Remodeling Well-Built Old House

Modernization of a home is generally recognized as one of the soundest investments a family can make.

By improving on the comfort and livability of a house, the average modernization project enhances the value of the property beyond the actual cost of the work involved. At the same time, remodeling in most cases requires less financing and fewer materials likely to be in short supply than construction of a new house in the same neighborhood would require.

The field for modernization is constantly growing as more houses become older and in need of rejuvenation. There are more than 23,000,000 homes over 30 years old in the United States and Canada. In recent years $1 out of every $6 advanced in home loans has been earmarked for repair, alteration or other improvement. The average modernization loan for single-family dwellings has been ranging around $353 with a maturity in 36 ½ months.

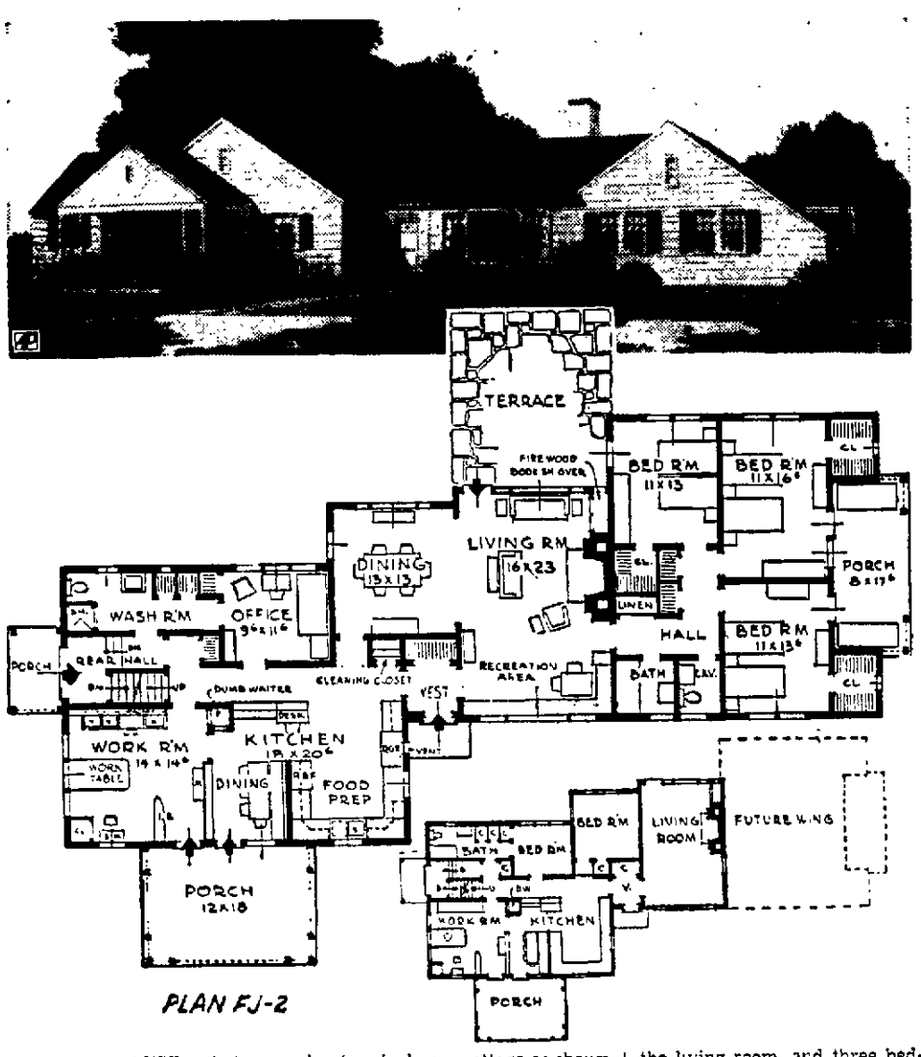

Usually Are Solidly Built

There are many advantages in older houses. Usually they are solidly built on good foundations and have more rooms than could be afforded in new construction by the average buyer. They are mostly in built-up residential areas, where landscaping is matured and environment is established. They lend themselves to modernization.

Very often a double door or colonade between living and dining rooms can be removed to create the open plan of modern L or T layouts. If there is a bearing partition it may be replaced with a hanging boxed beam entirely in keeping with modern ideas. Or if there is an old-fashioned parlor it may be merged with the "sitting" room to produce the spa-

Prize House That Can Start Small

PLAN FJ-2

A FARM HOUSE that can grow from a small cottage, this Plan FJ-2 by Chapman and Evans, was selected as a prize winner by Graham Patterson, publisher of the Farm Journal, Washington Sq., Philadelphia 5, Pa., because it best met housing specifications submitted by more than 7,000 farm families.

The completed house is 87 feet, 8 inches wide, exclusive of porches. The kitchen wing is 26 feet, 10 inches deep and the bedroom wing is 31 feet, 4 inches deep.

The house can be started as a two-bedroom cottage as shown in the small plan. In enlarging it, the kitchen and workroom remain the same, the bath becomes a washroom, the smallest bedroom is changed into a farm office, the larger bedroom is made a dining room by removing the partition between it and the living room, and three bedrooms with a divided bath and lavatory are added in the new wing.

A basement under the original part of the house includes a large recreation room with fireplace, an indoor drying area and large food storage rooms.

House Project Should Provide For Insurance

Choice of Many Broad Coverages Available To New Home Owner

The right kind of insurance is one of the most important requirements in a new house project.

If you are having your house built, you will want protection even before the structure begins to take shape. If you are not certain about the financial status and past experience of your builder or contractor, you can require him to post a performance bond. This will assure you that an insurance company will supply funds to complete your home if the builder goes bankrupt and cannot finish the job.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters points out that there are several broad coverages to protect the new home owner. For example, "building-in-course-of-construction" insurance covers fire, supplemental perils, liability and vandalism.

Remember Reproduction Costs

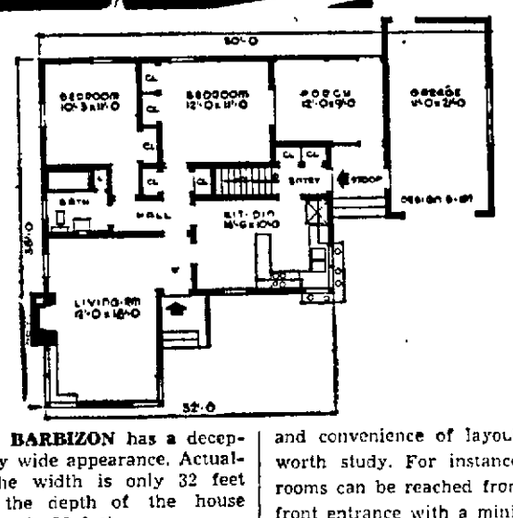

The average small house buyer, carrying a maximum mortgage, seldom needs additional fire insurance on his house aside from $8,000 required by his bank or other mortgage lender. If you borrow $8,000 to finance the purchase of a $10,000 house, the mortgagee will require an $8,000 fire insurance policy to protect his loan. Your $2,000 equity will be covered by the land and foundation. But keep reproduction costs in mind.

This policy need not be purchased as part of the mortgage transaction. If it is bought separately, the home owner saves a little money by not having to pay

(Turn ot INSURANCE, Page 35)

Ideal Air Circulation Assured

THE BARBIZON has a deceptively wide appearance. Actually the width is only 32 feet and the depth of the house proper is 26 feet.

Circulation between rooms and convenience of layout are worth study. For instance, all rooms can be reached from the front entrance with a minimum of hall. A screened porch opens to front and rear yards. It can be used as a sleeping porch connected to the bedrooms with French doors.

Both the kitchen-dinette combination and the living room face the front, while the bedrooms face the garden. All are corner rooms. Low bookcases flank the fireplace under the corner windows. Kitchen cabinets line two walls with a snack bar separating kitchen and dinette.

Storage space is amply provided for by wardrobes in the bedrooms, coat and linen closets in the hall, towel cabinet and entry closets.

Plans call for an exterior finish of siding and asphalt shingles. Floor area is 932 square feet. Cubage is 17,971 cubic feet.

Don't Forget Fire-Safety In Home Plans

FIRES, large and small, will damage more than 400,000 homes throughout North America this year—and next year, and any other year, according to averages.

Whether you have a small, easily controlled fire in your home, or a raging inferno, will depend to a large extent on the construction of your house.

If you own or are building a frame house, make sure that it is adequately fire-stopped. Fire stops are blocks of wood, brick or gypsum board placed between the studs of walls and partitions at each floor level and at the eaves level. These blocks retard the upward passage of fire between the studs in hollow walls.

Fire stopping can also be achieved by blowing noncombustible insulation such as the various mineral wools, between the studs of existing houses.

An Important Area

A fire-resistant roof also is important. Various roofing materials approved by the Underwriters' Laboratories, are on the market and some of them can be applied on top of existing wood shingle roofs.

The chief purpose of a fire-resistant roof is to prevent flying sparks or brands from a chimney or nearby fire from lodging in shingles and starting a fire.

Be sure your heating system is in good condition. Examine the chimney for cracks. Repair or replace any rusty or broken smokepipes. See that the furnace is cleaned and kept in good repair. If you have automatic heat, have the burner and safety controls checked by a competent service man.

Plan For Future

In planning a new house, be sure to insist that your electrical contractor give ample attention to future electrical needs and install plenty of outlets. If you are buying an existing house, notice whether any lights go dim when the refrigerator motor stars up. That is a sign of inadequate wiring. Have an electrical contractor correct such a condition as soon as possible.

Many home fires start in the basement. This makes it impor-

Heat Controls Can Cut Cost Of Comfort

Automatic Operation Gains Popularity In Modern Trend

Automatic heat controls have taken on new importance through the popularity of rambling one-story houses.

Modern architectural trends combined with refinements in heating and ventilating make greater heating efficiency mandatory in order to keep operating costs within economical bounds.

Although heat losses have been cut by improvements in ceiling and wall insulation, by permanent weatherstripping and by the use of vacuum-sealed double glazing for windows, the need for expertly engineered heating installations has been heightened by other factors.

The so-called ranch house today involves much more outer wall space, more floor space and larger expanses of roof and window space than the conventional compact two-story dwelling. Heating lines are longer. Warm-air ducts, hot water or steam pipes must travel farther to reach rooms in remote wings.

To keep all rooms heated uniformly, or for individual comfort requirements, calls for careful placing of thermostats.

Definition Of Thermostat

Technically, a thermostat is any device activated by temperature changes and used to control dampers or fuel consumption, to trip fire alarms, fire doors or automatic sprinklers. But popularly it refers principally to heat control instruments.

Bargain thermostats are like cheap watches—not always accurate or dependable. Since the instrument spends your fuel dollars for you, it pays to get the best possible. Quality thermostats range from around $11 to $40.

There are three general types. The manually-operated thermostat is set by hand for any change

One of Biggest Years in City's History

Major Building Projects In Marion May Reach 13 Million

Major buildings under construction, planned for the immediate future or completed this year in the Marion area total approximately $13,000,000 in value—making 1951 one of the biggest building years in Marion's history.

Although government restrictions because of the war emergency could curtail the boom in construction, at the present time little difficulty is seen in most of the major programs.

The National Production Authority has banned several types of construction—namely the building of taverns, racetracks, gymnasiums and other places of amusement.

On Jan. 15, the N P A. declared a freeze on new commercial buildings and set up a list of standards to be met before government approval could be obtained. In general, the government agency would approve commercial construction only if the proposed building meets certain requirements. These include (1) if the building furthers the defense effort (2) is essential to public health, welfare and safety, or (3) alleviates or prevents a hardship in the community.

MOST BUILDING planned in and around Marion this year probably would have little trouble gaining the needed approval.

Project drawing the most interest from Marion County residents is the new city-county hospital. Although no site has been selected and plans have not been completed, little trouble is expected to be encountered in obtaining approval. Funds for the hospital come from a $1,700,000 bond issue approved at last fall's election. In addition federal aid up to one-third of the total cost is expected to be forthcoming eventually.

Two other large items on the local building scene are the B F. Goodrich plant southwest of Marion and improvement projects at the Marion Training School. The Goodrich plant now under construction totals $2,500,000 in value.

Included in the $3,250,000 project at the state penal institution is a one-million dollar power plant and housing units. Contracts for the construction have been advertised.

THE NEW $750,000 North Sstate Street Junior High School was dedicated two weeks ago and is now in use. Meanwhile the Marion City School Board has moved ahead with plans for spending nearly $4,000,000 in school building programs. Voters will be asked to approve a $2,900,000 bond issue at the May primary election to clear the way for construction of a new high school building. The board already has on hand $1,100,000 for its building program.

Officials and directors of the Marion Y.M.C.A. are moving ahead with plans for construction of the new building on East Church street. Work may begin in the early summer. Cost of the building is expected to be slightly in excess of the original $750,000 estimate.

GOVERNMENT CONTRACTS totaling $1,609,600 have been let for projects at the Marion Engineer Depot. Seven projects are being completed. Among them are the installation of sprinkler systems for fire protection, platform repairs, new warehouses, and renovation of railroad tracks inside the Depot area.

Two industrial firms also are boosting the local building program this year.

McMillen Feed Mills has begun a $350,000 expansion program here while a $45,000 addition is under way at the Alloy Cast Steel Co.

Churches also are contributing to the building totals. The Emanuel Lutheran Church plans construction of a $191,000 addition this spring and the new First Evangelical United Brethren Church will probably be completed and dedicated in June. Estimated cost of the new church on South Prospect street has been placed at $180,000.

Design With Low Cost in Mind

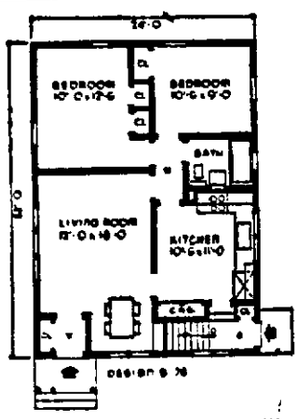

THE BLADEN has a wide frontage, calling for a proportionately wide lot, a popular house design trend. Entrance to the living room is through a small vestibule, forming a dining alcove at one end. Dining space is also provided in the kitchen.

Location of stairs brings kitchen and bathroom together to cut costs. Bedroom can be reached through kitchen without passing living room. The range is located next to the chimney for users of conventional stoves. Cabinets are arranged on three walls with sink under window.

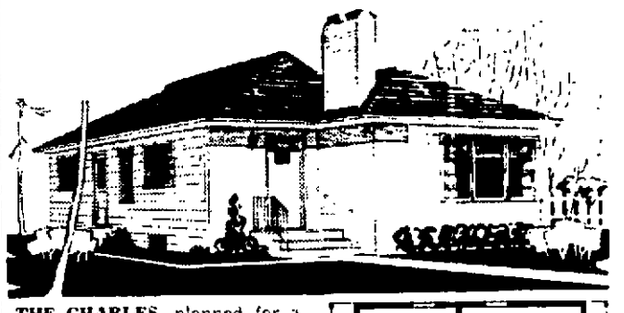

Plans call for the use of siding on the exterior. Gable features vertical siding, while the roof has asphalt shingles.

The dimensions of the Bladen are 24 feet by 32 feet with the floor area totalling 768 square feet and the cubage equalling 14,208 cubic feet in all.

For further information about The Bladen, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

Plan Notable for Convenience

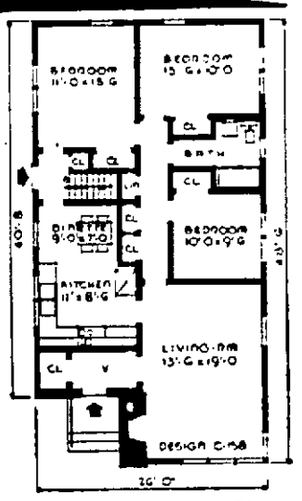

THE CHARLES, planned for a narrow lot, is only 26 feet wide. Front entrance leads into vestibule with coat closet. Cabinets and kitchen equipment are grouped at one end of kitchen, leaving other free for dining. This is large enough for three bedroom house, but for larger groups living room may be used for dining.

The side entrance leads directly to basement and kitchen. The three bedrooms have large wardrobe type closets, while the bedroom hall has closets for linens, clothes and general storage.

Rear bedroom opens from side vestibule and is convenient as workroom, having access into kitchen.

Exterior has siding except for brick veneer at fireplace. Roof shingles are asphalt.

The overall dimensions are 26 feet by 48 feet 6 inches with a floor area of 1,198 square feet.

PLAN #B-5006

MID-CENTURY HOUSE is the architect's description of this one-story rambler with an unusually large living area that includes two 12-foot floor to ceiling windows on the rear garden side and another large window in front. Three bedrooms and two baths are among other features of this Plan B-5006 by Alwin Cassens Jr., 116-55 Queens Boulevard, Forest Hills, N. Y. This plan has been construction tested by Stackler & Frank, Long Island builders, who used the house shown here as a pilot model in building 44 "personalized" variations on plots of an acre and larger in the $25,000 class. Variations included a higher roof pitch with expansion attic and dormers, an outside door from the kitchen, two car garages, standard size windows in some bedrooms and other changes. The plan has an area of 1,684 square feet without garage, and the house is 58 feet wide and 44 feet, 10 inches deep.

WHAT BECAME of the back door?

This question is being asked more and more frequently as architects plan rambling one-story houses with kitchens opening from front entrance foyers.

It seems that modern equipment has robbed the back door of much of its old utilitarian role.

Oil burning and gas fired heating plants and gas or electric stoves in kitchens make it no longer necessary to carry ashes out the back door.

Garbage disposal machines built into sink drains have eliminated the need to carry garbage out to back yard incinerators or to front curb collection points.

Automatic washing machines and electric driers have replaced the clothes lines of the laundry yard in many cases.

Rear garden terraces and patios and the popularity of outdoor living have made it more attractive to have a rear door open from dining room or living room, rather than from the kitchen.

The result is that couples and small families find a back door from a kitchen of little use. By omitting it they gain wall space in the kitchen for more cupboards and more equipment. The space saved may accommodate a large refrigerator, food freezer, dishwasher or washing machine.

Some in $25,000 Class

Although houses being planned along these lines are still exceptions, the number being built without the old fashioned back door is steadily growing.

An interesting example is offered on the north shore of Long Island, N. Y., where the building firm of Stackler & Frank is erecting houses in the $25,000 class on wooded hillside sites of an acre and larger. Among 44 homes sold from plans, the majority are being built without traditional back doors.

Leonard Frank, member of the firm and head of the Long Island Institute of Home Builders, traces the trend to city apartment dwellers moving to suburban houses.

"These home buyers," Frank said in an interview, "not only prefer one-story houses with all rooms on one floor, apartment style, but they readily accept kitchens without direct outside access. They are used to receiving deliveries at the front—and only—door of their apartments and choose to continue that practice rather than sacrifice kitchen wall space."

This factor of wall space becomes important when kitchens are placed at the front of a house in order to reserve the rear for window walls facing the garden or woodland of deep lots. In such cases a kitchen may have a door opening from the front vestibule, another leading to the basement, a third swinging into the dining room or dining area—and to add a fourth door means a serious handicap for the average size kitchen.

Building Costs a Factor

Modern building costs also are a factor. In one case where the side wall of a kitchen adjoined the attached garage, the cutting through and placing of a service door from kitchen into garage cost $75. Widening the garage by three feet to locate the basement stairs and to give them direct access to a service vestibule cost $1,000 additional.

Paradoxically, however, there is a new apartment project in New York City where kitchens have separate service entrances from the public corridors. This is a restoration of a feature once identified with luxury apartments and the "back doors" serve double function since these new kitchens have no windows, interior rooms, they are electrically ventilated.

Apparently these extra doors can be afforded for rents for two bedroom apartments in this project range from $135 on the first floor to $177 on the 15th or 16th floors.

In contrast, carrying charges for the $25,000 houses where so many back doors are being eliminated are $135.

Junior-Senior Dinner and Dance Held at Pleasant

The annual junior-senior banquet and dance of Pleasant Township High School was held Friday night in the school auditorium with approximately 80 young people and faculty members attending.

Theme for the affair was "Garden of Memories," which was carried out in the decorations and program for the evening.

For the banquet which preceded the dance, pink and wine colored streamers decorated the room and an arrangement of white roses, the senior class flower, centered the speaker's table. Members of the junior class were hosts and hostesses for the event and were in charge of all arrangements with the assistant of the class advisor, Robert Thomas.

A "Journey Down Memory Lane" was the highlight of the program, in which were recalled various happenings among members of the senior class from their first year in school through this their last year. A quartet of junior girls, Joan Rengert, Marilyn Gorby, Barbara Hentze and Rosemary Mautz, presented the history of the class and also sang.

The welcome to the seniors was extended by the junior class president, Sally Ardrey, and the response was by John Kreis, president of the senior class. Special talks were given by E. E. Banning, superintendent.

Setting for the dance was a garden, arranged with a pond and flowers. Pink and white streamers completed the decorations. Music was by Bob Radabaugh's band of Harding High School.

Serving as committee chairmen for the banquet and dance were Ruth McKeon, decorations, Ruth Burton, dinner, Joan Rengert, arrangements, and Marilyn Gorby, program.

required. Semi-automatic types equipped with a clock are set manually at night for lower temperature and they automatically turn up the heat in the morning at the hour for which the timer is set. The fully automatic, electric clock type, or chronotherm, needs no attention, lowering the temperature to any desired level during the night and raising it to daytime level before you get up in the morning.

Economical Proven

Tests have shown that lowering temperatures during sleeping hours can save from 9.6 percent to 21.9 percent in fuel bills, depending on the climate zone in which you live.

The number of thermostats needed in a house is determined by the number and location of rooms. One properly located instrument is adequate for the average small dwelling. However, John E. Haines, vice president of the Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co., who has conducted extensive research, warns that improper location of a thermostat can be responsible for erratic operation of an otherwise good heating system.

"If you are using only one thermostat," says Haines, "do not install it in a room which has unusually large areas on the east, south or west sides of your house. Sunlight can warm such a room to a point where the rest of the house will be left uncomfortably cool."

Any thermostat, he points out, no matter how good it may be, can measure only the temperature of the room in which it is located.

Places To Avoid

"Don't place a thermostat where it will be exposed to a current of cold air from windows or outside doors." Haines adds. "It should not be located within three feet of an outside wall.

"Don't place it near a fireplace or a heat outlet."

A central location in the living area of a house is usually the best spot. If a house has unusual construction features, a second thermostat may prove to be a good investment. Sometimes the secondary unit is placed in a bedroom wing, upstairs bedrooms, or in a basement play area.

Heating engineers today suggest zoning a house for heat, especially in large rambling homes. In these cases instruments are placed in each bedroom area, the living area, and in kitchen and recreation room.

Special outdoor installations, or weatherstats, are used sometimes to register sudden changes in the weather before a house cools or heats accordingly.

TONING DOWN BRICKS

A red brick fireplace often can be given a softer, lighter color by rubbing down the surface with a carborundum block available at paint stores. This grinding also will remove soot stains by revealing a new clean surface.

Final OK on Interior Plans Expected Soon

Design of New Y.M.C.A. Approved

AN ARCHITECT'S DRAWING of the new Y M C A. is shown above. The view is the front of the building looking from East Church street.

Construction May Begin In Summer

The exterior design of the new YMCA has been approved by the building committee and the board of directors.

Designed by the architectural firm of Sims, Cornelius and Schooley of Columbus, the new building will face on East Church street and will be constructed just east of the Marion Postoffice

Floor plans prepared by the architectural firm are being studied The building committee will meet within the next few days with representatives of the firm and Floyd G Ervine and Associates to discuss any last-minute changes before presenting their recommendations to the board of directors for the final go-ahead.

Sketch on Display

A water color sketch of the new building has been approved by the committee and is on display at the Home Federal Savings and Loan Association on South Main street It will be displayed in other business establishments. The building shown in the picture is an exact likeness of the building to be constructed on East Church street a YMCA spokesman said today

Officials however, are not able to list interior facilities of the new building until the final plans have been approved

May Start This Summer

Construction work on the building, which probably will cost in excess of $750,000, may be started this summer Officials warn, however, that further government building restrictions could halt the building. Under present regulations the building probably will win approval from the National Production Authority. Several months' work is contemplated by the board and building committee before bids are received.

The work at present is being carried on by the building committee headed by Dr. Floyd Yeager. Members include Karl Schell, J. B. Bray, Frank M Foster, Ben T. Wiant, Robert Kelly, Charles Harmon, Henry A. Mickley and John Stafford. A W. Kette, president of the board of directors, E. G. Siefert, vice president, and Arthur L. Haas, general secretary, are ex-officio members

Fire-Safety

ent to cut off the basement from the rest of the house This can be done easily by installing a heavy flush type door at the head of the cellar stairs. Keep it closed with a spring hinge or other self-closing device This door will hold back fire and gases for as long as half an hour. Doors with a one-hour fire rating also are on the market.

The finishing of a basement with a ceiling of plaster over metal lath or gypsum board covering the exposed floor joists is an added fire protection.

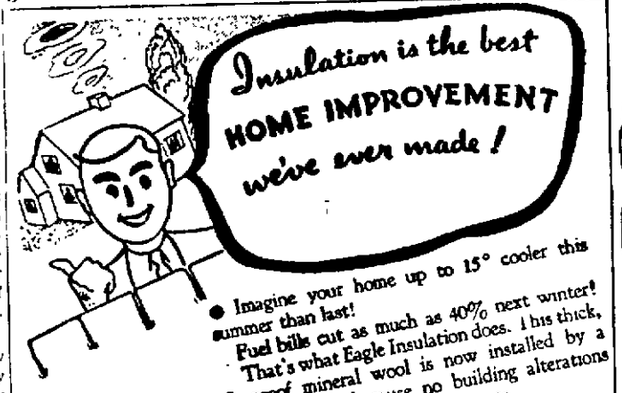

Handy Equipment

A popular fire-extinguisher is now being retailed through housefurnishing store at $1.29, making it practical to have several placed strategically around the house. It is about the size of a can of beer and comes with a bracket that can be nailed to a wall, inside a closet door, or elsewhere. Lifting a handle on the top of the can punctures it, allowing the compressed chemical to spray out.

It's a good idea to keep some in the basement, one near the kitchen door, another near the stove, and so on In this way, a small fire cannot cut off your path to an extinguisher.

KIRKPATRICK GROUP MEETS

A quilting bee and potluck dinner was held by members of the Ladies Aid Society of the Kirkpatrick Christian Church when they met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Forest Hill of near Marion. Mrs. Alfred George led devotions. The program featured spring poems and quotations read by members, led by Mrs. C. E. Clutter. A guessing box was won by Mrs. Richard Brooks. Plans were made to have a mother-daughter tea May 20 at the church.

Asphalt Used For Sealing Needs 50 Centuries Ago

Much of the glamor of the modern home is based on one of the most unglamorous materials—asphalt.

Its resistance to water which caused it to be used 5,000 years ago in sealing temple baths in ancient Mesopotamia and in preserving the mummies of Egyptian kings has won asphalt numerous uses in American homes.

It forms the base of membranous paints to seal the ouside of cements and foundations. In roofings it waterproofs basepaper felts. In paints it rustproofs seams roof gutters and downspouts. It is used in caulking and weather proofing.

The widest use of asphalt today is in roofing. Although flammable in itself its use in composition shingles has won the approval of the Underwriters' Laboratories through surfacing of mineral granules in varieties of color.

According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the cost change in asphalt roofing materials has been one of the lowest in the construction field. The wholesale price of asphalt strip shingles is listed at about six percent above the 1926 level.

Pickled Pine Paneling Gives Pleasing Effect

Pickled pine means many things to many persons. The term comes from the color of weathered wood in vinegar and pickling vats. It offers a different and pleasing tone for pine-paneled walls.

The actual color may range from olive-green-gray to driftwood gray. You can buy prepared finish in this shade from your retail lumber dealer or paint store. Or you can mix it yourself.

The Western Pine Association suggests this method. Bleach the surface with a commercial bleach. Then antique the surface with a coat of white paste tinted with raw umber and drop black. Wipe the surface carefully to leave a dust-like coating. Then shellac and finish with liquid wax.

First Floor on Insulated Concrete

The Arnold has a first floor that is formed by an insulated concrete slab laid on a gravel fill. Heating and laundry equipment is housed in the utility room and twelve well placed closets plus space in the large garage provide the storage room which is so important in the basementless house.

The two smaller bedrooms are separated by a folding partition and may be opened into a daytime playroom, or a solid partition can be substituted if desired. Closets are all of the wardrobe type which utilizes the space above for added storage room.

The plan also shows a fireplace with bookshelves and wood-box, picture window, entrance coat closets, generous cabinets and kitchen dining space, as well.

Exterior finish is siding, asphalt shingles and stone facing in front. Dimensions are 40 feet by 26 feet. Area is 1,132 square feet and cubage 12,926 not including garage.

For further information about THE ARNOLD, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

Wooden Wedge Solves Floor Squeak Problem

A squeaking floor often can be fixed easily if it is over a basement that has no ceiling.

While someone steps on the squeaking board find the location on the subflooring between joists in the basement. Drive a thin wooden wedge between the joist and subfloor. A piece of shingle will go.

Then drive a finishing nail through the floor from above to hold the wedge on the joist. Counter-sink the nail.

Wood Preservative Shellac Is Ancient Export of Far East

Like honey, shellac is the product of an insect. The lac bug, or coccus lacca, feeds on the sap of trees in India, Burma and Siam and deposits raw shellac on branches and twigs. The coating is similar to that formed by ice. It is harvested, washed, ground and sifted. Then it is shipped in orange colored flake form. When cut in alcohol, it makes pure orange shellac. When bleached it is the white shellac popular for preserving the grain and texture of woods.

Shellac is an ancient export of India. It was used by Akbar, the great Mogula of Hindustan, who built the Taj Mahal, Pearl Mosque and other great structures of Delhi. It was used by the cabinet makers of Paris in the 17th and 18th centuries. Louis XIV had the inlaid floors of the Versailles Hall of Mirrors finished with shellac. Lafayette found it used on the floors of the fine Colonial homes of America.

No chemist has been able to duplicate the work of the lac bug.

Crestline Man Sues Commission

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, April 24—The Industrial Commission of Ohio is named defendant in an action filed in Crawford County Common Pleas Court here by David Corbin, a Crestline policeman.

Patrolman Corbin alleges he was injured when struck by a car while directing traffic in Crestline on Nov. 7, 1947, resulting in his being disabled for more than seven days.

The plaintiff charges the claim was disallowed last August by the commission on the grounds that "proof of record does not show claimant's disability was result of accident injury." The court is asked to rule that Patrolman Corbin is eligible to receive compensation from the commission's funds.

American industries use about 70,000 tons of tin a year.

COPS GET BACK THEIR OWN

WOONSOCKET, R. I.—(UP)—Officers Joseph Baillargeon and Roland Nault halted an automobile for a routine check and found some stolen car accessories hidden under a blanket. Later, Baillargeon and Nault discovered that much of the loot had been stripped from their own private cars, parked across from police headquarters.

This One Really Stayed on Hook

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — (UP) — There were skeptics when E. S. Prescott, Jr., told friends he caught a king-sized mackerel on a fishing trip at Daytona Beach, Fla., until the mailman arrived with a package.

It was from the taxidermist in Florida. Prescott had the fish mounted.

Grange Unit Formed At New Washington

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, April 24—An organization meeting for a new Grange for New Washington area residents was held Tuesday night at New Washington School when 35 charter members elected officers for the group. Floyd S. Barrett of Bucyrus, Crawford County Grange deputy master, reported today.

Weldon Aichholz was elected master and other officers are: overseer, Ralph Marquart; lecturer, Mrs. Donald Seifert; steward, Harold Kalb; assistant steward, Donald Seifert; chaplain, Ronald Aichholz; treasurer, Donald E. Kalb; secretary, Mrs. Weldon Aichholz; gatekeeper, Wilbur Kalb; Ceres, Mrs. Earl Harrer; Pomona, Mrs. Ralph Marquart; Flora, Mrs. Luther Long; lady assistant steward, Mrs. Hobart Nye, and juvenile matron, Mrs. Ronald Aichholz.

The charter will remain open until the May 10 meeting when new officers will be installed by the degree team from Auburn Grange at Tiro.

House Remodeling Spurs Installation Of Small Elevators

The remodeling of large old houses into apartments, residence clubs and rooming houses has stimulated the installation of personal service elevators.

Simplification in the design and safety of automatic elevators has brought the installation of this convenience down below the cost of the average automobile.

Many private home elvators are installed in stairwells. Others are placed where closets are directly in line. A two-passenger car for a private home requires a clear space of 4 feet, 2 inches, by 3 feet, 11 inches.

One elevator engineer points out that new designs for hoistways require no special construction for vertical supports. Penthouses, previously required for elevator machinery, have been eliminated by installing such mechanism in the basement.

Many Hear Galion Church Concert

Special to The Star

GALION, April 24—First Baptist Church, was filled to capacity Friday night to hear the concert by the choir of the Baptist Bible Institute of Cleveland.

Directed by Vivian Kretz Amsler, the choir of 42 voices presented a varied program of songs with testimonials by the members interspersing the numbers. Miss Marjy Jo Moore was pianist, Kenneth Andrus, organist, and Richard Amon, violinist.

Instrumental prelude of piano, organ and violin was presented. Special numbers besides the ensemble selections included numbers by a sextette of young women, duet by Vernon Weber and Ward Weaver who later appeared for solos. A group of negro spirituals by a quartet was well received by the audience.

Rev. Wilford Booth is pastor of the local church. The Galion church was the first stop on a tour of churches in Ohio by the singers.

Brighter Kitchens, Bathrooms Seen As Color Takes Over

The spreading use of color, in the home and out, is bringing striking changes in bathrooms and kitchens.

Both of these rooms, formerly sterile white, are beginning to blossom in bright hues.

The manufacturers are working closely with the makers of bathroom fixtures to give home owners exactly matching colors, as well as pleasantly blending or contrasting shades.

Cheerful wallpapers have been developed incorporating deep-sea and floral designs, for bathrooms, still life and barnyard patterns for kitchens.

Kitchen cabinets made of steel, wood or composition products are available in wide varieties of colors. Apple green, jade green, powder blue, jonquil yellow, being among them.

Manufacturers of refrigerators and ranges are now following the parade. A two-year survey of color preferences was made by the Chambers Corp., of Shelbyville, Ind., before it changed its all-white finish on gas ranges. It found that 31 percent of its customers were waiting for special tints.

A short cut in this trend is open to householders who would like to change the color of their present white fixtures. The most satisfactory way to do it is to remove the fixture and take it to an automobile spray painting firm where you can select the exact shade you want. This finish dries quickly and gives you a result like that of a new car.

California Plan Suitable Elsewhere

A CALIFORNIA PLAN that can be used for any section of the country, this is design 716 by J. Lloyd Conrich, architect of 593 Market St., San Francisco 5, Calif., who describes it as a perfect circulation plan. The combined length of living room and dining room is 32 feet. Large glass doors open on the rear terrace from both of these rooms. The 32-foot garage is ample for two cars and a trailer, or can double as a rainy day play room. The bath has a shower stall, tub and two entrances. This house cover 1,681 square feet and the garage has an area of 645 square feet.

Pump Can Heat and Cool Home By Underground Temperature

Helping yourself to heat from the bowels of the earth is rapidly nearing a reality as a practicable form of home heating.

The heat pump is doing it.

This is a mechanism based on the same principle as the workings of your kitchen refrigerator.

A refrigerator is kept cold by pumping the heat out of it. The refrigerating unit soaks up the heat in the box and pumps it into the room.

The heat pump draws warmth from the ground and spreads it in the house.

Since the temperature of the earth below frost line remains virtually constant around 54 degrees, this forms a vast reservoir of heat.

Such heat pumped into a house can be distributed by various methods, the most convenient being the circulation of warm air. This makes it possible to reverse the heat pump in summer for cooling your house. In its cooling function, the pump removes the heat from the house and transfers it into the cooler ground.

There are various pioneer systems now in use. General Electric, among others, has been developing a practicable system for the small house over the past five years or more.

Heat pumps have been installed in northwestern states, in areas enjoying low-cost electrical power, and some in southern states primarily for cooling homes.

However, some bugs have turned up in premature and imperfectly engineered installations. Cases have been reported where submerged coils tended to build up frozen areas that insulated the coils against receiving the heat from the soil or underground water. Such wrinkles are being ironed out.

Up to now, installation of heat pumps has cost much more than conventional heating plants, but operating costs have been very economical where electrical power rates are low.

Robert V. Nelson of Salem, Ore., recently reported on the success of heat pumps in his section through the Review of the Society of Residential Appraisers. He told of one family in Salem having controlled the year-round temperature of a home for 14 months, covering one summer and most of two winters, at a cost of $166.

Two-thirds of the livestock of the United States is raised west of the Mississippi River.

Light Walls Will Add To Basement Playroom

When turning a basement into a family recreation center, make full use of gay color and bright light. Bright yellow walls put sunlight into a dark basement. Ivory or white cabinets and shelves with interiors painted in salmon tints add light and contrast.

An asphalt tile floor in gray and salmon red squares with pictorial insets can give such a room added distinction.

Aluminum Frames Made For Screens and Doors

A combination storm and screen door made of aluminum with interchangeable screen and window panels, is manufactured hung in an aluminum frame which fits into a doorframe. It insures trouble-free action without planing or refitting.

Designed for both front and rear doors, this equipment is left in place the year-round, with panels changed for the seasons. Its makers claim that although it is lightweight, it is strong enough to resist the abuse of growing children.

Permits Top Last Year By Million

Building permits this year have exceeded those issued in the year 1949-50 by almost $1,000,000 in value, Mrs. Mayme Gorton, city clerk reported.

Permits issued between April 1949 and April 1950 were valued at $685,515 and those issued between April 1950 and April 1951 were valued at $1,529,320.

Main reason for the increase in the estimated value of the permits is that a number of larger projects were started. Many of these were for the construction of larger homes and apartment buildings.

A permit was issued for the construction of 46 apartment homes on Windsor street. The value of that project was set at $200,000.

Let Contracts For Bucyrus Hospital

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, April 24—Awarding of contracts for purchase of new equipment at City Hospital here was made Friday by the city board of control. Mayor Frank P. Sitler announced.

Contract for a new delivery table in the obstetrics room was awarded to the Chemical and Surgical Equipment Co of Madison, Wis., on its bid of $1,375. The table will be the gift of J. H. Ulmer, retired Bucyrus grocer. The same firm will furnish a pressure water sterilizer on its bids of $1,270.

A counter-balanced light for use in the delivery room and an instrument sterilizer, costing about $470, will be purchased from the American Sterilizer Co of Erie, Pa. The equipment will be used in the separate maternity section, which will be created at the hospital within the near future.

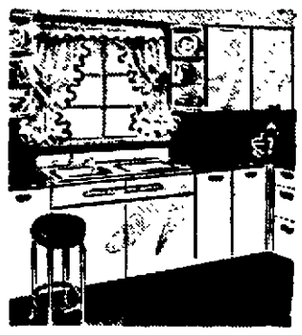

Independent Telephone Association Convenes

The Ohio Independent Telephone Association opened its 56th annual convention in Columbus today with the accent on its wartime responsibilities.

C. E. Williams of Marion, president of the Ohio Associated Telephone Co. is in charge of general sessions. New officers will be named Tuesday afternoon, The Associated Press reported.

Ray Dalton of Everett, Wash., president of the U. S. Independent Telephone Association, spoke this morning. Dr. William E. Warner, Ohio civil defense director, also spoke.

Sen. Charles A. Mosher of Oberlin, president of the Buckeye Press Association, and a representative of the State Public Utilities Commission will speak at Wednesday morning's closing session.

O.E.S. Inspection Held at Galion

Special to The Star

GALION, April 24—Annual inspection of Naomi Chapter, Order of Eastern Star of which Miss Lucy Ailer is worthy matron, was attended by 280 members and guests Friday.

Mrs. Velora Sanborn of Sycamore, deputy grand matron of District No. 10, was inspecting officer. She gave an address and commended the officers on the performances of their work. Other guests were Mrs. Lottie Green of Bellville, grand representative of Kentucky, and Mrs. Isabel Roman of Mansfield, grand Esther of the Grand Chapter of Ohio.

A dinner for the officers and guests was held at Hotel Talbott before the meeting. The dinner arrangements were in charge of the associate matron, Mrs. William Hocker. Gifts were presented to Mrs. Sanborn and Miss Ailer.

At the Masonic Temple, the meeting was opened with a solo, "Open the Gates of the Temple," sang by Mrs. Gloyd Resor with Mrs. Charles Tracht at the piano. After greetings by Miss Ailer, the special guests and visitors as well as past matrons and past patrons of Naomi Chapter, were introduced and escorted to special seats by Mrs. Merwin Wagner and Mrs. Ralph Sipes.

During the refreshment hour, Mrs. J. F. Blazer and Mrs. Charles Coyle headed committees. Mrs. Robert Metzger was in charge of decorations which featured a large hat box from which a flower decorated spring bonnet was displayed. Miniature straw hats were on the tables, and individual favors were small umbrellas made by the art students of Galion High School.

Bucyrus School Chorus Sets Annual Concert

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, April 24—Bucyrus High School's 67-voice chorus will present its annual spring concert in the school auditorium Friday under the direction of Miss Edna Ulmer.

Solos and specialty numbers will be presented by Robert Darling, Phillippa Stout, Doris Downing, Janet Hart, Nancy Eickel, Barbara Fahl Evelyn Rupe and Helen Cotsamire. Accompanists are Joan Oppenlander, Barbara Armitage, Laveta Cook and Dorothy Clinger.

Faculty members assisting in arrangements include Kathryn and Ella Meck, Mrs. Myron Millar, Clara Schieber, Juanita Renkert, E. J. Ellis and F. M. Mertz.

Painter's Hands Saved By Applying Baby Oil

Ever see a mechanic rub his hands well with soap, without water, before he starts a greasy job? After he finishes the job, he washes his hands and all comes off easily.

You can use this principle when tackling a paint job. Baby oil, rubbed thoroughly into your hands before you begin to paint, makes it easy to remove drops on your skin after you finish painting. It eliminates the skin drying effect of washing in turpentine.

22 EXAMINED

RICHWOOD — Twenty two children of pre-school age attended the Richwood Well Baby conference Thursday. Dr. Walter Burt of Milford Center, was examining physician and was assisted by Mrs. H. C. Kitchen Plan Provides Choice

THE CLAY has three bedrooms in the rear of the house, while the living room and kitchen are in the front. The dining room and kitchen, as shown, are separated by a partition, but this can be replaced by a snack bar which would form a combination kitchen-dinette.

In addition to the wardrobe closets in the bedrooms, there is a general closet and a linen cabinet in the hall and a coat closet for each entrance.

These plans call for a frame construction with siding and asphalt shingles. Also included is provision for a full basement. Some of the other features that are considered are a wood burning fireplace, a corner kitchen sink and a recessed bath tub.

The dimensions of The Clay are 40 feet by 26 feet with a front projection of 6 feet. The floor area is 1,196 square feet and the cubage is 23,322 feet.

For further information about The clay, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

Kennel Club Seats Officers

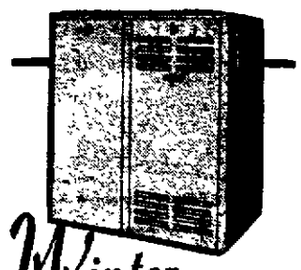

Installation of officers was held Thursday night by the Marion Kennel Club, at a meeting in the Officer's Club of the Marion Engineer Depot.

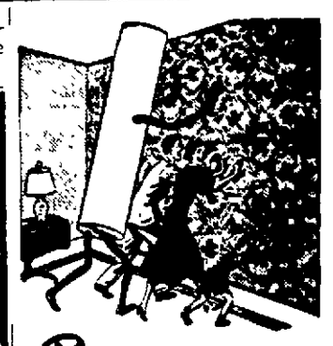

Those installed were Stan Spears, president; James Lugo, first vice president; John Wetzel, second vice president; Sherman Baker, treasurer; and Mrs. C. A Songer, secretary. Installing officer was Virgil Campbell.

H. L. Davis showed moving pictures of the Jan. 28 show sponsored by the club, and several pictures of dogs belonging to members of the club.

Training classes were discussed and plans made to start the session in June. Refreshments were served.

ROTARY-TYPE POWER MOWER

18-Inch CRAFTMAN

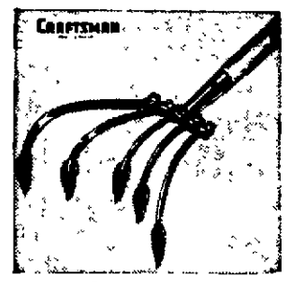

94.50

9.75 Down, 8.00 Month

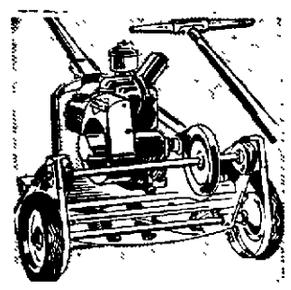

- Shock-absorbing welded, tubular steel handles
- ¼ H.P. Clinton 4-cycle vertical drive gas engine
- Height of cut is adjustable from ¾ to 2¾ inch.
- 6 easy-rolling wheels with semi-pneumatic tires.
- Super-sharp one-piece blade holds keen cutting edge.

Rotary blade cuts grass of any height perfectly. Yes, even tall weeds. It hugs the ground; cuts evenly; chops the grass into shreads so you needn't use a catcher. And you'll be amazed at the easy way it handles. Smooth-rolling, pin-point turning, instant starting. Take the work out of mowing—and take it easy on your pocketbook. Compare.

Well-Supplied With Closets

THE BELFORT has many interesting features, among which are the many closets provided in the two bedroom house, the circulation between rooms, the liberal wall space for furniture placement and across light in all four rooms.

Storage space is available in the coat and linen closets in the hall, the coat closet in the rear entry, two closets in each bedroom, the china cabinet in the dinette and the cabinet in the bathroom. There is also a full basement.

The dining space in the kitchen is provided for in addition to the dinette which is part of the living room. The kitchen sink is under the window, the stove is on the side wall and the refrigerator is on the right of the sink.

The plans of the Belfort call for a frame construction, for wide siding and asphalt shingles as well.

Overall dimensions are 32 feet by 37. Floor area is 975 square feet; cubage 188,726.

Rotary Electric Plugs Shockproof to Children

Electric outlets that children can't stick hairpins into and get the shock of their young lives have been designed by the Bell Electric Co. of Chicago. They feature rotary caps which close automatically when the outlets are not in use. When you want to connect a lamp or appliance you insert the prongs into the rotary cap, turn the plug to the right and push it in. When the plug is withdrawn, the rotary cap springs back to its original position and the outlet is closed.

Bridging Permits Entire Floor Area To Share Weight

The cross pieces you will notice between joists, when looking up at floor construction from a basement, are now often made of steel.

The function of such bridging is to make floors more rigid and to distribute weight, so that a grand piano or other heavy pieces of furniture are not supported solely by the part of the floor they occupy.

Without bridging, a floor can spring when you walk across it. Wood braces arranged in criss-cross fashion between the joists transfer the weight horizontally as well as vertically. Such wood braces are sufficient, but it takes time to install them.

A new form of steel bracing is said to cut bridging costs in half. These steel pieces, rust-proofed and ribbed for extra strength, have prongs that are driven into the joists and are countersunk with one hammer blow. Each bridge involves only two nails—saving six nails in the average installation.

Ends of the steel braces are doubled back over the opposite side of the joist to cleat them and reinforce their hold. The manufacturer claims a strength in tension of 2,000 pounds, considerably stronger than wood bridging.

For Any Lot Size or Location

THE BINGHAM can be erected to advantage though the lot is [illegible] The plan of this house consists of two bedrooms, bath, living room and combination kitchen and dinette, with a full basement.

Cabinets and kitchen equipment are grouped at one end of the kitchen with dining space in the other. Two closets, one for supplies, and a china cabinet are also provided in the kitchen. Other closets include wardrobes in the bedrooms, linen closet in the hall and a large closet at the entrance.

The exterior is planned to be finished with wide siding and [illegible] To add a touch of color, however, face brick is placed under the front windows.

The dimensions of the Bingham are estimated at 38 feet by 28 feet 6 inches. Floor area amounts to 904 square feet, while the cubage equals 17,628 cubic feet.

For further information about The Bingham, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

Carpet Used in Cement Floor Dampness Test

To test a basement floor for dampness before you plan to paint it, lay a piece of linoleum or heavy carpet on the cement for a few days.

If a dark spot appears when you lift the covering, it means moisture rises through the floor and evaporates. Paint will not be entirely successful on such a floor.

Good Ventilation Makes More Comfort in Home

An example of how ventilation can reduce excessive indoor humidity is afforded by an average sized house of 24,000 cubic feet.

Such a house contains 1,800 pounds of air, which at saturation, 100 percent relative humidity, can hold 28 pounds of moisture.

If this house is heated to 70 degrees in winter and registers 60 percent in relative humidity —which is excessive—it would contain 17 pounds of moisture.

This is more than two gallons of water.

An equal amount of outside air at 10 degrees temperature and 40 percent relative humidity would contain about one pound, or a pint of moisture.

A few minutes' interchange of indoor and outdoor air will quickly keep the indoor humidity within recommended limits. The house will heat quicker and be more comfortable.

EASY CHIMNEY SWEEP

To sweep a chimney, stuff a burlap bag with excelsior, put a couple of bricks in the bottom for weight, attach a rope and drop the bag down the chimney. Clean chimneys cut fuel bills and reduce fire hazards.

Mortgage Size Should Be Kept At Low Figure

Time-Tested Rule Says To Pay All Possible In Cash, Budget Rest

How much of a mortgage should you carry?

Ordinarily this depends on how the monthly carrying charges fit your budget.

But there are times when a home buyer is prepared to invest more than a minimum equity. Sometimes he has a block of bonds or other securities he can liquidate at a profit and reduce the amount of debt on his house.

Some people still argue that to do this would be bad business. They will tell you that you can get a greater return on your money in investments than the amount of interest you can save on your mortgage.

They also argue that if you want to re-sell your house it will be easier to find a buyer if you have a sizable mortgage. The buyer will not need so much cash to meet your price and he can take over the remaining payments on the mortgage.

Whether this is good or bad business depends on various factors and ultimately on you. For the average person it is easy to find bugs in those arguments.

- Can you be sure that securities will remain as stable in value as residential real estate?
- Will any net profits between dividends and mortgage interest amount to more than chicken feed?
- Will you expect to resell your house, or like most homes will it be your permanent dwelling?
- With money subject to depreciation in value under inflationary trends, while desirable real estate usually rises in value, which will you choose?
- What price can you put on the security of your family and your own piece of mind in later years?

And there are many other factors you can think of.

The time-tested rule is to pay all you can in cash, carry as small mortgage as possible, and pay it off as soon as you can. Free and clear home ownership, with no fixed expenses beyond taxes, maintenance and operation has always been considered the ideal goal for the average family.

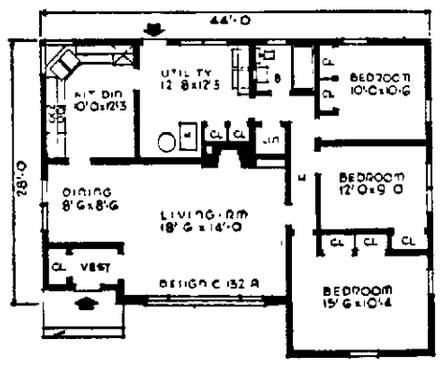

ALUMINUM PAINT

Aluminum paint consists of minute flakes of aluminum floating in varnish. When spread, the flakes overlap shingle-fashion, providing a thin metallic and reflective surface. Only the best quality is worth using.

About 444,000 acres of sweet potatoes are expected to be grown on U. S. farms in 1951.

Utility Room Replaces Cellar

THE CAMDEN, an attractive frame house, has three bedrooms, bath, combination living-dining room, kitchen with dining space and a utility room to replace the basement.

The utility room has coat and storage closets and space for laundry and heating equipment, using the fireplace chimney.

Closets are provided in the vestibule, kitchen and utility room, linen in the hall and wardrobe closets in the bedrooms.

Other features include picture window, covered entrance, book shelves beside fireplace and corner sink.

Exterior finish of the Camden is wide siding and asphalt shingles. The front wall is faced with either stone or brick.

Dimensions of this house are 44 feet by 34 feet overall. The floor area totals 1,319 square feet, while the cubage amounts to 1,319 cubic feet.

For further information about THE CAMDEN, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

New Thermostat Plugs Into Any Electric Outlet

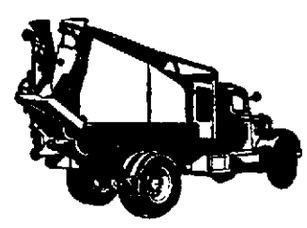

A plug-in electric clock automatic thermostat, developed by the Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co., can be installed by a householder in less than five minutes.

Equipped with a universal wall plate, this gadget takes the place of a manually-operated instrument and connects directly to existing wires. Its plug-in-cord connects with any convenient base outlet and enables its electric clock to lower house temperature at night and raise it again in the morning, without further attention.

IMPREGNATED WOOD

Wood for use near or in contact with the ground, such as porch columns, sills sheathing, studs and subflooring, can now be obtained treated with chromated zinc chloride to resist decay and termites and also to retard fire. This chemical is said to prevent the growth of fungi and also to render the wood difficult to ignite. It is paintable and odorless.

"Open Planning"

THE BROCKTON features open planning which means [illegible] and a feeling of spaciousness [illegible] home. Costs are also cut through the use of a flat roof which combines roof and ceiling joists in one and reduces cubical contents.

Windows in the through living room look to the street and to a covered terrace in the rear. Living room open in corner dinette.

There is a full basement, fireplace in the living room, coat closets, linen cabinet and wardrobes in the bedroom. A toilet in the basement reduces the traffic through the living room.

The exterior finish of the Brockton calls for a pitch and gravel roof with a vertical siding with a touch of color in the brick of the entry closet and planting area.

The dimensions of this small-sized house are estimated at 40 feet by 23 feet and six inches. The floor area is totalled at 832 square feet, while the cubic area is estimated at 14 303 cubic feet.

For further information about THE BROCKTON, write the Small House Planning Bureau St Cloud, Minn.

Insurance

mortgage interest on his fire insurance premiums.

In any case where the amount of a mortgage is proportionately less than the sound value of a house, the owner should carry additional insurance. In some places if insurance does not equal at least 80 percent of the sound value, a penalty develops in the case of partial loss. Insurance adjusters can hold that because of the lack of full coverage the owner was carrying part of the risk and therefore bears part of the loss.

Extended Coverage Available

For a small additional cost, extended coverage or supplemental endorsement will protect a home owner against windstorm, hail, tornado, aircraft, vehicles, riots, smoke damage and explosion (other than boiler or steam piping).

The importance of extended coverage is constantly demonstrated. In the one month of May, 1950, for instance, insurance companies paid nearly 330 000 claims under such endorsements. Most of them were the result of violent windstorms in the midwest and southwest and 15,000 were from the South Amboy, N. J. munitions blast.

Personal property fire insurance to cover furniture, clothing and all the other contents of your house is highly important. Where personal property has a larger than normal value, a personal property floater is carried to protect all items whether in the house or away from home. Otherwise, it is prudent to have burglary, theft and larceny insurance.

Boiler explosion insurance and water damage coverage are among other forms advisable. Rental value insurance will pay for temporary quarters during reconstruction if your house becomes uninhabitable in whole or in part. A liability policy will protect you in the event of lawsuit by any person injured on your property.

so will open in the near future. Nearly $175,000 has been spent for the store.

Persons connected with building industry in Marion have expressed fear of a possible shortage of labor and building materials. They point out that a prolonged struggle in Korea would cut down on civilian production and create serious shortages. With so much building planned, they add, a shortage of construction workers also could crop up.

Here's How To Make A Fire Alarm System

A simple automatic fire alarm system can be improvised by a handy householder.

Get a fusible link at a hardware store Connect one end to a spring near the ceiling of your basement stairwell and the other end to a simple switch.

Melting of the link at 165 degrees Fahrenheit will close the circuit This switch can be connected to a bell or gong operated from your doorbell transformer or dry cells. The switch should be mounted so you can close it manually to test the system for working order

THE CORINTH has two of the three bedrooms shown divided by a folding partition. This may be opened into a daytime playroom. Each room has a closet and a space for single bed, chest of drawers and desk. Other closets include two coat closets, linen cabinet in bedroom hall and wardrobes in large bedroom.

Note the minimum amount of hall required and the compact arrangement of kitchen cabinets. Range and refrigerator are placed on the inside wall and sink with flanking work counters under the front window.

The plans of this small house call for a picture window and a planting area as well, with a wide eave overhang, vertical siding in front, concrete steps and asphalt shingles that some items builders need will eventually pass out of the supply picture, sooner or later, if the Korean war continues.

The dimensions of The Corinth are 36 feet by 28 feet, with a floor area totalling 916 square feet and a cubage amounting to 17,775 cubic feet.

For further information about The Corinth, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

Among these are expected to be all aluminum products such as window frames, screens and storm sash. There is a plentiful supply of steel sash of all kinds right now as well as masonry and masonry materials, plus a fairly good supply of other building materials, Mr. Baldauf said.

Modernization

ciousness expected in modern living rooms

Sometimes a house without a fireplace will have a chimney with an extra ventilating flue. This frequently is convertible to a fireplace flue.

Oversize Kitchen Is Bonus

A bonus in many old house buys is the oversize kitchen. It usually affords space galore for combining kitchen and breakfast nook, or kitchen and laundry.

Common among faults of old houses are lack of insulation and need for more economical heating plants—both of which can be readily remedied.

One of the most effective places to install insulation is over the top floor ceiling. Batts of mineral wool can be laid between the ceiling joists or loose insulation material can be poured into the spaces to a full depth of four inches.

Highly effective are the metal foil types of insulation which reflect heat waves in both directions.

Windows Are Heat Losers

The next point of vulnerability in heat loss is around windows and doors. Dust smudges on walls around frames reveal the need of caulking Loose fitting sash and doors can be weatherstripped at comparative little cost and thereby cut fuel bills noticeably Hardware stores and building supply houses stock various types of weatherstripping materials.

New heating plants are more difficult to install in older houses Because of this, modern types have been developed to make installation easier. High speed circulated warm air systems, for instance can be had with three-inch round conduits eliminating the need for large ducts to be placed in walls.

The enlargement of old style windows to meet modern preferences for more sunlight usually involves more or less minor structual alterations.

Prefabricated Chimneys Speed Building, Cut Masonry Expense

Prefabricated chimneys have won wide use in modern home building and remodeling.

They eliminate the expense of masonry work, can be installed in mid-winter when bricklaying is impossible, and they introduce new speed in construction.

Sectional, they can be set up by two men in about an hour and a half in contrast to three to four man-days required to build the average brick chimney. Complete cost is quoted from 20 to 50 percent less than that of a conventional masonry chimney.

Known as package-type chimneys they have been approved by the Underwriters Laboratories, the FHA and by building officials in more than 1,000 communities.

Sections are 14½ inches in diameter and of two lengths—12 and 24 inches. They weigh about 27 pounds per foot, which is approximately a tenth of the weight of a masonry chimney.

These sections are aluminum-encased and contain a seven-inch fireclay flue surrounded by three inches of expanded vermiculite, a lightweight mica product, for insulation.

In installing the sections, carpenters or sheet metal workers, depending on which trades decide on jurisdiction, cement the sections together permanently with acid-proof cement to form gas-tight, fireproof joints. The chimney can be suspended from ceiling or floor, or supported on a basement foundation of concrete block, brick or steel post.

Since this type of chimney is round, the part that protrudes above the room is enclosed in a square roof housing, flashed according to roof pitch and rain cap.

According to Chester A. Pynn, vice president of the Van Packer Corp., more than 10,000 of these pre-cast chimneys are now in use in the New York area alone.

Slight Error in Surveying Land Can Be Troublesome to Owner

Many a home owner wonders why he has to pay for a survey of his land.

Usually a previous owner has had a survey made. Why must it be done again?

It's something like buying meat. You look at the scales.

If there is a fraction of an inch difference between your landmarks and your neighbor's it can cause trouble.

Ordinarily you and your neighbor will be good friends. You wouldn't even think of building a fence between you. When it comes to planting lawns, or sprinkling the grass, you don't can and he doesn't care if either plants or sprinkles a foot or two or more over the line. It's like hospitality. Who cares who served cake and who served cookies?

But when, as, and if you sell your property, an inch or less along that boundary can make a whale of a difference. Lawyers and title men insist on contiguity.

Old deeds frequently refer to natural landmarks—or monuments, they are technically called—which are no longer in existence. They may state that your particular parcel runs 100 feet west from a specific oak tree on the bank of a brook. That tree may have died and disappeared generations ago and the brook may have dried up or changed its course.

If you buy your land without having a survey made, you may find that you have bought an inch or so of your neighbor's land and may lack an inch or so on the other side.

Maybe you think an inch of land is not important—who cares. But when you come to sell, it becomes highly important. There have been cases of skyscrapers being held up pending the acquisition of an inch strip of land. And when as many as 11 and more heirs may be involved, there is a complicated and costly legal problem.

If your homesite has been subdivided from old properties and a disputed inch happens to fall right through the middle of your plot, you can be in a pretty fix.

Therefore a survey and a plot plan are highly important.

Working Plans Available For Home's Handy Man

If you're handy with tools and like to make things yourself you can get working plans for various useful accessories by writing to the Western Pine Association, 510 Yeon Building, Portland 4, Ore.

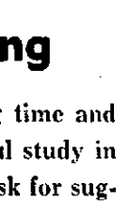

Among instruction sheets available is one for a rod and gun cabinet. Another that fills many household needs shows how to build a knotty pine chest for storing sweaters, T-shirts, blankets and swimming trunks out of season.

A colonial bookcase and cabinet for living or den that can serve for dishes and table linen in a dining room, or for books, clothing and knickknacks in a bedroom, is among other plans available without charge.

Electricity—Your Servant

Bedside Push-Button Lighting Now Possible

NOW YOU CAN have a push-button house.

You can touch a button at your bedside on a cold morning and automatically close the window, turn up the heat, start the coffee percolator in the kitchen and operate as many other electric appliances and conveniences as you care to install.

It's economical and you don't have to build a new home to have a push button house

Arranged by wiring electric switches with ordinary bell cord instaed of expensive heavy cable, the system can be installed in existing houses virtually as easily as in a house under construction

It works by stepping down the standard 110 or 120-volt house current to a harmless 24 volts between switches and outlets. This makes it possible for an electrician to pull light weight bell wire through partitions instead of ripping walls open to connect heavy conduits that must pass fire inspection.

THE LOW VOLTAGE adds new safety to all electric switches. A child with a wet hand is not in danger of shock. The low voltage at the switch trips a relay in electrical outlet boxes allowing current up to 1,650 watts with no direct connection at the switch

The result is a far greater variety of controls than ordinarily could be afforded with regular electrical wiring.

Master switches and three-way switches can be located throughout the house. After you are in bed at night and wonder if you have left lights burning in the basement, on the porch, or in the garage you don't have to get up to make an inspection. A master switch at your bedside will turn off every light in the house

If some member of the household comes home later he can turn on lights ahead of him as he passes through the house, turn them out behind him, and double check by turning off a master switch at his bed.

WHEN A FAMILY returns from the movies, a master selector switch in the garage or kitchen will turn on all lights in all selected rooms

If during the night you think you hear a prowler, a flick of your master switch will flood the entire house with light, flood light the yard and turn on garage, barn or basement lights.

When loud playing of radio, record player, or television interferes with your telephone conversation, a switch at the phone turns off the broadcast.

The ease of stringing light weight wires makes it possible to have switches at every doorway, eliminating the need of crossing a room to turn lights on or off Each switch is continually out of the circuit except for the instant it is touched. After "on" or "off" is touched, the switch returns to neutral. This eliminates the question involved with conventional three-way and four-way switches which cannot indicate whether a circuit is on or off

KNOWN AS A remote-control system, the cost of complete installation has been estimated by General Electric engineers to amount to about two-tenths of one percent of the cost of an average six-room dwelling. With ordinary heavy cable wiring a control system of equal flexibility has figured up to an increase of about 35 percent in the electrical contract for a six-room house The remote-control system has cut that added cost of wiring to 5 to 10 percent.

The safety factor of this push button arrangement is enhanced by a high resistance winding of the transformer used. Even a direct short at the switch on the 24-volt line causes no overloading or fire hazards, according to the engineers.

Trinity Church Holds "Alphabetical" Dinners

Two "alphabetical" dinners were held by Trinity Baptist Church Tuesday and Thursday nights, for members of the congregation whose family name initials are from "A" to "E," and from "F" to "L," respectively Each one present had a name tag as a "get-acquainted" identification. At each meeting, Floyd Burtch presided, and short talks were by George Wingett on the need for religious training, J. H Iams, need for fellowship in the church, F. E. Arthur, financial needs. Mrs. T. O. McClure, spiritual needs, and Dr J B. Holloway, pastor, "The Church Needs You and You Need the Church"

Mrs John Burtch led devotions Tuesday night, and a piano duet was by Mrs. Kenneth Albert and her daughter, Mrs D. H. Brewer. Floyd Burtch sang Family with the largest number present, 100 percent, was the Homer Davis family. A film, "Into All the World," was shown.

A mock radio program was the special feature Thursday night. Completing the congregational rollcall in two more "alphabetical" dinners, those whose initials are "M" to "R" will meet next Tuesday night, R. A. Maxim, in charge, and "S" to "Z," Thursday night, in charge of Fred Smith.

St. Mary P.-T.A. Elects Daniel Gibb

Daniel Gibb was elected president of St. Mary P.-T.A. Tuesday night at Moira Hall. Mrs. H. A. Herfenstein was elected vice president, Mrs. Charles Simonis, secretary; Al Schmidt, treasurer; Kenneth Tobin, auditor; and Mrs. Bernard Moloney, historian. They will be installed in May.

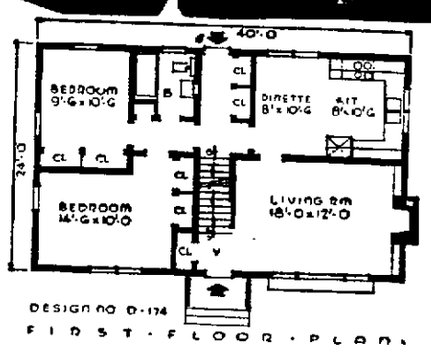

Rev. John Flinn of Maryknoll Mission, Maryknoll, N. Y., was a guest and spoke on the duties and obligations of parents toward their children. Mrs. Paul Fabian announced pre-school clinic will be Tuesday, May 8, for all children who will enter school for the first time next September. A Cake Walk was announced by Charles Osterholt for Thursday night, May 10, at Moira Hall. Lowell Shambaugh announced the picnic for grade school children for June 4 at Garfield Park, in charge of the hospitality committee. For social hour following the meeting, mothers of the 11th, 12th and first grade pupils served as hostesses.

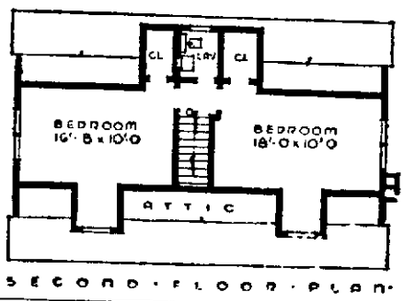

CHORUS TO REHEARSE

An extra rehearsal this week by the Lecture-Recital Club Chorus for the annual spring concert May 3, will be held Tuesday night at Republican Headquarters hall, at 7:30. Regularly scheduled rehearsal will be Thursday night. Tickets for the program, which will be held in the music room of the new State Street School instead of in a theater this year, are in the hands of members, it was announced. A varied program will be presented under direction of Mrs. George Lane, with Mrs. Rosaline Manzo as accompanist. Mrs. Lloyd E. Lutz is chorus president.

Labor Saved in This Building Plan

The Davis has a narrow rectangular plan with a gable room which presents the most economical framing with consequent savings in carpenter labor. Main supports in this plan run through the center allowing use of short lengths.

First floor provides a kitchen-dining room, living room two more bedrooms and bath on second floor. All rooms are well supplied with closets.

Other features include full basement, picture window, fireplace with book shelves, open stairs, linen cabinet and recessed tub.

Exterior finish is siding, asphalt shingles, brick chimney, concrete steps, iron railings, shutter and flower box.

Begin Delivery Of AP News Report By Teletypesetter

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 24 —(AP)— The Associated Press Monday began delivery of its news report by teletypesetter circuit to a group of newspapers in North Carolina and Virginia.

Teletypesetter is an automatic typesetting device. Through the medium of code punched in a tape, an operator in one central location actually operates the typesetting machines in distant newspaper offices.

Teletypesetter equipment has been in use in individual newspaper plants for many years. The Associated Press previously had helped its members set up their own teletypesetter circuits in New York, Illinois, Arkansas, Kansas, Minnesota, New Mexico and Texas. Some of these have been edited by AP men. But today's new circuit is the first ever operated directly by any news service.

SMOKING FIREPLACE

If your fireplace smokes and you know it is properly constructed and has no obstruction in the flue, such as a swallows's nest or fallen brick, hold a board across the top of the opening to see if that corrects it. If so, a permanent metal hood can be installed to reduce the height of the opening.

Virtually all the world's cryolite, used in aluminum manufacture, is mined in Greenland.

Blend-Air

NEWEST, FINEST IN AUTOMATIC CENTRAL HEATING COMFORT

Here's low-cost heating magic that gives amazing even-heat distribution. Individual heat regulation in every room with over-all thermostat control. Pre-engineered and prefabricated, simple and easy to install. Small 3½-inch warm air ducts save up to $100 on installation. Install Blend-Air for a better heated home.

The DUCTS — This simple, small 3½-inch prefabricated pipe fits any construction. A revolutionary new achievement that simplifies installation, reduces its cost. Flexible elbows bend around obstacles easily. Save costly metalwork on the job, speed installation.

The MAGIC BLENDER — Each room has its own individual blender. It receives (through the 3½-inch ducts) the warm air from the furnace. This pulls in room air and blends it with the freshly heated furnace air; circulates the blended air through the room, giving even, moving warmth for healthful comfort.

The WARM AIR FURNACE for Gas or Oil — Here is the powerful modumatic-comfort Coleman furnace that forces warm air through individual ducts leading to each room. Compact, space-saving, a powerful heating plant.

Inspect Blend-Air before you put any heat in your home!

If you have not seen Blend-Air in operation, you cannot know how this new, modern development in the heating industry heats evenly for whole-house warmth. It's backed by Coleman's national reputation for precision manufacture and economy performance. Lowers the cost of installing central heating — puts it within reach of thousands more American home owners!

Donors Needed For Bloodmobile Visit

The monthly visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile unit will be made in Marion Thursday and blood donors for the visit are needed desperately.

To help meet the blood needs of the nation's civilian hospitals, the Red Cross inaugurated its blood program in 1947, establishing fixed regional blood centers with visits by mobile units to neighborhood communities

When Korea became a battleground in June, whole blood and plasma were needed immediately for wounded and hospitalized servicemen. The Red Cross was named the official coordinating agency to provide blood and blood derivatives for the armed services.

Shortly thereafter the Red Cross also was requested to plan and coordinate a program to stockpile plasma for civil defense.

Program Expanded

Consequently, the number of blood donors for centers throughout the nation was greatly increased by the Red Cross. In Marion County the number was stepped up from 140 to 160 donors each day for a two-day period each month, instead of for just one day a month

During the bloodmobile unit's visit to Marion last month, 178 pints of blood were received. During the same period of time a month, 176 pints of blood were used at City Hospital here, all provided by the Red Cross.

Through this record, it is shown that only two pints of blood were made available for the boys in Korea.

In view of this, every able-bodied person between the ages of 18 and 60 in Marion and the county, who also is in good health, is urged to consider doing their share in this worthwhile cause and donate a pint of blood when the bloodmobile unit visits Marion this week.

Headquarters for the visit Thursday will be as usual at the First Presbyterian Church. Also scheduled to be in Marion on Friday the unit will visit the Marion Power Shovel Co. where employes will be donors.

For appointments, to give blood as donors, persons are asked to call the Red Cross office, 2-1653

Fined for Leaving Accident Scene

Robert L Parmer, 25, of near Waldo was fined $200 and costs when he pleaded guilty in Municipal Court yesterday to the charge of leaving the scene of an accident. His driving rights were also suspended for three years

Parmer admitted he was the driver of a car which struck two other parked cars early Sunday morning. Both cars were damaged and Parmer has agreed to pay the damages to the autos, police reported.

He was arrested after one of his license plates was found at the scene of one of the accidents He was taken to the county jail pending payment of the fine.

Claridon Music Students Win High Ratings

Claridon School sent a brass quartet, clarinet quartet and a baritone soloist to the state solo and ensemble finals held at Ohio Wesleyan Saturday. The brass quartet, composed of Diane Irey, Marilee Johnston, Dick Lawrence and Charles Loyer, received a rating of one, the highest rating possible.

The clarinet ensemble was composed of Joe Earl, Marilyn Howser Mary Cramer and Carol Lush, and received a rating of two The baritone solo by Barbara Barnside, accompanied by Jane Haley, received a three rating

Previous to the state finals, all the groups received a one rating at the district solo and ensemble contest held at Fremont March 31. Robert I. Paxton is musical instructor at the school.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

ACTH, Cortisone, Open New Field of Research

The new preparations, ACTH and cortisone, have opened a whole field to medical research. Though most useful, perhaps, in the treatment of arthritis they have also brought dramatic results in a large number of other widely different diseases. Without being cures in the usual sense of the word, they still appear to affect the most fundamental of body processes and thus give hope that they will yet prove the key to many of our most difficult problems.

These preparations are both related to the adrenal glands which are located just over the kidneys Cortisone is one of their secretions and ACTH, though made by a different set of glands, functions chiefly by stimulating the formation of cortisone

Recently both drugs have been used in a variety of skin disorders among them one known as pemphigus vulgaris This is a severe and serious skin disease It causes erosion or loss of tissue from the lining membranes of the mouth and eye and the formation of large blisters over the entire surface of the body Patients with this disorder also suffer from a loss of general health, becoming weakened and emaciated They have fever and also show severe anemia or lessening of the coloring matter of the blood

It has been found that some of these patients may respond for a period of time to treatment with antibiotics, such as aureomycin

Seven such patients were treated with ACTH or cortisone Identical results were obtained with the two preparations. In sufficient doses, it was found that both preparations caused the fever to disappear, brought the patient a feeling of well-being within 24 to 48 hours and, in about one week, stopped formation of blisters After about seven to ten days of treatment, the healing of the blisters was speeded up No reactions to the use of the preparations was noted in any of the cases However, in order to keep the condition under control, it was necessary to employ larger and larger doses of the preparation

All the patients who were treated for several weeks showed a decided gain in weight. It was noted, also, that giving large doses every second to fourth day was more effective than giving daily doses of smaller amounts Five of the seven patients treated were gradually improved, both as to their skin condition and general health.

The effects produced by these preparations were better than those observed with any other form of treatment. Three of the five patients, however, were never completely freed of the condition, and all required continued treatment to prevent relapses.

It would not appear that these preparations affected the basic cause of the disease. Two of the patients succumbed to the condition while under treatment.

Nevertheless, these preparations are extremely valuable Where they bring improvement, it is so marked that patients can leave the hospital earlier to live at home where they can care for themselves. This represents a great saving both in hospital and makes up for the relatively high cost of the drugs themselves

We try to make them all Good Years!

This year the Erie is celebrating its 100th anniversary of the arrival of the first train which officially opened the railroad between Piermont, N. Y., on the Hudson River and Dunkirk, N. Y., on Lake Erie. The original New York and Erie Railroad was the first railroad to link the Great Lakes with the Sea!

We've been building and growing during these 100 years, always trying to do better year after year. The Erie has expanded with America, serving its many communities along 2200 miles of railroad between New York and Chicago. As the Erie has grown and prospered, so have the communities, each contributing to the well being of the other.

For instance, last year the Erie paid out over $77,000,000 in wages to Erie employees in this and other communities. In addition, the vast amount of supplies needed to run the railroad was purchased in many of these same communities, adding to local prosperity.

The fact that the Erie is a large taxpayer is important, too, for the schools and local government benefit by such taxes which are used for upkeep and improvements.

All this results from Erie's prime job of providing safe, dependable transportation—moving the products of industry by bringing in raw materials and shipping finished goods.

Erie's progressive railroading is a definite asset in serving your community—one of the reasons why we want to make every year a good year!

Mr. and Mrs. David Schwartz To Mark Golden Wedding

Celebrating their golden wedding anniversary Wednesday will be Mr. and Mrs. David F. Schwartz of 319 Franklin street. In observance of the occasion, a dinner will be held for close relatives, and open house for neighbors and friends from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. and 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Sunday afternoon and evening.

Lifelong residents of Marion County, both Mr. and Mrs. Schwartz were born and reared in Richland Township. They were united in marriage by Rev. Friedrick Mersfelder of the Zion Methodist Church. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, Pate David and Mary Doebert Seas, on the Columbus and Sandusky road. The farm is now known as the Maple Crest Farm. It has been in the Seas family for more than 100 years.

Mr. Schwartz is the son of the late Charles and Veronica Matthes Schwartz, whose home is better known as the Morris Nursery Farm.

Resided On Farm

Following their marriage, the couple resided on the Schwartz Homestead, and lived there for 22 years, moving to their present address 28 years ago.

Mr. Schwartz is 72, and was born Dec. 31, 1878. Mrs. Schwartz is 70 and was born Oct. 12, 1880.

They are the parents of two daughters, Mrs. Alma Anderson of 319 Franklin street, and Mrs. Meriam Christ, who died in 1936. They have no grandchildren.

Mr. Schwartz suffered a stroke two and one half years ago and has been an invalid since.

Mrs. Schwartz has two sisters and two brothers, who are now living: Mrs. Geneva Flocken, Mrs. Gail Montgomery and C. W. Seas of Marion and Harper Seas, who resides on the Seas Homestead.

Mr. Schwartz has one brother living, Otto Schwartz, who with his wife celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last November.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID F. SCHWARTZ

Before his illness, Mr. Schwartz was employed by the Commercial Steel Co.

P. H. C. Members

Both Mr. and Mrs. Schwartz are members of the Protected Home Circle. Mrs. Schwartz is a member of Harriet Beecher Stowe Tent 48, Daughters of the Union Veterans. She is a past president of this organization and past district president of No. 6 of Daughters of Union Veterans.

Childhood friends of the couple, all members of the St. John Lutheran Church at Windfall, have celebrated their golden wedding anniversaries since November. They are Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schwartz, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Linstedt, and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Gompf.

Love Triumphant

By ADELE GARRISON

We had but three hours to wait before we found out about the "next chapter" in our drama which had the baby waif, "young Peter," as its central figure, and our four boys as the key figures in solving that part of my father's latest and greatest problem which had its locale at their college.

Our journey to the city was so uneventful that it was prosaic, and our entrance to the Lansfield was an everyday procedure, drawing up to the usual door, giving over our hand luggage to the bell boys, turning over the car to the doorman, having the double lock taken off our rooms, and luxuriating finally in the comfort of our spacious hotel suite.

We knew that the armored car had gone to the side entrance of another building on another street, and that my father and the rest were being escorted through the labyrinth of basement rooms beneath the Lansfield and the adjoining building. My father was taking no chances on the safety of young Peter, and when my mother-in-law arrived, her face flushed with excitement, her eyes positively "starry," I realized how her melodrama-loving soul had reveled in the safeguards which had been thrown around everyone in the vicinity of young Peter.

"I never saw anything so perfect, so elaborate as your father's precautions," she said, when Dicky had responded to her knock, and admitted the party, escorted by guards to the very door. Then she stopped to listen to an explanation of my father's absence from the party.

"Mr. Spencer said to tell you," the guard said. "That he would be up presently, and that two of us were to stay outside until he came up. He is in consultation with the manager.

"He asked me to tell you," he went on, "that under no circumstances is anyone to leave this apartment before he comes up here."

The man went out of the room as he spoke, and Dicky closed the door after him.

"Your father must think we're planning to sneak out of here, Margaret," Dicky's mother said indignantly. "He already laid that injunction on us, didn't he, Katharine?"

"He certainly did," Katharine told her smiling, while I hurried to make a place for young Peter among the cushions of the couch.

"But he always issues duplicates of all his commands," she went on soothingly. "He never leaves anything to the 'human element,' as he terms it. That's one secret of his great success. And, of course, he's a bit worried about Mr. Veritzen being absent. He wants to make sure that every detail of his directions has been carried out, and he wants us all together when he comes up here."

"Well!" my mother-in-law said, patently mollified. "He'll have his wish. We're all here, ten of us, you, Katharine, with young Peter, Margaret, Richard, myself, the four boys and Faith. If that isn't a crowd, I never saw one."

"Wouldn't you like to lie down, Mother?" I asked solicitously. "You must be terribly tired after that journey."

She looked at me with protest in her eyes.

"Tired! With all this excitement?" she exclaimed. "I don't know there is such a word. And I warn you, if I go away from this room and lie down, you'll have to use force to take me there."

Farm Plans Approved By Soil Group

Marion County's Board of Soil Conservation Supervisors today announced the approval of conservation farm plans and applications for assistance on 31 Marion County farms.

Farm plans were approved for the farms of Hubert Hoch of Pleasant Township, Ivan Beckel, Joe Cobourn, E. S. Ruehrmund, Harvey and Victor Eichorn, T. W. Temple, Ray Rinehart, Delbert Hickman and Harold Linstedt, all of Richland Township.

Applications for assistance were approved for farms of Clarence Gracely of Big Island Township, Jack Sims of Salt Rock Township, R. D. Kennedy of Big Island Township, Ralph Williams of Grand Township; S. R. Kramp, J. C. Thuma, George Drake, Edward H. Schwemfurth, Charles Bird, Emmett Miller, R. E. Drake, Frank Montgomery, Oscar Beery, R. B. Howison, Arthur Miller, and Guy Roux, all of Montgomery Township; Frank B. Huffman, Earl F. Johnson, Weldon McNeal, Ray Bails and Delmar Twigg of Prospect Township, and James R. and Kenneth Oldham of near Marion.

A request for assistance for wildlife development was approved for the farm of E. S. Ruehrmund.

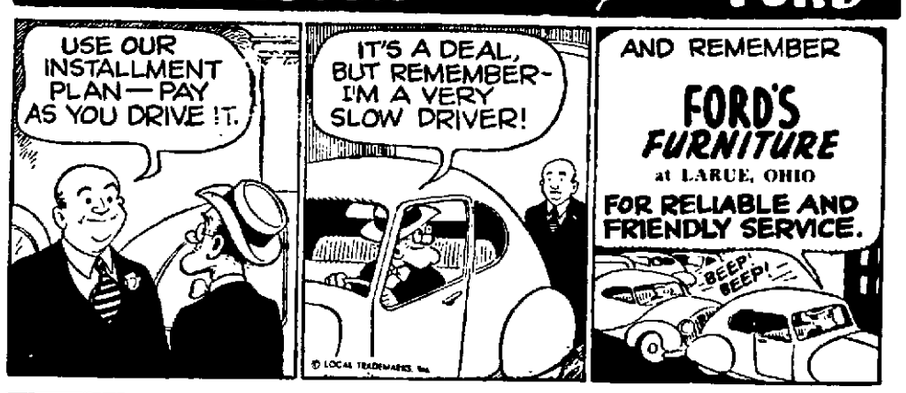

The approval was granted by the supervisors board which is headed by Calvin Baldinger, president; H. H. Beringer, vice president, Clyde Hinamon, secretary.

Also attending the meeting were R. A. Kinmaird, district conservationist from Mt. Gilead; Arthur H. Smith, county agent; and Frank C. Wilson of the U. S. Soil Conservation service.

INHALATOR USED ON BABY

Firemen from Central Fire Station last night answered a call for an inhalator to the home of Lester Cox of 130 Plymouth street. Arriving at 7:35 p.m. they found one and one-half-year old Danny Cox suffering from choking and spasms. Under the direction of an attending physician, firemen successfully administered inhalator treatment for 15 minutes.

HADACOL HELPS MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN

Suffering Stomach Distress, Aches and Pains, Weak, Run-down Conditions and Nervousness When Due To Deficiencies of Vitamins B_1, B_2, Niacin and Iron

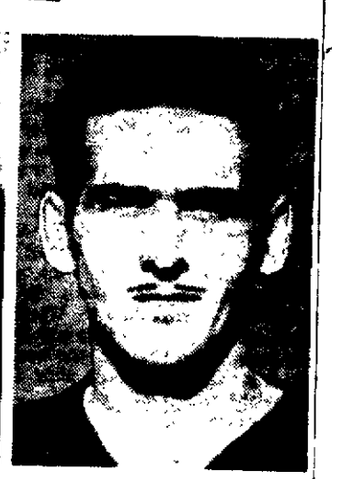

Mrs. Anna Lavergne, Church Point, Louisiana: "You don't know how wonderful it feels to be in such good condition—after feeling run-down. I had a very poor appetite—in fact, food didn't agree with me at all. I had a hard time sleeping nights . . . sometimes I would stay awake until one or two in the morning and then the next day I would feel tired and groggy all day long. You have no idea how terrible I felt. Now all this is gone . . . Yes now that I have been taking HADACOL, I feel wonderful. I get lots of good, sound sleep, have a fine appetite and just lots of energy. I can eat any kind of food now and it doesn't bother me a bit. I just can't begin to thank HADACOL."

F. W. Horton, 108 74th Ave., Houston, Texas, says about his little son: "Lee was very weak and run-down and just didn't want to eat at all. We heard about HADACOL and decided that was what Lee needed. After he started taking HADACOL his appetite picked up right away. He started gaining weight and eats real well now, and has been feeling real good. HADACOL has been good for Lee and I heartily recommend it to everyone."

HADACOL has helped many children suffering weak, run-down conditions when due to deficiencies of Vitamins B_1, B_2, Niacin and Iron. If your child is puny and run-down due to such deficiencies, HADACOL can help. HADACOL is recommended by many doctors.

Richard Krabill, 3118 Murfield Road, Toledo 14, Ohio: "I am an apprentice pharmacist and I go to the University of Toledo. Going to school and working until 9:30 gets pretty tiresome. I was getting tired and run-down keeping pace with all I had to do. Being married and having a family, I am compelled to work after school. I work in a pharmacy here in Toledo. After selling HADACOL here in the store, I decided I'd try it. You have no idea how much it has picked me up. I'm telling you truthfully, HADACOL is the answer to all my tiredness from sitting up late at night doing homework after I come home from work. Already I have won customers on HADACOL. I am 31 and a veteran of World War II."

HADACOL CAN HELP YOU . . .

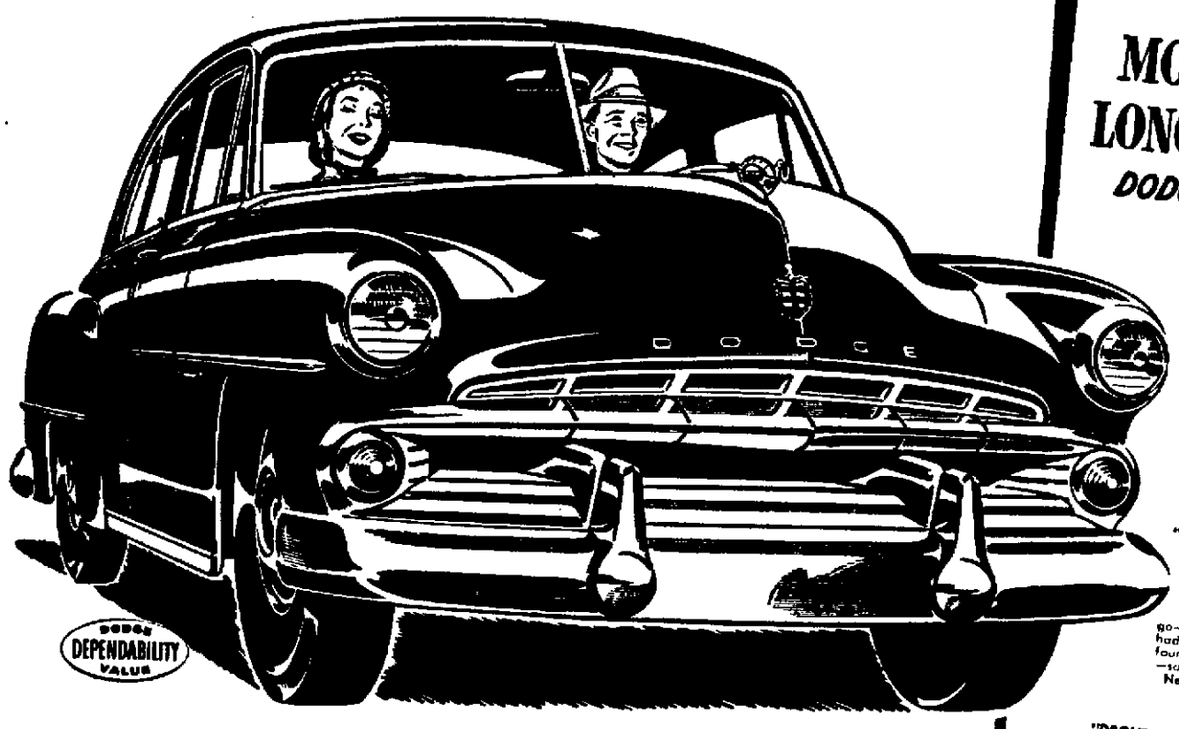

. . . if your system lacks these essential elements, you will be amazed at the wonderful results HADACOL can bring you, as it has to thousands of other fine folks who suffered a deficiency of Vitamins B_1, B_2, Niacin and Iron, which HADACOL contains.

HADACOL is that wonderful new preparation—promising blessed relief for your indigestion, stomach disturbances (gas, heartburn, sour "risings" after meals), as well as that general run-down condition, and annoying aches and pains, if due to a lack of Vitamins B_1, B_2, Iron and Niacin in your system.

Owner after owner . . . Year after year—says

"IT'S DODGE FOR DEPENDABILITY"

You could pay up to $1,000 more and still not get all the extra room, riding comfort and rugged dependability of Dodge

TAKE THE WORD of owners who know Dodge value and dependability from actual experience. "No major repairs in four years' driving" . . . "After driving another make less than a year, I'm back with Dodge again" . . . "Driven my Dodge 150,000 miles and it's still going strong." These are not unusual comments we receive from Dodge owners coast-to-coast.

Dodge dependability starts with a heavy, rugged frame, a "Get-Away" engine "speed-proofed" to resist wear, designed to be a miser on gas. There's a safe, rigid, all-steel body, rubber-mounted to eliminate rattle and squeak.

New Safer, Smoother Ride

Dodge Oriflow Shock Absorbers "float" you over roads that stop other cars, cushion vital chassis parts against road shocks . . . make them last years longer.

And with this traditional Dodge quality of dependability goes extra headroom, leg room, elbow room found in no other car . . . "Watchtower" visibility in every direction. Longer lasting, smooth acting Safe-Guard Hydraulic Brakes make every mile you travel safer, more relaxed.

Come in Today

So take five minutes to check Dodge dependability in long life, in extra comfort and safety, in low-cost maintenance and gas economy. It will be the most profitable five minutes you ever spent.

DODGE OWNERS TESTIFY

"I'VE PUT THE EQUIVALENT OF FOUR YEARS' DRIVING ON MY '50 DODGE!"

"As a salesman, my 1950 Dodge is always on the go. I figure that I have already put the equivalent of four years of average driving on it—without spending any appreciable amount of money for repairs."
—says Harry H. Hurst, Houston, Texas

"NO MAJOR REPAIRS IN 4 YEARS!"

"In my business, I really depend on my car. That's why I'm for Dodge. My Dodge is always ready to go—so dependable. I've had no major repairs in four years' driving."
—says Mitchell M. Frank, New Hyde Park, N.Y.

"DROVE MY 1937 DODGE 150,000 MILES!"

"Mine is a 1937 Dodge—and it's still going strong! It has already covered more than 150,000 honest, dependable miles. No wonder people say, it's Dodge for dependability."
—says Mrs. Noble Swither, Chicago, Ill.

"MY 1948 DODGE STILL LIKE NEW!"

"My work calls for thousands of miles of driving a year, yet my pep and feel Outside of regular servicing, it has yet to see the inside of a repair shop."
—says George Kieffer, St. Louis, Mo.

"NOW DRIVING MY FIFTH DODGE!"

"My big 1951 Dodge is more than living up to the Dodge reputation for dependability, ruggedness and low cost of maintenance. It's the fifth dependable Dodge I've owned."
—says Geo. A. Hughes, Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich.

Give Over or Give Up

THE hefty push toward collapse given the Labor government by Aneurin Bevan's resignation is inflating hopes both in Britain and here in the United States.

The hopes would be punctured if it turned out that Bevan had shrewdly estimated the British political situation.

That would mean the downfall of the Labor party's moderate Socialist leadership headed by Clement Attlee. It would mean the rise of left-wing Socialist leadership by Bevan, himself—and British and U. S. conservatives might have trouble seeing the difference between Bevanism and communism.

In any event, the Bevan resignation was prompted by mistrust of British military spending under U. S. domination, which should interest those Americans who think Britain is doing the dominating. And the resignation is understandable because of a basic condition in giveaway government.

That is the condition of gratitude. Either the government must give over or give up. Attlee's government is taking the attitude that military security is more important than handouts. Bevan is taking the attitude that the handouts come first. If he is right—if Attlee's ministry falls and Bevan has a chance to pick up the pieces—there will be no more blood, toil, sweat and tears in Britain. There will be free eyeglasses, free dentures and free wigs, instead. The end of self-reliance will be in sight for the British Lion.

Postponement Preferred

MAJ. GEN. LEWIS B. HERSHEY, director of selective service, is trying to undo some of the confusion caused when people jumped at conclusions about the draft deferment plan for collective students.

He is pointing out that deferment does not mean exemption; that making it possible for the most capable students to continue to get an education at their own expense is only a postponement of their military service.

While it is possible that in some cases they might be used later as specialists not as combat soldiers, that would not be unprecedented. Many highly trained men are valued for special skill more than they are valued for service in the ranks.

Furthermore, if a precedent for postponement of service for young men capable of receiving education is needed it could be found in the postponement of service for those unable to learn. If it is all right to defer the dumb, in other words, what is wrong with showing consideration for men bright enough to learn and whose families are willing to pay for their education?

Available for Advice

ONE result of Gen. MacArthur's homecoming which will loom larger when the emotional wave has subsided is to make available to Congress a qualified expert for advice on Asiatic problems.

For example Congress has had great difficulty discovering reasons why it should or could authorize the export of 2,000,000 tons of food grains to India.

Members of Congress opposed to this transfer of food to an Asiatic country have seen no great merit in the argument that India's ability to pull itself through a crisis in its early days of independence depends heavily on its new government's success in averting famine.

Yet Gen. MacArthur left no room for doubt in his speech to the joint houses of Congress that he believes ideologies are unimportant in Asia—that empty bellies are the source of trouble. He wants the United States to help Asiatic peoples emerge from colonial status without falling victim of the Communists who are waiting to enslave them.

It might be a good idea to get Gen. MacArthur's views on whether or not it would be worthwhile to help India avert famine and on what terms.

When the Bloom Is Off the Rose

POSSIBLY the most valuable lesson taught by the Kefauver hearings is that bad government thrives on neglect.

One characteristic of bad government which is not related in any way to hoodlumism but is closely related to neglect is extravagant spending.

When legislatures convene, everybody talks about economy. Possibilities of saving money are given close attention. There is no neglect.

But as time wears on, the economizers become interested in other things; some of the pet projects of other would-be economizers.

The next thing you know, the very people who were talking about saving money are getting ready to spend even more money than was recommended by the President, the governor, or whatever spendthrift it was who proposed a budget.

This always happens. It is happening now. The cheapskates are beginning to assert themselves as the economizers become interested in other things. The odds against saving any money have been opened from 10 to 1 to 100 to 1.

Joint Chiefs on Spot

By David Lawrence

Discrepancy in MacArthur Controversy

WASHINGTON

IT'S A NEW experience and a very uncomfortable one for the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff to be dragged into the center of a bitter political controversy.

There is, moreover, a serious discrepancy between what the White House has been saying officially—as to the "unanimous recommendations" of the Joint Chiefs in the MacArthur case—and what actually happened.

The first chapter—the initiative—in the controversy was the Administration's sanction of a speech by General Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, last Wednesday in Chicago. This was the day before General MacArthur was due to present his case to a joint meeting of Congress. The big headline in the Wednesday afternoon local papers was "Gen. Bradley Blasts MacArthur's Views." The explanation offered for this advance rebuttal was that General Bradley had for a long time scheduled the engagement and had to deliver the speech. The General could as readily have talked about universal military training or something else unrelated to the MacArthur episode.

LAWRENCE

But once the chairman of the Joint Chiefs spoke out it was natural that General MacArthur in his Thursday address should reveal that his own military recommendations had in the past been approved by the Joint Chiefs.

NOT CONTENT with one blunder, the Administration then went from the frying pan into the fire with another statement. This one, while issued at the Pentagon, was actually directed by the White House. It came immediately after General MacArthur's speech to Congress on Thursday and the full text of it reads as follows:

"In response to inquiries from the press concerning General MacArthur's reference to the Joint Chiefs of Staff, a Pentagon spokesman said the White House had authorized him to state that the action taken by the President in relieving General MacArthur was based upon the unanimous recommendations of the President's principal civilian and military advisers including the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The reasons for General MacArthur's relief have been stated previously by the President."

Now the foregoing gives the impression that MacArthur's reference to the Joint Chiefs of Staff in his address to Congress had to do with his removal. Not a word of his address had any reference to that point. He merely outlined his own military recommendations about the prosecution of the war in Korea and stated that the Joint Chiefs had supported his proposals.

THIS LATTER POINT, therefore, the White House in its statement did not deny at all though a local paper headlined its front-page article: "MacArthur Says Joint Chiefs Shared His Views But Pentagon Declares They Favored Ouster."

This was natural in view of the misleading official statement. For the White House declaration that the Joint Chiefs had unanimously recommended the President's action is a half truth.

The facts are these:

1. There was no meeting of the Joint Chiefs and no action of a formal nature taken by the Joint Chiefs.

2. There was a meeting in which civilians and military men met with the President who asked their views about the controversy and they generally felt that since Mr. Truman and General MacArthur differed in foreign policy there should be a replacement.

3. The timing of the replacement and the method of making the replacement was not agreed upon, this being left to the President to decide.

4. Some of those present at the meeting had their first news of what the President finally decided when they read the newspapers on Wednesday morning, April 18.

5. Not a single recommendation of a formal nature is in the record to show that the Joint Chiefs took cognizance of any military insubordination or preferred any such charge against General MacArthur. Yet members of Congress have been saying so in a chorus for several days just as if General MacArthur, after 52 years of military service, did not know what was and was not a military order or instruction.

6. General MacArthur's summary dismissal was not recommended by any military man since it meant he was instantly relieved and not only could not say farewell to his troops but had no opportunity to turn over the complicated affairs of his command to a successor.

7. Not a single piece of evidence exists that General MacArthur failed to carry out the policies of the President and the Department of State in his post as Supreme Allied Commander in Japan. Though it wasn't necessary to relieve him of this command when General Ridgway was given command of U.N. operations in Korea, the President swept General MacArthur from all three of his posts and gave the impression that this action was based on the "unanimous recommendation" of the Joint Chiefs.

Small wonder that America is disunited. For, when military men are compelled to become the scapegoats in petty political blunders, respect for institutions of military importance can hardly be enhanced.

And They Fired MacArthur!

Generals Agree on Containment

By Walter Lippmann

IF, AS THE earlier reports indicate, the expected Communist offensive has now begun, it is reassuring to find that Gen. MacArthur's view of the outcome is in agreement with that of the Pentagon. They are agreed in thinking that the offensive can be contained in the central region of Korea.

"We could hold in Korea," said Gen. MacArthur only last week in his address to Congress, "by constant maneuver and at an approximate area where our supply line advantages were in balance with the supply line disadvantage of the enemy . . ."

LIPPMANN

There is agreement also, we may be sure, with his view that though the offensive can be contained we can "hope at best for only an indecisive campaign with its horrible and constant attrition upon our forces if the enemy utilized his full military potential."

THE DISAGREEMENT begins only after the general and the Pentagon have agreed that while we can defeat the offensive, we cannot by limited war obtain a military victory. The Pentagon, as Gen. Bradley has made clear, prefers a military stalemate to the risks of seeking victory by removing the limitations on the war. General MacArthur prefers the risk of an unlimited war to an indecisive campaign of attrition.

The disagreement is not, therefore, about the battle which is now being fought, assuming, of course, that the Soviet government does not intervene directly or indirectly in far greater force than it has thus far. All are agreed in believing that the present battle will be a defensive success, but that it can be no more than that.

The generals could all be mistaken but, if they are mistaken, all the generals will be mistaken together. There is no dispute among them about the present battle. All of them in a position of command, the joint chiefs, Gen. MacArthur, Gen. Ridgway and Gen. Van Fleet, are publicly on record that our main position in central Korea can be held and the offensive stopped and that this can be done—unless the enemy is heavily reinforced by the Soviets—without taking the controversial measures which would expand the war beyond Korea.

THE STORY BY Anthony Leviero of the New York Times about what happened at the Wake Island conference on Oct. 15 is an extraordinary disclosure—all the more extraordinary because of what it reveals about the attitude of the President, who must have approved giving Mr. Leviero access to the highly classified documents. Its extraordinary disclosure, I submit, is that the President thinks he can hold Gen. MacArthur responsible for our being surprised by the Chinese intervention in Korea.

Mr. Leviero's story says "President Truman, as the 10 conferees sat in the aviation hut, asked Gen. MacArthur about the possibilities of Chinese or Russian intervention. Gen MacArthur said he saw little chance of this." The serious aspect of this is not that Gen. MacArthur was mistaken in his judgment about the intention of two foreign powers. The serious thing is that the President relied on the judgment of the general in a matter which belongs squarely within the responsibility of the Department of State.

IT WAS SECRETARY Acheson who was responsible for advising the President as to the intentions of China. It was Secretary Acheson who had daily contact with all the diplomats and with all the information services of this and the other governments that had any access to Peiping and to Moscow.

At Wake Island the President should not have been the one who asked Gen. MacArthur to decide whether China would intervene. He should have been the one who told Gen. MacArthur what his and his secretary of state's judgment was on this critical point.

Gen. MacArthur's account on the matter is very interesting indeed. It was in the statement given out for him by his military secretary, Gen. Whitney, on Saturday: "The question was basically a political one, involving decisions made in Peiping and quite beyond the reach of Gen. MacArthur's field intelligence . . . As far as I know neither the State Department nor higher intelligence agencies of the government had the slightest evidence to warn of such a decision. Certainly no such warnings were given to MacArthur. To the contrary, all appeared to discount the possibility of such intervention at that stage."

IF THIS CHARGE can be sustained in the coming investigation, it will throw much light on the crack-up. For it will show how the President and his secretary of state encouraged, indeed invited, Gen. MacArthur to assume responsibilities which, though not his responsibilities but their responsibilities, they were failing to meet.

The investigation will also make clear that if at Wake Island in October the question of Chinese intervention was "basically a political one and quite beyond the reach of Gen. MacArthur's field intelligence," then today the question of Soviet intervention and whether the general's recommendations to Congress would bring on World War III is also "basically a political one and quite beyond the reach of Gen. MacArthur's field intelligence."

A Detail of Education

By TRUMAN TWILL

A FEW million volunteers are bubbling with unsolicited ideas for wising up Douglas MacArthur's 13-year-old son. They can hardly wait to tell him what a great country he has been missing by living in Asia.

But fortunately, his father and mother know what they are doing. They know there is plenty of time for their son to learn all about America. In the meantime he has been learning something equally important.

It is too bad a lot of American boys and maybe girls, too, cannot hear this lad talk about some of the things he did not miss by living in Asia all his life up to now. That's the one thing American children know least about—the fact there are other children who do not know about America because it never seemed important to them.

A child does not have to be born abroad and grow up without seeing his native land to know this, though that is the best way to find out. There are other ways, though, which might be called reasonable substitutes.

As a student, I once had the educational privilege of sharing a laboratory unit in a chemistry course with a Chinese who was acquiring education in this country and providing more than he was acquiring. After a couple of months alongside that Asiatic operator, Fu Manchu looked like a case of arrested development.

In the same campus setting there was a high-caste Indian picking up knowledge in this country on some kind of a lend-lease arrangement. Fellow by the first name of George. Wore a turban, and it never occurred to anyone to think that was funny, either. The turban belonged on George. He was a pace-setter in more ways than one, but chiefly in the elusive art of practicing human dignity as a matter of right, instead of presumption.

Then there was a fellow from Chile who made it sound so good it's one of the few places I'd like to live. And assorted Europeans who knew how to speak English better than most Americans ever learn to speak it. And some Japanese who had more ambition in their little fingers than many Americans have in their whole bodies. And of course some English—the kind whose breadth of knowledge and experience makes most Americans feel as though they had never finished the eighth grade.

Patriotism is a wonderful force for good when its eyes are open—a potential menace when it's blind. Young Arthur MacArthur, seeing the United States for the first time in his whole life, is more to be envied than pitied by the American children of his generation. Most of them will be grown up before they see any other country, if they ever do. Their ability to comprehend a world in which Americans are only one handful of human beings, even though they may be the best, will never catch up to his, because he knows what they can only guess—what it is like to live outside America.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

It's a Different April

One hundred and seventy-six years ago this month Paul Revere made his famous midnight ride and we can't help wondering what he would be up against if he tried it today. There's a spur shortage, saddles are hard to get, any horse that can raise a gallop is in the racing entries somewhere, and a man around the waterfront impatiently demonstrating a heavy stride is pretty sure to get into plenty of trouble. He could never get away with a simple 'Shush! One if by land, two if by sea!' Somebody would call a cop with the resultant dialogue:

PHILLIPS

"Whatcha doin' here, buddy?"

"Me? Just watchin'."

"For what?"

"Movements by land or sea."

"Expect n' any?"

"Sort of."

"What kind of movements?"

"I'll take anything. Excuse me, please. I've got to gaze at the landscape far and near, be impetuous, pat my horse's side, etcetera, etcetera."

"What's the idea of the horse, bub?"

"You can't have a hurry of hoofs in a village street without a horse, my friend."

"W'se guy, eh? Listen, I don't like the looks of this. Are you workin' alone?"

"No. I have a friend who through alley and street wanders and watches with eager ears. Pardon me a moment."

"What for?"

"I have to pat my horse's side, stamp the earth and tighten the saddle girth. Remember?"

* * *

"What're you starin' at?"

"I'm watching with eager search."

"For what?"

"A glimmer. You haven't noticed a glimmer around here tonight, have you? . . . a glimmer and gleam of light?"

"So you're one of them guys that watches for glimmers, eh?"

"I certainly am. And it's most important work. This country would be better off if it had more glimmer searchers."

"Oh yeah! Where's your glimmer searchers' license?"

"Do I need a license to hunt glimmers?"

"Yeah. And let's see your social security, draft card, old-age-pension papers, horse license, jockey license, unemployment relief record and income tax receipts."

"One side! I see the lanterns! The fate of the nation is riding this night! Beneath from the pebbles there must be a spark struck out by a steed flying fearless and fleet to kindle a land it to flame with its heat. Coming, Mystic! Coming, Medford!"

"I thought so. A firebug! PULL THAT HORSE OVER TO THE CURB! And gimme no lip!"

News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO—It was Thursday, April 24, 1941.

Remnants of the British Expeditionary Force were embarking from Thermopylae in southern Greece under bombing by Nazi Stuka dive-bombers as the fall of Athens became a matter of hours.

A bill to issue $20,000,000 worth of bonds for improvement of the state's overcrowded welfare institutions was submitted to the Ohio Senate.

Mrs. Leona Van Buren, 30, suffered first and second degree burns from the head to the knees when a kerosene cook stove she was lighting exploded in the kitchen of her farm home on the Galion-Mt. Gilead road.

Since installation in August, 1940, city parking meters had collected 160,108 nickles or $8,005.40, City Auditor Elmer Shaw reported.

Plans for a dinner meeting May 14 were made at a meeting of Canby Pythian Sisters.

TWENTY YEARS AGO—It was Friday, April 24, 1931.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Jacobs of Blaine avenue returned from a visit in Topeka, Kans. and Los Angeles, Calif.

Harding High School musicians won second place in the annual Northwestern Ohio Eisteddfod for Class A high schools held at Lima. Bucyrus was winner.

Mrs. James Berry was hostess to the Pandora Club at her home on North Seffner avenue.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Noah Carpenter of Scranton avenue.

Will Rogers in his daily column observed: "See where the king of Spain has gone over to England to make arrangements to live with his wife's people. Royalty is human after all."

Those studying arithmetic in the schools were but little classified, and they were, therefore, generally called forward singly and interviewed, or the teacher would visit them in their seats. A lesson, comprising several "sums," would be given for the next day to those in classes, while others would press forward without any regard to quantity. Whenever the learner came to a 'sum he couldn't do', he would go to the teacher with it, and the teacher would do it for him.

Jazz Not Favorite

TEL AVIV—(AP)—"What surprises me most in this country is that nobody seems to care for jazz," Larry Adler, famed harmonica player, said here.

At the end of each concert here, which ranges from Bach to Stravinsky, Adler usually asks his audience what else they would like ot hear. Jazz music, he says, is generally a favorite. But not in Israel.

People here, he said, ask for Mozart, Brahms, Schubert Tschaikowsky and for "Bab el Wad," a soldier's song from the Arab-Jewish War.

Biblical Site To Be Spa

TEL AVIV—(AP)—Tiberias, on the western shores of the Sea of Galilee, is to be developed into a winter spa and a health resort. It is learned. Plans submitted by the Tiberias Municipality stress that the Biblical and historic sites in the area shall be protected. Tiberias lies 682 feet below sea level. It has hot springs with good anti-rheumatic effects.

Veterans and Draftees Guide —

—By—

Major Thomas M. Nial

I CAN ANSWER most spot questions about the draft, but I'm not in touch with your own local board. I don't know about your particular board's manpower situation and I don't know how it is interpreting Selective Service regulations.

The man to take your tough draft problems to is you government appeal agent. Maybe you never knew he existed Each draft board has one. He's not a member of the board but an agent appointed by the President on the recommendation of your state governor.

You can get his name and address from your local board. Part of his job is to give you free legal advice on draft matters

For example, if you think your board gave you a raw deal in not deferring you, your Government Appeal Agent can explain the law, regulations and other bases of the board's decision. If he, too, thinks you may have had a raw deal, he can appeal your case.

As you know, you yourself have the right to appeal within 10 days after your Notice of Classification card (SSS Form No. 110) is mailed After that 10-day period is over you no longer can file an appeal, but your Government Agent can do so for you right up to the time your Order to Report for Induction, the famous "Greeting," is mailed.

HE MUST BELIEVE, however, that an injustice may have been done in your case.

Part of his job is also to look after the government's interests Suppose, for example, a local board gives Sam Smith an occupational deferment, and the Government Appeal Agent thinks favoritism may have been shown, that Sam really should not be deferred He can appeal the case

He just writes a letter to the board stating he wants to appeal The board sends Sam's file, appeal letter and all, off to the state appeal board, which makes a decision based on what it finds in the record

Suppose the local board does not give Jim Jackson a deferment, but the government appeal agent thinks Jim is in very essential work and it would be to the nation's interest to have him stay home on the job. The agent may appeal that case even without Jim asking him to do it.

LIKE THE MEMBERS of the draft board, the government appeal agent gets no pay. Draft regs say he shall, whenever possible, be someone with legal training and experience. Most, but not all, are lawyers who act as appeal agents on the side. They get a big certificate signed by General Hershey to hang in their offices.

One interesting qualification for government appeal agents is that they must not be members of the armed forces or even of the reserves. Draft board members must meet the same qualification.

The agent is supposed to attend meetings of the local board if the board wants him there. He may be called on to advise the board and interpret the law and regulations for it since not all board members are lawyers.

7 Nazis Lose Last Bid To Beat Gallows

WASHINGTON, April 24—(AP)—The seven Nazis sentenced to death in Germany for concentration camp atrocities lost their bid yesterday for a Supreme Court hearing

The high tribunal's refusal to review their case presumably clears the way for military authorities to carry out the executions.

The seven include former SS officers and concentration camp officials, accused of murdering thousands of civilians during World War II.

The court's decision not to grant the men a hearing was reached by a vote of 6 to 2. Justices Black and Douglas favored reviewing the case. Justice Jackson took no part in consideration of the appeal Jackson at one time served as chief U. S. prosecutor at the trial of top Nazi leaders at Nuernberg, Germany.

The seven originally were ordered to go to the gallows last February.

In other actions yesterday the high tribunal:

1. Ruled 8 to 1 that states with compulsory automobile insurance laws can force insurance companies to issue policies to "bad risk" motorists who otherwise would be ineligible.

2. Decided unanimously that G.I. insurance may be paid to a brother by adoption of the policy holder.

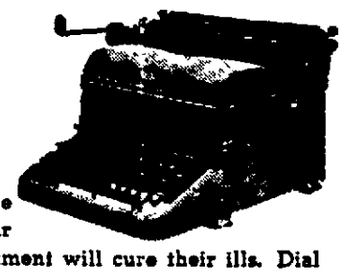

3. Held unanimously that a toy pig patented by a Chicagoan as a device to encourage junior to eat his cereal was not really an invention and that another firm could not have infringed the patent by putting out a similar device in the form of a toy puppy.

FINED AT BUCYRUS

BUCYRUS — Two motorists were fined here at arraignments before Mayor Frank P. Sitler. Charles R. Haycook of Bucyrus pleaded guilty to a charge of drunken driving and was fined $100 and costs. He was arrested Friday night Irvin Ludwig was fined $10 and costs when he entered a guilty plea to an unsafe driving charge filed against him by state highway patrolmen. Ludwig was involved in an accident near here March 29. He had been confined to City Hospital since the accident and was released Friday. His wife, Aline, still is confined to the hospital with fractures of the left leg and right arm.

MR. AND MRS. BEN WILLIAMS of near Marion are announcing the engagements and date for the double wedding of their daughters, Marceline and Clara. Miss Marceline Williams is the fiancee of Howard Smith, son of Councilman and Mrs. Harold Smith of 396 Park street. Fiance of Miss Clara Williams is Harold Block, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Block of 497 Evans road.

The brides-elect and their fiances have chosen Sunday, July 22, as the date for their double wedding. The ceremony will take place in the Grand Prairie Baptist Church and the custom of open church will be observed.

First of pre-nuptial courtesies planned to honor Miss Joyce Snyder, a bride-elect of Sunday, was a linen shower Wednesday evening at the Carlton Cook home on Harding Highway west. Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Vincent Martin were the hostesses. The wedding of Miss Snyder and L. Gene Roberts will take place in Emanuel Lutheran Church.

Prizes won in games were presented the honor guest, and her shower gifts were found through the ringing of an alarm clock which revealed them to be hidden in a large piece of luggage, with the names, "Joy and Gene" inscribed on the side. Decorations were in pink and lilac, the bride's chosen colors. Centering the refreshment table was a large silver bowl of sweet peas, and silver candelabra.

Present were, besides the hostesses and honor guest, Mrs. E. F. Weiser, Mrs. Mary Ellen Withrow, Misses Iris Tennant, Patricia Curl, Marlene Jolliff, Dorothy Gail Stephenson, Dolores Miller, and Juanita Cogan, and Mrs. Lillian Snyder, and Mrs. Gerald Roberts, mothers of the bride-elect and of her fiance, respectively. Guests unable to attend but who sent gifts, included Mrs. Rhea Anthony and Misses Mary Lou Cunningham, and Emma Bishop.

A pantry shower was held Friday night at Ringers Inn by Miss Emma Bishop in honor of Miss Snyder. Contest awards were made to Miss Iris Tennant, Mrs. G. N. Roberts and Mrs. Carlton Cook.

Guests were Miss Cogan, Mrs. Cook, Mrs. Martin, Miss Tennant, Miss Miller, Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. Snyder.

In honor of Mrs. Jack Johnston, who is moving to London, O., in the near future, Mrs W. M. Warner entertained a group of neighbors at her home at 279 Thew avenue Thursday afternoon for a 1 o'clock luncheon. In contests, Mrs. Russel Nickol and Mrs. Roland Augenstein won honors. Mrs. Johnston was presented a gift by the group composed of Mrs. Earl Hulce, Mrs. Max Roseberry, Mrs. Ernest King, Mrs. Augenstein, Mrs Francis Warner and the hostess.

Mrs. Freda Pickering of 203 North State street entertained the F. C. Club Thursday afternoon at her home. The mystery prize was was awarded to Mrs. Lorena Hoptry, and game prizes were presented to Mrs. Mona George, Mrs. Eileen Alexander, Mrs. Hoptry and Mrs. William Graff. Special prizes were given to Mrs. George and Mrs. Graff. A Mother's Day exchange will be held at the next meeting with Mrs. Eileen Alexander of 345 Monroe street May 3.

Urge Advance Purchase Of Tickets To Circus May 5

The advance purchase of tickets for the Mills Bros. Circus, scheduled to appear here Saturday, May 5, was urged today by Mrs. David Pollak, who is serving as general chairman of the project for the Junior Women's Hospital Board, the sponsoring organization.

Funds realized from the circus showing here will be used by the Board to carry on its work in the pediatrics ward at Marion City Hospital.

From the advance ticket sale, the sponsoring group receives 50 percent of the adult ticket proceeds, while from show day sales, the Junior Women's Board will receive only ten percent. There is no advance in prices for tickets obtained now and they are available from all Junior Women's Board members, Mrs. Pollak announced.

Building Up Fund

In addition to providing equipment for the pediatrics ward in the present hospital, the board also is building up a fund with which to assist in furnishing various items for a like ward in the planned new hospital.

On show day, in cooperation with business establishments and individuals in Marion, the Board will make it possible for needy youngsters of the area to attend the circus matinee as guests. Various persons, Mrs. Pollak has reported, are helping the Board to see that every boy and girl who otherwise could not afford to attend a circus this year, attends the circus free.

Tickets have been placed in a number of business establishments in the downtown area, and during the week preceding the show, members of the Junior Woman's Board will visit each of the schools to sell tickets to the children.

Two Performances

The 1951 edition of the Mills Bros. three-ring circus will be presented in two performances at the Crystal Lake show grounds. Described as the world's largest motorized circus, the Mills Bros. Circus is in its 12th anniversary season and its tour this year will cover 15 states. Included in the show will be a menagerie, elephants, clowns, wire walkers, trapeze artists and dancing horses.

Final plans for the parade will be made at a meeting to be held Thursday, May 3.

Miss Holler And Frederick Goare To Be Married

ANNOUNCEMENT is being made of the approaching marriage of Miss Dorothy Holler, daughter of Mrs. Pauline Holler of 899 Oak Grove avenue, this city, and Frederick D. Goare, son of Mrs. Bertha Goare of Mt. Gilead.

Miss Holler was graduated from Claridon High School with the class of 1946 and also is a graduate of Marion School of Cosmetology. She is manager of Reed's Beauty Salon in Mt. Gilead.

Mr. Goare is a graduate of Chesterville High School with the class of 1944. After serving two years with the Army Air Forces, he attended Ohio State University and completed three years of study there. He was teacher of mathematics and also coached athletics in the high school at Edison for three years. Now he is employed with the Hydraulic Press Mfg. Co. in Mt. Gilead.

The wedding will be an event of June.

Richard Acker Elected President Of Dance Club

LIGHTED barn lamps, saddles, straw and farm tools created an appropriate atmosphere for a "barn dance" held by members of the Twenty-Thirty Dance Club Saturday night in the Eagles Hall. Adding to the affair was the attire of the dancers, members going in overalls, jeans and plaid shirts. Serving as caller for the various dances was Mrs. Cecil Gabler.

In a business session, election of officers for the new year was held, conducted by William Cowles, retiring president. Richard Acker was elected president of the dance club for the new year, John Wilmes, vice president, Mrs. Richard Garfield, secretary and treasurer, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard McCurdy and Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, members of the board of directors. Named automatically to the board are the officers of the past year and their wives or husbands. These include Mr. and Mrs. William Cowles and Mr. and Mrs. George Sakel.

Guests for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. J. Glasgow, Miss Ruth Ann Abel and Obie Gearhiser.

Serving as hosts and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Gene Martin, chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Glasgow and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Moore.

The club's final dance of the season will be a semi-formal affair May 19 at the Eagles Hall. It will be free guest night.

FORECAST FOR APRIL 25 TO 29

Marion Man Takes Bride in Newport

Announcement is being made here of the marriage of Miss Alice Eileen McCauley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William P. McCauley of Newport, R. I., and Robert Eugene Dickason, interior communications electrician 3/c, U. S. Navy. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Dickason of 541 Avondale avenue.

The wedding took place Saturday, April 14, in Rhode Island and the couple spent last week here visiting his parents. The ceremony was performed at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon in the United States Naval Hospital Chapel at Newport, R. I., by Chaplain Robert Q. Jones, U. S. Navy.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her cousin, Miss Rose Spink. Miss Joan Ducharme and Miss Eleanor Augustus were bridesmaids, and Miss Jacqueline McCauley, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. Sandra Long and Silvia Ducharme were flower girls and Ronald Young was ringbearer.

J. Lee Ashworth, U. S. Navy, served as best man for the bridegroom.

The bride wore a lace trimmed gown of white taffeta and her fingertip length veil fell from a halo trimmed with orange blossoms. She carried a white prayer book topped with calla lilies and sweet peas.

A reception in the Fleet Reserve Association auditorium followed the ceremony. The couple will make their home at 60 Sims street in Newport.

Mrs. Dickason is a graduate of Rogers High School in Newport. Mr. Dickason, a graduate of Harding High School in 1948, is attached to the U. S. S. Warrington. They left Marion Sunday, with Navyman Dickason scheduled to be back at the Naval Base Tuesday.

Personal Mention

Dr. and Mrs. John E. Rush of 131½ North State street are moving this week to Claridon to make their home. Dr. Rush is retiring after 30 years' practice of chiropody.

MONNETT CLUB MEETS

Mrs. Geneva Martin of Monnett entertained the Monnett Birthday Club at her home Wednesday. Eight members were present and Mrs. Ilene Young was welcomed as a new member. A pot-luck dinner was served. The time was spent sewing carpet rags and making button-holes for the hostess. Recipient of a hostess prize was Mrs. Young and Mrs. Martin received the contest prize. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Violet Rowlinson of near Monnett, May 16.

Cioppino

By Inez Robb

SAN FRANCISCO

MAYBE A gourmet eats better in Paris and New Orleans than in San Francisco. I dunno and I don't want to argue on a full stomach.

All I know is that if I gain another pound, I shall be soldering gussets into my two-way stretch.

Pick any hill in the city limits—Nob, Telegraph or Twin Peaks—roll in any direction and you are certain to fetch up at the threshold of a restaurant of superior quality, be it French, Armenian, Mexican, Greek, Italian or steak house a la U. S. A.

Inez Robb

The Armenians, for instance, are never going to be run down - trodden minority as long as George Mardikian wrestles the pots and pans of Omar Khayyam's. And having tested George's menu over the years, I doubt they ever were.

As for fish houses -- law me? On Fisherman's Wharf, a man can be into such West Coast delicacies as minute shrimp (a hundred or so to the cocktail), oysters no bigger than a nickel (and you know what's happened to the nickel recently), abalone steak and sweet, big West Coast crab, which are the size and heft of the average Maine lobster.

WHEN I WALK OUT on the wharf and see the same big, old black cauldrons where crabs are cooking as usual, I always feel better about the world situation. There are the same sidewalk counters, piled high with the cooked beauties, pale coral on top and pale yellow underneath.

The housewife can always carry home a crab — big enough to make a meal for two persons — for from fifty to seventy-five cents. It's like giving away diamonds at 50 cents a carat.

Just beyond the counters and the cauldrons, the fish houses and the hungry tourists, the fishing fleet at night lays snug against the piers. From that fishing fleet seventy-five or eighty years ago grew the one inimitable native dish which is the pride of San Francisco.

IT IS CIOPPINO. San Francisco's answer to the bouillabaise of Marseilles, and is the outgrowth of the fish stew that Sicilian sailors who came to California decades ago, first cooked over little charcoal stoves on their fishing vessels in the gold rush days.

Not even Mrs. Murphy's chowder, reinforced by overalls, is a more delicious, rugged, life-giving substance than cioppino. It should never be eaten without an all-encompassing bib, for cioppino fans—and that includes all San Franciscans — insist that for true enjoyment a little cioppino must get in the ears, as with corn on the cob.

Tarantino's, one of the flossier restaurants on Fisherman's Wharf, serves a sumptuous cioppino. With bibs, naturally.

BUT HERE IS A recipe for this stunning dish with which the housewife rather than the chef can cope.

Here goes: one-half cup olive oil, 1 tablespoon minced onions to 4 cloves garlic finely chopped; one tablespoon minced parsley; one number 2½ can solid pack tomatoes; two 8-ounce cans tomato sauce; one-half cup sherry, one and one-half cups water; one-half teaspoon sweet basil; one-half teaspoon majoram; one teaspoon mono sodium glutamate, salt and pepper to taste.

One and one-half to two pounds uncooked rock cod, halibut, sea bass, sole or other white fish cut in bite-size pieces; and one pound uncooked large shrimp in the shell; two pounds clams well scrubbed; two cooked crabs, cleaned, but in pieces with claws cracked.

Heat oil in Dutch oven. Add onion, garlic and parsley; saute slowly until golden brown, add tomatoes, tomato sauce, sherry, water, sweet basil, majoram, mono sodium glutamate salt and pepper. Bring to boil. Then cover and simmer gently one and one-half hours.

Add cut-up white fish to simmering sauce, cover and cook gently ten minutes, add shrimp (do not stir), cover and cook twenty minutes. Add clams and crab (do not stir), cover and continue cooking ten minutes.

Serve in heated soup plates, sit back and loosen the belt.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

THERE were more pictures of General MacArthur hanging in sovietized Chinese cities this past week than there were decorating San Francisco, Washington and New York. But the photos were touched up to give him an evil leer. And the captions marked him as Red China's public enemy number one.

There were thousands of these faked photos of "The Ole Soldier" in every Red war factory, above every vital machine. Each picture was labeled by the Red propaganda ministry with a caption reading,

"This machine will smash you."

"Our factory is our battlefield and our machines are our weapons."

Victor Riesel

For the truth is that our nation and our people have not yet learned what the anti-Communist underground operatives on the Sovietized China mainland know—and that is that the Peiping propaganda machine has told the Chinese that they are actually at war with us and that Gen. MacArthur still is the one man who can destroy the Oriental Cominform.

All over China these slogans go up on factory walls and down into mine shafts. In every plant, workshop and mill select workers (being the leaders) just back from special briefing sessions in Peiping, grind out these anti-American war slogans—saying, in effect, that the "elimination of one more defective product" means the "elimination of" one more American soldier.

REPORTING BACK to the politico - propaganda - military headquarters, staffed by Russian experts in Peiping, the Red Chinese workers' "cadre" agents have said recently that the "new (war) atmosphere now pervades all industrial enterprises." That quote is from a Peiping document muggied off the mainland.

At the same time, the flying propaganda squads have been ordered to set up regional headquarters of something called the Resist-America Association. On April 2 the Red rovers were able to dispatch word that unions and other Communist fronts would soon run thousands of "Resist-America" rallies in all plants. Immediately, they received orders to "carry out similar education among the broad mass of laboring people in the villages."

But the Russian propaganda experts are hardly ones to let the Chinese masses off so lightly. The Chinese must be made to feel "bitter."

IT WAS THIS KIND of exploitation of the Orient's pride, of the Orient's loathing of begging, of the Orient's awareness that its civilization and strength have crumbled in the dust of 5,000 years of archaic dynasties that General MacArthur ripped open in his speech. It is the Russians' most powerful weapon. And they're using it.

Every factory and workshop must now have its "speak bitterness meeting." There, the Chinese workers are ordered to "recall their miseries in the old society and contrast their past suffering with their present prospects." And woe to the Chinese who doesn't see Red China through rose colored glasses.

Nor does this indoctrination of hatred stop here. Hatred must swiftly be reconverted into production of guns. So, linked with the "speak bitterness" rallies, is something new — the Patriotic Emulation Campaign. To this factory fanfare, with a fancy name, I call special attention. Especially do I ask the workers in the Ford, General Electric and U. S. Steel plants to look closely.

OUR WORKERS ARE about to be besieged by American Communist literature urging them not to produce swiftly for war. Well, let me tell you about the Red Chinese "Patriotic Emulation Campaign" — which means, in plain old U.S.A. talk, a cruel sweating speed - up schedule which breaks the backs of the Chinese workers.

It's double talk for new production schedules, which, if set in an American plant, would provoke screaming from the Comrades.

It means that all Chinese workers must now keep pace with a set of "Labor Heroes"—such as Chao Kuo-yu, in the Number 3 plant of the Mukden Machine Tool factory, who turns out more tools than most humans could even in Toledo or Cleveland. And then, there's Labor Hero Li-Yung, who has driven the Mao Tse-tung Locomotive 200,000 miles without a breakdown.

And if all this Labor Hero worship doesn't exactly enthuse the Chinese into breaking their backs, then there's the picture of General MacArthur pasted above the machines. That's supposed to get them real mad—for the Communist agit-props have labeled him the Cominform's public enemy number one. Such flattery I'm certain is well deserved.

"DISINTEGRATING." "The cabinet is disintegrating rapidly," one London newspaper reported with news of resignations of British Labor Minister Aneurin Bevan, a left-winger, and Board of Trade President Harold Wilson in budget disputes with Prime Minister Clement Attlee. New elections will be necessary, the Labor regime fears.

Bingo for Charity OK, Greene Co. Judge Rules

XENIA, O., April 24—(AP)—Common Pleas Judge Frank L. Johnson told law enforcement officers yesterday not to interfere with bingo games if proceeds are for public benefit or charities.

He issued a declaratory judgment saying Ohio law provides no penalties for such games. He said bingo may be illegal but there is no penalty if proceeds go to charity.

The Jamestown Lions Club asked the declaratory judgment. It sponsors bingo games at the village's annual street carnival in the fall. The proceeds are used for welfare work.
